PINCHOT OFFERS REPEAL-BEER 'TRADE' STATE'S RELIEF SNARLED BY DISPUTES

Today

All the Way Back.
His Sun Sees Much.
60 Hours Around the World.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BEER HAS come all the way back. It will be sold in the House in Washington. It is sold openly, on Sundays, no need to seek for a "side door," as in old New York City saloon days.

Men that should know predict, even offer to bet, that the necessary 36 states will vote to repeal prohibition absolutely and thus take it out of the Constitution. Anything can happen when the people become angry or poor, and especially when both happen at once.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S program counts that day lost whose low descending sun views from his hand no employment job begun.

The latest big Roosevelt enterprise, just launched, will develop the great Tennessee basin and put to work Muscle Shoals' power, a plant built with the people's money.

For years Senator Norris, of Nebraska, Republican, has demanded that power from the Muscle Shoals plant be sold at a fair price to provide "a yardstick" for charges by other companies. That Republican idea which he swings in main against "sound Republican party conservatism" is to be carried out by a Democratic President.

The "yardstick" will not suit all electric companies.

There is no need now to march French soldiers in red pantaloons, making excellent targets, across desert sands.

France sends an airplane carrier loaded with airplanes, each airplane loaded with bombs and machine guns. Shortly after they view and hear those airplanes, the rebellious Abyssinians will feel less rebellious, and will be running in many directions, while the Frenchmen, smiling down on them, will probably not have a scratch. A new kind of war has come, and, sooner or later, this country will learn that it exists. Let us hope it will be sooner, before we play the part of "rebellious Abyssinians."

ITALY REPORTS an airplane speed of four hundred and thirty-one miles per hour. Mussolini's government may be poor in cash, compared to some others, but it isn't poor in common sense and spends courageously where national safety is concerned.

How pitiful our American air marks seem compared with this Italian speed, that would go around the world at the equator in sixty hours. In Italy the government promotes aviation and supplies the necessary money, making tests that will mean air supremacy.

England also has the aviation intelligence, lacking here, and has not hesitated to spend one million dollars and more preparing for one single race for the "Schneider Cup."

PROF. EINSTEIN has accepted an appointment in the University of Madrid. Great scientist, and a glory to the German republic, Prof. Einstein is driven out merely because he is of the Jewish race. They actually searched his house for deadly weapons. As well search the nest of a dove.

Einstein is welcomed and honored in Spain, a country which has gone through centuries of commercial and industrial decline and sterility because it formerly drove out the Jews, as Germany is doing now. Spain, apparently, has learned something, Germany will learn later.

BARON VON PAPEN, representing Hitler's government, formerly a member of the "center" or Catholic party in Germany and himself a Catholic, is in Rome discussing with the Vatican authorities a friendly understanding between Hitler's government and the Vatican.

The Pope may receive Von Papen tomorrow. Meanwhile he is discussing details with the papal secretary of state.

THE VATICAN receives Von Papen and his suggestions calmly, for it has met other dictators seeking its approval since, and before, Napoleon who restored the rights of the church for his own protection, and Mussolini, who restored the Pope's temporal power.

IT WAS suggested here, that if, instead of dodging in various directions to escape the electric and wind storm, the Akron had put straight out to sea at top speed, it might have been saved.

It develops now that the course of the ship was changed two or three times in 45 minutes after lightning was seen 30 miles to the south. Finally an order, given by mistake, or misinterpreted, sent the ship into the peak of the storm.

CAN YOU relieve the farmer, the butcher, the baker, the candlestickmaker by passing laws fixing a minimum price for various products? New York tried it yesterday, when Gov. Lehman signed a milk bill creating a commission to fix minimum dairy prices to be paid to farmers.

The average American, who knows what milk costs HIM at retail, will welcome any arrangement to save the farmers from selling milk for as little as one and a half cents a quart.

P.R.R. HEADS SCORED AT MEETING

Atterbury Denies Any Officers Are Linked To 'Rackets'

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP.)—Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in annual meeting today, applauded an attack on high salaries of company officials but ended the discussion with a vote of thanks for the officers' "splendid work."

L. P. Hancock, of Buffalo, N. Y., asked officials whether they were "connected with any rackets or getting outside compensation" and whether they had "unloaded a lot of corporate cats and dogs on the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad through the Pennroad Corporation."

ATTERBURY DENIAL

W. W. Atterbury, president of the company, promptly denied this. He declared:

"I have been in the service 40 years and never were the officers and employes so clean as they are today. So far as I know, no officers are getting any other income than that derived from the Pennsylvania Railroad."

Adding that it was true some of the officials were bank directors, Atterbury said "that is in line with their duties."

John J. Welsh, of Colwyn, Pa., asserted:

"Salaries are entirely too high. They are out of keeping with everything. You can get men who will do the work equally as well or better for less.

"The stockholders are supporting this railroad and these officers are getting it all and we are not getting anything. They must realize that men like me can not go out and get a job for even $1 a day."

He was told by H. J. Sherman, Camden, N. J., that stockholders "have no idea of the sleepless days and nights" the officers are enduring.

ASK NEW REDUCTION

Mrs. John G. Wilson, of Factorville, Pa., and Thomas Smith, Ardmore, Pa., asked that the officials consider "another voluntary reduction."

Effingham B. Morris, chairman of the meeting, explained that high officials had already received more than 30 per cent reductions voluntarily.

Atterbury's salary is said to have been reduced from $141,000 to $109,000.

Discussing the railroad situation generally, Atterbury said the most urgent need was regulation of other carriers, but that he "doubts seriously" whether the bill to regulate busses and trucks will be passed by this session of Congress.

He said the railroad situation "will be generally improved" if the program outlined by President Roosevelt in his pre-election speech at Salt Lake City is adopted.

Prayers of Thanks To Mark Nation's 'President's Day'

A "President's Day" to express the nation's gratitude to President Roosevelt!

On "President's Day," Sunday, April 30, the people would offer up prayers of gratitude for what the President has already accomplished and for his continued success.

First to laud the movement in Pittsburgh was one of the President's best-known followers, M. L. Benedum, oil operator, prominent in the Roosevelt campaign. He said:

"It is an excellent idea. I approve it heartily."

ATTORNEY'S PRAISE

Attorney Fred Weir, young Roosevelt worker, indorsed the plan:

"Mr. Hearst's plan is certainly timely and deserved. It should be an overwhelming success."

Another to join the chorus giving approval was the Rev. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont, who said:

"I believe that a prayer attitude on the part of the American people is a most healthy and helpful influence to throw around the President. It's the right influence and the right thing to do."

Roosevelt's accomplishments should be given recognition, according to Ed M. Kliment, president of the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh, who said:

"I am much in favor of it. The things that President Roosevelt has done entitles him to every recognition that the nation can give him."

LEADERS FAVORABLE

M. L. BENEDUM

University and dean of the college of arts, said:

"It is an excellent idea for the nation to join in prayer on a given day such as this in thanksgiving for what has already been accomplished in bringing the nation out of its chaotic condition. It is an encouraging sign of a new spirit which gives promise to bring about even great accomplishments."

PEACE PACT BREAKS UP IN CHAOS

Another Conference Called With State Leaders

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Unemployment relief will be the subject of another conference today between Gov. Pinchot and legislative leaders.

Meanwhile the relief problem is bogged down in legislative chaos, despite five hours of conference yesterday which were presumed to have brought a harmony arrangement.

Far from harmony, today only served to illustrate further the bitter animosity between the Governor and some Republican leaders. In this atmosphere no one knows what is the exact status of relief.

Relief is dependent on revenue, and the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Morton Witkin, of Philadelphia, from whose group all revenue raisers must emanate, said this morning he had no plans for calling his committee together.

PINCHOT SHIFTS

Gov. Pinchot, after apparently agreeing yesterday to an emergency appropriation of $10,000,000 for April and May if the revenue is provided, late last night revised his stand and said he would sign a bill for no more than $5,000,000.

He figures that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will match this sum, giving $10,000,000 for the two months.

Attorney General William A. Schnader, who participated in the conferences yesterday, sent amendments to the Senate for the Talbot $20,000,000 relief bill for the next biennium raising the total to $23,000,000, a sum $18,000,000 more than his chief said he would approve.

Senator Harry B. Scott, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, to which this amendment was sent, promptly scheduled it for the waste basket, and

MISS BETTE BINGHAM USING FITHIAN 'CONTAINER' FOR BEER

Miss Bingham with one of the aluminum "containers," made in Grove City, that dry Partner Fithian says isn't for beer, although Partner August says it is and a Pittsburgh store in selling this one made out a sales slip for "one beer mug." GOVERNOR, WETS MAY AGREE

Executive to Yield On Convention to Control Beer

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Gov. Pinchot today used the demand for a convention to decide on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as a weapon for forcing through the Legislature his own plan fo. beer regulations and license.

In a conference this morning with a group of wets and senators seeking agreement on a substitute for the McClure convention bill, which the Governor vetoed, Mr. Pinchot insisted that beer regulation and repeal should be considered as twin measures.

YIELDS ON REPEAL

The Governor was willing to agree to a convention bill for the election of all delegates at large to decide on the repeal or retention of the Eighteenth Amendment, provided he could get some concessions on beer legislation.

Democratic leaders are in the humor to meet the Governor half way, and will abandon their demand for bi-partisan beer commissions for the issuance of licenses if the Governor will clarify some points in the bills he had introduced last week by Representative James H. McClure, of Glassport.

The only beer legislation now before the Legislature is the Sowers bill, in conference between the committees of Senate and House. This measure makes the courts the licensing agency. This the governor unalterably opposes, as do the Democrats.

The Governor will be asked to amend his bill to prevent barbecue stands selling beer, and to throw restrictions about dispensing which would eliminate stores of all classes.

The Democrats are willing that the licenses shall be issued by the Department of Revenue, as proposed by the Governor, but wish the law to be so clear in its provisions that the department will exercise no more than a ministerial capacity and will not have the opportunity for political advantage.

READY TO AGREE

A second meeting between the informal committee and the Governor is scheduled for late this afternoon.

In today's conference with the Governor were Senators John J.

JAILED TEACHER TURNS TO RADIO

Miss Ada Buttermore, Perryopolis school teached jailed a week ago when she couldn't pay the hospital bill of a boy injured by her automobile, has turned to radio for a livelihood.

Miss Buttermore, a soprano of prominence in her home community, will be given an audition tomorrow over radio station KDKA. In her application, filed 10 days prior to her incarceration on March 30, states that she has been a member of various church and ladies' choirs in California, Pa., Perryopolis, Monessen, State College and Ithaca, N. Y.

After serving several days of the two-year sentence imposed by the Fayette County courts, Miss Buttermore was released upon the promise to pay the bill for the boy's injuries as soon as she was able.

Miss Buttermore's car struck Ben Scott, Gillespie High School boy, as he was riding a scooter along the highway near his home.

HERRON MAYOR TOMORROW

Acting Mayor John S. Herron, after a series of political confabs in the "Soost Roost," today was ready, if not anxious, to drop the prefix from his title.

Tomorrow, at a special meeting of Council, Herron will be formally elected to serve out the term of the resigned Mayor Charles H. Kline.

Herron will be sworn in with the advice of Councilman William J. Soost, Senator James J. Coyne, Councilman Harry A. Little and quite a few other political lights ringing in his ears. All these have been gathering of nights at the farm of Councilman Soost, back of the South Hills, to discuss the weather and, perhaps, who shall get this job and who shall get that job.

In about a week, Herron said today, he plans to make several changes in the Police Department.

Not all political observers agree that Franklin T. McQuaide, former city detective, will succeed Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, who will be fired immediately as a soothing concession to his foe, Senator Coyne. Nor that Attorney Harmar D. Denny, Jr., has been offered Public Safety Director James M. Clark's job. Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner seems agreed upon for the attractive berth of his boss, Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt.

Fay, Bitter, Blames Rudy for Separation

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(AP.)—Fay Webb Vallee returned to Southern California with emphatic assertions that she and her crooner husband, Rudy Vallee, are separated "for keeps," and that the trouble was not caused by a $100,000 alienation of affections suit filed against her in New York.

She descended yesterday from the train on the arm of her father, Chief of Police Clarence Webb, of Santa Monica, who hurried to New York when he was informed trouble brewed in the Vallee establishment.

She said:

"Rudy and his Fay are through for good. And you may say for me that that silly suit has nothing to do with it."

She referred to an action filed by Mrs. Kathleen Leon, charging the brunette wife of the crooner with stealing the affections of Garfield Leon, adagio dancer.

She said she had "tried for two years to get along with Rudy."

"I've put up with the weird hours his crooning demanded, and the wholesale feminine admiration that was showered on him. But it's no go.

"He got his last chance when he begged me to come back to him from Reno after we separated several months ago. I tried and we couldn't agree, so that's that."

She said Vallee must make any move toward a divorce, adding:

SUNDAY SPORTS UP TO PINCHOT

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(INS.)—Pennsylvania's Senate today voted finally to give the people of the state an opportunity to decide for themselves whether they want Sunday baseball and football. The decision now rests with Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The Schwartz bill, permitting local referenda, swept over its final legislative hurdle when the Senate adopted the conference report on the measure. The vote was 27 for adoption and 22 against. There was no debate.

The vote means that for the first time a Pennsylvania Governor will be forced to pass upon legislation intended to modify the blue laws enacted in 1794. Whether Gov. Pinchot will sign the bill is purely speculative. The most ardent liberals concede there is not a chance of overriding a possible veto.

The Schwartz bill provides that the issue shall be placed before the electors next November. Cities and towns that vote for Sunday baseball and football may have these sports between 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. as soon as local government officials adopt the licensing ordinances which the Schwartz bill permits.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh would be permitted to charge as high as $50 for a license for each game at which an admission is charged; all other cities, $25; boroughs, $5, and townships $1. The license money goes to the treasury of the municipality.

All but one of the six Allegheny County Senators voted for the Schwartz bill. Senator Herman P. Brandt opposed it.

Mulrooney Quits To Take Beer Job

BEER UNDER BAN IN GROVE CITY

GROVE CITY, April 11.—You may be able to buy a glass of beer everywhere else in this state, but in 10 days from now you won't get it in Grove City.

For the Council of this very dry borough met last night and passed an ordinance which forbids the sale and manufacture of the new brew.

Council enacted this measure unanimously, even after its own paid solicitor, M. B. Klinesmith, had advised that he did not believe such an ordinance would stand up.

But Council apparently was more inclined to listen to the

Ice Cream Slashed To Cent in Price War

CLEVELAND, April 11.—(AP.)—Children clutching pennies trouped into five stores in one neighborhood yesterday and gleefully had their fill of ice cream. Each penny was good for a pint.

A "price war" started in the neighborhood yesterday and the price dropped from 15 cents to 10, 8 and 5 cents, finally hitting the 1-cent level about the time school children came from their classes in the afternoon. One store reported it had sold three truckloads.

Nicholas Reported Abandoning Wife

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 11.—(AP.)—Prince Nicholas and his morganic wife, Jana Lucia Deletj, have separated, it has been learned from usually well informed sources, and the Prince shortly will return to Rumania to resume all his royal rights and prerogatives.

Coincidently, the newspaper Adeverul said that Queen Marie was instrumental in bringing about a reconciliation between Prince Nicholas and his brother, King Carol.

Pittsburgh's Beer Up to 3.2 Limit

Reports in other cities the beer has been decidedly lacking in "kick" today brought from H. P. Locker, agent in charge of the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol here, that government tests show 3.2 per cent alcohol in virtually all the lager.

Homestead Doctor Dies On Eve of His Trial

Dr. John Ballagi, 75, of 438 East Fifth avenue, Homestead, who was scheduled to go on trial today in Criminal Court on a criminal charge, died last night at his home.

As court opened today, County Detective David Carlin presented a death certificate from Coroner W. J. McGregor stating that Dr. Ballagi died from cerebral hemorrhage.

The charges against Dr. Ballagi, involving a criminal operation, had been brought by Mrs. May Stein, of 2128 Fifth avenue. He was arrested February 16.

He had been a physician in the Homestead district for 40 years, was on the staff of Homestead Hospital and a member of Homestead Borough Council.

VATICAN COOL TO HITLER REGIME'S BID FOR APPROVAL

PAPEN NOTIFIED OF STAND BY HOLY SEE

Racial or Religious 'Discrimination' Opposed

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service.

ROME, April 11.—Vice-Chancellor von Papen, who arrived in Rome Sunday morning as a special emissary of the Hitler government, has been informed in his preliminary contacts with Vatican officials that the Holy See cannot countenance discrimination by the Nazis against either Jews or Catholics in Germany.

This was learned authoritatively by International News Service today.

AUDIENCE WITH POPE

Von Papen came here ostensibly on a personal visit but is to remain a week, during which he will be received by Pope Pius and hold further conferences with Premier Mussolini.

He has already called on Il Duce, offering Germany's support to the Italian Premier's plan for four-power control of Europe to insure peace, and paving the way for the forthcoming visit of Chancellor Hitler, who is also expected to be received by both the Pope and Mussolini.

Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister without portfolio in the Hitler cabinet, and regarded as a leader in that faction of the German government favoring energetic action against the Jews, arrived yesterday by plane from Munich, presumably to discuss outstanding political problems with Premier Mussolini.

Il Duce talked with Capt. Goering alone for more than an hour today.

Despite the extreme reserve about their comings and goings, it is learned the visitors are seeking to obtain Vatican support for what they maintain is the "wait and see" policy adopted by the German episcopate toward Nazi activities.

DOLLFUSS IN ROME

Dollfuss' visit, in connection with that of German leaders, was linked in some quarters with Premier Mussolini's campaign for revision of post-war treaties.

Goering Appointed Premier of Prussia

BERLIN, April 11.—(INS.)—Chancellor Hitler has supreme powers as "dictator," or super-governor of the state. Chancellor Adolf Hitler today appointed his right-hand man, Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia.

News of his appointment was telegraphed to Goering in Rome. The appointment gives him four important posts in the government of Germany. He is minister without portfolio in the Hitler cabinet, Reich Commissioner for Aviation and Minister of the Interior of Prussia.

Einstein's Position In Spain Permanent

MADRID, April 11.—(AP.)—Claudio Sanchez Albornoz, dean of the University of Madrid, said today that Prof. Albert Einstein, who recently renounced his German citizenship, will be attached to the university permanently.

BERLIN REPORTS that under the Hitler rule "free speech is punished."

This, from the Hitler viewpoint, is a wise move. When one single man wishes to control, he cannot have many men expressing many opinions.

Free speech and freedom of the press will go together, Napoleon, who said that his power would not last three weeks if he allowed freedom of the press, knew.

Police Grumbles Greet Walsh $1 Books

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, who will soon be fired by Mayor John S. Herron, today was displaying just as much interest as ever in the welfare of his police force by enabling them to buy, at $1 a copy, copies of the Police Department's rules.

Informed that pressure was being brought to bear, Mayor Herron said he will investigate to see if there has been coercion.

The patrolmen were able to buy these copies from the desk sergeants. More than one grumble has been heard as the dollars passed over to the desk man.

Patrolmen say they are forced to buy the books.

They point out that the most prominent part of the book is the directory of Kline administration police officials, all of whom are in the lame-duck class with the advent of the Herron regime.

One policeman described it as Supt. Walsh's monument to himself.

Walsh explained that no such volume has been issued in 10 years and the lists needed many changes.

Council refused to appropriate money to print the books in its budget sessions and the work was undertaken privately by the William G. Johnston Company, Walsh said.

Patrolmen are not forced to buy them, Walsh assured.

One gem of advice contained in the booklet is that discussion of politics in the police stations is forbidden.

light of religion and the expression of that and renewed dedication will be an inspiration not only for today but the days to come."

PRAY FOR PRESIDENT

The Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson, pastor, Sixth United Presbyterian Church:

"It's a fine thing. In our church it's practically a fixed thing to remember the President in our prayers every Sunday."

Judge James H. Gray, of Common Pleas Court:

"It seems to me what the American people need today is unified action to provide employment for the people of the United States. President Roosevelt is affording us an extraordinarily active leadership for accomplishing this purpose, and every American citizen should support him to the full extent of his ability. He is to be commended for what he has done to help the people."

JUDGE'S VIEW

Judge Thomas M. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court:

"Americans have reason to be proud of their President. I heartily approve the suggestion that we have a President's Day."

Business interests were urged to join in observation of a Roosevelt Day by Robert K. Cochrane, Jr., secretary of the Pittsburgh Builders' Exchange and American Legion county commander. He said:

"A new confidence has been built in the people by the President's aggressive program. That his policies have the nation's support can best be shown by such an observance."

Governors of 4 States Approve F. R. Tribute

CHICAGO, April 11—(Universal)—Sponsored by the Hearst newspapers, a movement for the nationwide observance of Sunday, April 30, as "President's Day," for expression of gratitude for what President Roosevelt has accomplished and prayers for his health and strength to carry out his plans, was inaugurated today.

Governors of three states, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, who were conferring here, hailed the plan as a fitting tribute to the President and promised to issue proclamations setting aside the day for the observance.

Acting Mayor Frank J. Corr, reached last night at Hot Springs, Ark., announced that upon his return to Chicago he would issue a proclamation calling upon the citizens to observe the day in the city's churches.

Joining with the city and state executives in hearty approval of the plan were many educators and religious and civic leaders of the city.

Gov. Henry Horner, of Illinois, said:

"I am sure President Roosevelt will be deeply touched by this movement to express the nation's confidence in his administration and pledge the country's support to his work. I will proclaim April 30 'President's Day' in Illinois as soon as the observance has Mr. Roosevelt's approval."

Gov. Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana, said:

"I will proclaim April 30 'President's Day' throughout Indiana. Confidence in the President is widespread. It will be very fitting for the people of this nation to express their faith in his efforts."

Gov. A. G. Schmedeman, of Wisconsin, was elated by the recognition to be accorded the President. He said:

"I am glad to proclaim April 30 'President's Day.' The President is very highly thought of throughout the state of Wisconsin. Thousands walked through the streets of Milwaukee cheering him last week. It will be indeed fitting for our people to pause and pay homage to the nation's leader."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 11.—(INS.)—Joining a nationwide movement, Gov. James Rolph, Jr., today issued a proclamation calling upon Californians to observe Sunday, April 30, as "President's Day," in tribute to President Roosevelt.

The Governor declared:

"It is indeed fitting that this tribute should be paid to the statesmanship of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and that citizens in every state should unite in recognition of the outstanding accomplishments of our President during the past two months."

Suffering bruises were Doris McDaniels, 7, of 210 Orchard street; Jack Manning, 8, of 7305 Grand avenue, and Robert Klepal, 8, of 7404 Grand avenue. Hawke was arrested on an assault and battery charge, but later released on his own recognizance.

U. S. CONSIDERS PEACE PACT GUARANTEE

M'Donald's Proposal To Be Deliberated At Washington

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The Roosevelt administration is seriously considering as a possible key to the European disarmament deadlock the proposal of Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, under which the United States and other signatories to the Paris peace pact would agree to consult together in event of a violation.

In the forthcoming international economic conversations here in which the British Prime Minister and Former Premier Edouard Herriot, of France, will take part, the idea advanced at Geneva as a part of MacDonald's widely discussed disarmament plan will be an important subject of discussion.

FRENCH OBJECTIONS

If the United States should agree to this extension of its responsibility under the peace pact and the French should feel such American action would sufficiently insure their security against attack, officials believe French objections which have acted to prevent agreement at Geneva, might dissolve sufficiently to permit some definite accomplishment.

Three of the nations invited to send representatives to Washington have definitely accepted. Others are expected to fall in line soon. Canada is the third nation in addition to Great Britain and France. Canada will be represented here by Prime Minister Richard B. Bennett.

European Debtors United For Postponement

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(Universal)—Reports are current that European debtors will present a united front in requesting the administration to postpone the June 15 debt payments due the American taxpayers.

From sources close to the administration it was learned Great Britain, France, Italy and other debtors are planning to make this request through their representatives who are coming here this month to discuss world trade and war debts.

Administration officials made it plain, however, that President Roosevelt has not consented to approve such an arrangement.

HOME FINANCE MESSAGE DUE

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—President Roosevelt will send a message to Congress tomorrow recommending a huge bond issue to refinance mortgages of small home owners, Speaker Rainey announced today.

The measure, which is nearing completion at the hands of the President's advisers, is expected to carry a $2,000,000,000 bond issue. It will be framed on the lines of the farm mortgage bill.

Japan Accepts Bid To U. S. Conference

TOKIO, April 11.—(INS.)—The Japanese cabinet today accepted President Roosevelt's invitation to send an embassy to Washington for discussions preliminary to the world economic conference.

While the government has not yet definitely decided upon its delegate, Viscount Ishii, former Foreign Minister and Ambassador to the United States, is most prominently mentioned.

AKRON SAILOR TELLS OF SEA CRASH

Wiley Repeats Faith In Officers; All 'Did Duty'

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 11.—(AP.)—Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley, completing his story of the Akron disaster at the naval inquiry today, said the officers and crew did their duty to the best of their ability before the airship hurtled through lightning to her destruction in the ocean. He testified:

"If any errors were made they were beyond skill and experience existing today."

Questions relating to the Akron's safety equipment for her crew and to a mistake in orders by which her course was changed 50 degrees instead of 15 as she sought to find a way out of the storm area were asked Wiley before he finished his testimony.

The commander, he said, had ordered a 15 degree change in course, which was misinterpreted as an order for a 50 degree change. Wiley said:

"In my opinion the mistake had no bearing on later events, although it might have had."

SAILOR TESTIFIES

Richard E. Deal, boatswain, one of the two enlisted men who were rescued, was on the stand, relating his experiences when the hearing adjourned for luncheon.

Deal said that when the "gust" which Wiley had described hit the Akron, he saw longitudinal girders 7 and 8 break.

He said as the airship went down, her inclination by the bow was the greatest he had ever experienced in a dirigible.

He told of going down with the ship, how his right leg was caught, and how, after he had pulled himself loose, he came to the surface and saw the wreck of the Akron drifting away, and then how he clung to a gas tank until his rescue by the German tanker Phoebus. Deal resumed the stand after lunch.

SHIP HANDLED WELL

He said he handled controls of the ship from 9 to 10 o'clock, adding:

"The controls handled very easily and the ship flew very well."

During his trick on watch he said the ship's trim was from "light to heavy," according as it hit and cleared fog.

Deal was asked why he did not cut loose fuel tanks to lighten the load in the stern before the Akron crashed in the sea. He replied:

The Judge Advocate asked:

"Is it possible that this lurch you speak of may have been caused by the lower fin striking the water?"

"No, sir. I don't think so."

Deal thus expressed a disagreement with Lieut. Commander Wiley, who testified today that he now believed what he first thought to have been a strong gust was actually the impact of the ship's tail striking the sea.

Motor Fund Loan To Schools Approved

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—As a compromise, a bill transferring $5,200,000 from the motor fund to the Department of Public Instruction for schools, today had been amended in the House to make it a loan instead of an appropriation.

The change in the measure, sponsored by Representative Robert J. Cordier, Lackawanna, was made to avoid a fight on the bill by rural representatives.

TESTING MACON FOR FLIGHT

AKRON, O., April 11.—(AP.)—Trim and neat in her new coat of silvery fabric, the U. S. S. Macon, sister ship to the ill-fated Akron, was undergoing final inspection today preparatory to a first tour of the clouds.

Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle and his naval inspectors clambered over the catwalks and rigging where yesterday Goodyear-Zeppelin engineers examined the ship from bow to stern in their final check-up.

Tomorrow she will be turned over to her crew of 75 men and 13 officers under Lieut. Com. Alger H. Dresel. Members of the crew will take their assignments to stations and move their luggage aboard, ready for the first flight, expected to take place shortly after dawn Thursday.

F. R. OPPOSES BANK GUARANTY

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—President Roosevelt literally wrecked a two-year investigation by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee into banking reforms today when he frowned on the proposed federal guarantee of deposits in Federal Reserve member banks.

The President, supported by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, told Senator Carter Glass (Dem.), of Virginia, committee chairman, that he did not desire legislation at this time creating an "insurance fund" for the guarantee of bank deposits. The President's attitude shocked members of the committee, who believed he favored such legislation.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILLS GIVEN CONGRESS

House Speeds Farm Relief Measure; Judge Trial On

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Congress moved ahead today with the pressing farm relief legislation and received the bills to carry out President Roosevelt's recommendation for operating the Muscle Shoals power plant and developing the Tennessee River basin.

The $2,000,000,000 farm mortgage bill was taken up by the House, with debate and amendments limited, and a vote expected tomorrow.

In the Senate, where this measure has been combined with the farm price-raising bill, the legislation was laid aside temporarily to begin the impeachment trial of Federal Judge Harold Louderback, of California.

Once started, however, the proceeding was to be postponed until pressing legislation has been passed.

INFLATION URGED

Accompanying the farm mortgage bill in the House was a minority report from the Agriculture Committee, advocating currency inflation. The same issue is to be faced by the Senate before the farm legislation is out of the way.

The Wagner $500,000,000 relief bill, administration plan for grants to the states, was taken up by the House Banking Committee. Early approval was expected.

Another House committee undertook to study the Senate's bill establishing a 30-hour work week in industry.

LEASE PROBE O. K'd.

The Postoffice Committee of the House was authorized to continue its investigation of postal leases and air and ocean mail subsidies. The administration's bill for security regulation still was under study by the Senate Banking Committee.

Before the Louderback trial was taken, up Chairman Pittman (Dem.), of Nevada, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, sought to obtain immediate consideration of the much-revised bill to protect diplomatic codes, but Senator McNary, of Oregon, Republican leader, objected, delaying action a day at least.

JUDGE'S OUSTER TRIAL DATE SET

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Sitting as an impeachment court, the Senate today set the trial of Federal District Judge Harold Louderback, of the Northern California District, for May 15.

Subpenas will be issued to all witnesses requiring their attendance on that date.

This action followed the entering of a general denial by Louderback to charges that he allowed excessive and irregular fees in receivership cases.

Blonde Seeks $50,000 Balm From Kane Man

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(INS.)—Clinton A. James, 33, purchasing agent for a large corporation here and scion of a socially prominent and wealthy family of Kane, Pa., was asked to pay Miss Mildred I. Johnson, 30, platinum blonde model, $50,000 for her broken heart in a breach-of-promise suit on file here today.

Miss Johnson, whose home is near Kane, claimed she was discarded after a six-year courtship, during which she had consented to become James' wife. They met in October, 1927, according to her suit, and three days before Christmas that same year James proposed marriage to her and she accepted. They immediately began making plans for their future, Miss Johnson averred in her suit, although no date had been set for the wedding.

The plaintiff declared that James did not keep his promise to marry her and has repeatedly refused to do so. In January of this year he suddenly broke off their friendship, failing to call her or make any further engagements, she asserted in the suit.

SHAW 'DEAF AND DUMB' ON HIS ARRIVAL AT NEW YORK

SAGE REMAINS TONGUE-TIED ON SHIP

Earlier Blast Aimed At Loquacious Congress

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—George Bernard Shaw, the bearded Irish sage who might be called his own best pal and America's severest critic, arrived today for his first visit to New York in all his 76 years of picturesque existence.

Refusing to be awed by a battalion of newspapermen that swarmed aboard the Empress of Britain, Shaw stoutly maintained his reputation for doing just as he pleases and letting the chips fall where they may.

He became the first foreign visitor in the history of New York journalism to defy the indefatigable ship news reporters.

REFUSES INTERVIEW

He flatly declined to grant them an interview. Pleas and even threats went unheeded.

Earlier in the day, while the Empress of Britain was steaming into port, the playwright opened up in typical Shavian fashion for the benefit of International News Service.

He described himself as a "professional earthquaker," predicted that America eventually would take up Communism and Fascism "and go further in it than Soviet Russia," and expressed the hope "New York will not have an inferiority complex" when he sets foot on its shores.

Further than this, he branded the American Congress as something which "does nothing but talk and prevents other people from talking" and asserted that instead of standing on his own head (as immortalized in Max Beerbohm's famous cartoon) "I actually stand other people on their heads."

NO SHAVIAN QUIPS

But there were none of these Shavian quips and cracks for the case-hardened ship news men who boarded the liner shortly after 10 a. m.

The picturesque visitor barricaded himself in the ship's dining room, burned his nose and bristling beard in a copy of Upton Sinclair's biography of William Fox and in almost so many words told the New York reporters to go about their business.

In a note scribbled on a piece of newspaper copy paper, Shaw said:

"The New York press may return to its firesides and nurse the baby until tomorrow morning . . .

"Today I am in training for the Metropolitan Opera House tonight and may be regarded as deaf and dumb for the moment. With regrets and apologies."

The note was a reference to Shaw's scheduled lecture at the Metropolitan Opera House tonight. He insisted he would remain aboard the liner until it is time for him to begin to talk, ignoring the sights of New York with the same casual gesture he turned down the pleas of the ship news reporters.

SECOND FOREST GROUP READY

Pittsburgh today prepared to send away its second contingent of the reforestation army as the first group of 224 men arrived in Fortress Monroe, Va., for two weeks of conditioning work.

Maj. William Buerkle, in charge of the United States recruiting office here, which is assembling the recruits upon recommendations from the Allegheny County Emergency Association, said he expected at least 350 to leave tonight on a special train over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. A six-car special on the Pennsylvania Railroad carried the first group last night.

The final group of the 900 men ordered here is expected to be entrained tomorrow night. Only 14 applicants had been rejected through the physical examination given by the army officers.

Recruits are being accepted from among men on the emergency association relief lists, between 18 and 25 years, unmarried and with dependents. At least $20 of the $30 received monthly during the six months' service must be assigned to dependents. No military training is being given at the camps.

It has been expected recruits from Pittsburgh would be sent to the Pennsylvania camps, but no announcement has been made. The camps are scheduled for Pebble Dell, Hearts Content and Dunkle Corners. The first camp will be opened at Pebble Dell with 200 men.

BOHN KIDNAPER GETS 25 YEARS

ST. PAUL, April 11.—(AP.)—Ray Robinson, of Edmonton, Alberta, confessed kidnaper of Haskell Bohn here last summer, was sentenced to serve not more than 25 years in prison by District Judge J. W. Boerner today.

Robinson, 40, pleaded guilty last week. He said he was one of two men who seized Bohn, 21, son of a local refrigerator manufacturer. Bohn later was freed on payment of $12,000.

Police are hunting for Verne Sankey and Gordon Elkhorn, who are wanted in Denver for complicity in the kidnaping of Charles Boettcher II. They also want Mrs. Sankey, who is held in Denver.

MAN ACCUSED OF BIGAMY

Alleged to have married in Pittsburgh while he had a wife in New Brighton, Beaver County, V. L. Vaught, 35, of Detroit, was held in Beaver County Jail today.

He was arrested in East North avenue, North Side, on a desertion and non-support charge preferred by Mrs. Loretta Vaught, New Brighton. Failing to furnish $500 bond, he was jailed.

Police said that when Vaught obtained a marriage license here February 23, he stated his first wife died November 10, 1929. Following his arrest by Constable John Gonnelly, Beaver County, Vaught denied he had a wife in Detroit and was engaged to marry a New Brighton girl.

City Noises Too Much for Trio Of 'Foresters'

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 11.—(AP.)—Three young hillmen who came over the mountains to help the new President with his forestry program found a strange world of trains, street cars and noise too much for their nerves last night.

So they're going home.

The trio, obviously frightened and bewildered by unaccustomed surroundings, was found huddled in the shadow of a downtown alley by a startled patrolman who took them to police headquarters. Officers listened to their story with amazement.

LANCASTER OFF FOR AIR RECORD

LONDON, April 11.—(INS.)—Determined to stage a comeback, Capt. W. N. Lancaster, recently acquitted on a charge of murdering Hayden Clarke, writer, in Miami, Fla., took off from Lympne Airdrome today in an attempt to beat Amy Johnson Mollison's record for a flight from England to Cape Town.

The British aviator soared into the air at 5:38 a. m.

A short time ago he declared he would make the attempt in an effort to wipe out the memory of the trial in Miami.

CHURCH HOLDUP JURY GUARDED

A Criminal Court jury was locked up at noon today as Assistant District Attorney B. Meredith Reid announced he would prove that Hubert King, 25, and Frank Caslin, 30, both of 4500 Butler street, robbed the Rev. George W. Shelton, a secretary and janitor at the point of guns.

At the hold-up, which took place in the office of the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, Reid said he would prove the two men took $140 from a safe and $90 from Dr. Shelton, pastor of the church.

The two men then bound and gagged Dr. Shelton and tied up Miss Marion B. Jennings, secretary, and David Pingree, janitor, Reid contended.

In locking up the jury, Visiting Judge William A. McConnell charged them to advise the court of any attempt at communication. They will be locked up again tonight, should the trial continue, he said.

HULL DEFENDS TARIFF CUT

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Secretary Hull today described as antiquated, obsolete and bewhiskered the theory that a moderation of tariffs would flood the country with the products of cheap foreign labor and drive down the American standard of living.

The Secretary of State, who said recently that the United States is undertaking in the forthcoming economic conversations here to lead the world away from "economic nationalism," asserted that the high tariff theory to which he referred had been first advanced more than 60 years ago.

Persons who talked about foreign cheap labor flooding American markets, lowering living standards and throwing workmen out of employment, Hull said, he wanted to refer to the conditions of jobless than now prevail here.

NEELY TO REPLY TO HEIR'S SUIT

Attorney Howard Neely today is expected to explain to Madeline McKnight why he hasn't collected the money from the slot machines she says her late father, Patrick F. McKnight, Soho political power, owned.

Neely's explanation will be an answer to the girl's petition to have him removed as executor of her father's $200,000 estate. He is expected to report to the court that he wasn't able to find any slot machines.

As to Miss McKnight's complaint that he was an officer of the Oakland Real Estate Company, Neely will say that he resigned this connection the day he took over the estate. She complains also that he is personal attorney for Senator James J. Coyne, an owner of the real estate company, which owes the estate more than $20,000.

REJOICED OVER CORPSE, CULT JURY HEARS

Testify Mills, Kneeling On Mother's Body, Battled Sleuth

INEZ, Ky., April 11.—(AP.)—Testimony that John H. Mills struggled and fought when deputies pulled him from his kneeling position on the body of his mother, Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 67, was given today by B. J. (Boss) Wells, one of those deputized to go to the home of Tommie Boyd when officers heard of the slaying last February.

Mrs. Mills, authorities claim, was slain during a religious ceremony conducted by a mountain cult headed by John H. Mills, 33, her son. Six other relatives have been indicted on charges of murder and conspiracy. The defense has contended John H. Mills was insane at the time.

CAST THE DEVILS OUT

Wells said that when he and the other officers arrived, they "found them rejoicing" and Mrs. Mills dead. On cross-examination he said Mrs. Oro Moore, a defendant, exclaimed:

"It was hard to give mother up, but she wanted to go to the asylum to cast the devils out of them."

Mrs. Mills had a son, Leonard, in Eastern State Hospital for the Insane.

Wells said John clung to chains around his mother's wrists until he pulled her body off the "altar," as Wells and Deputies Harrison Hinkle and Buck Neely struggled with him. Blows were struck with fists in the melee, Wells said.

Deputy Rafe Mollett, who followed Wells, said he had to threaten Blaine McGinnis with his pistol. Mollett said, "I throwed by gun on Ballard Mills" to make his drop a knife. Mollett described John as acting like "a plumb, raving crazy drunk man."

'HAVE MERCY! DON'T SHOOT'

Mollie McGinnis, Deputy Mollett said, exclaimed:

"Lord have mercy, Rafe, don't shoot!"

Neely added briefly to the description of the scene by saying that John, when officers found him kneeling on the body of his mother, was repeating over and over, "Have your way, Lord; have your way," and that when they tried to pull him off he began talking "the unknown tongue."

Other defendants were talking in the same fashion, Neely testified, and "saying they were sorry to kill their mother, but they had to."

Mrs. Rhoda Hatfield Mills, a widowed daughter-in-law of the victim, testified:

MORAN WEDDING TIP SURPRISES FAMILY HERE

Winchell Scoops Kin On Third Romance Of Lois' Mother

Walter Winchell's column "On Broadway" held a big surprise for Pittsburgh relatives of Mrs. Gladys Moran, of New York, mother of Lois Moran, star in the musical comedy "Of Thee I Sing."

Winchell noted:

"Lois Moran's charming mother, Gladys, is to middle-aisle it again in May."

Miss Ursula Dowling, of 4154 Bigelow boulevard, was astonished. She said:

"Mrs. Moran was here for two days last week. She said nothing about being married again. It is news to us."

Mrs. Moran's first husband, Roger Dowling, was killed in an accident. Her second husband, Dr. Timothy Moran, died of pneumonia while in the Army medical service in the World War.

Her daughter, acclaimed for her singing and acting ability in Pittsburgh recently when her show was at the Nixon, said her own thoughts were on her career, rather than marriage. She inherited $68,000 from the estate of her grand-aunt, Mrs. Mary Darlington Ammon, a descendant of Gen. James O'Hara, Revolutionary War hero, who was granted tracts near Aspinwall.

U. S. PROBER'S HOME BOMBED

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—A dynamite explosion early today wrecked the front of the home of Wiliam Geisler, Department of Justice agent, engaged in confidential investigations here for the government.

The blast broke windows in 15 houses nearby and threw a residential neighborhood of Elmhurst, Queens, into panic. No one was hurt.

Geisler, who said he saw three automobiles speed past the house shortly before the explosion, refused to tell detectives the nature of the investigations he has been making. He said:

"They are of a confidential nature."

Geisler's wife and daughter were asleep and he was sitting in his living room when the blast rocked the neighborhood. It tore the porch off the Geisler house and shattered every window in it. The police were without clues as to the criminals, but expressed the belief the explosive was a dynamite stick.

CHICAGO, April 11.—(INS.)—Mrs. Caroline La Plante, the woman who "forgot how to breathe," today was able to inhale and exhale without the assistance of a Drinker respirator for a 30-minute period every three hours.

Physicians noted a definite improvement in her condition, which is attributed to a brain infection. Six doctors are studying the strange malady which began 11 days ago.

During the periods when she is removed from the "iron lung" Mrs. La Plante has to be "reminded" at intervals to breathe. A nurse stands beside her, ready to prompt the breathing process when it lapses.

RESCUES BABY FROM MANHOLE

Pitfall Seizes Child Leaving Yard for Outside World

A Hazelwood baby is recovering today from face and head injuries suffered when she fell into a five-foot manhole late yesterday.

She is Mary Alice Reihl, 2½, of 1 Tecumseh street. After getting out of the backyard without her mothing knowing it, she went adventuring. Her explorations came to quick ending two blocks away at Blair and Tecumseh streets.

Mary Alice went tumbling into the open manhole. Her cries attracted Robert Reihl, of 3 Tecumseh street. Let Bobby tell the rest:

"I was coming home from school when I heard someone crying. I looked in the manhole and there was Mary trying to get out. She was reaching toward the opening. So I laid down, stuck my head and shoulders in and pulled her out. Gosh, I never knew a little kid like that weighed so much."

Many persons witnessed the rescue. Robert took his little neighbor girl home covered with mud, cinders and blood. All Mary Alice had to say was:

"I fall in big hole."

BREWERS URGE MODERATION HERE

Deluged by orders for beer, Pittsburgh brewers today gave assurance they were making every effort to keep the new brew a healthful beverage, and urged the thirsty to be moderate in their demands upon the limited supply.

Because of the huge thirst here, orders have piled up far beyond the operating breweries' capacity. It has been necessary to turn many away because properly aged brew cannot be supplied by the present plant facilities.

'TEMPERANCE' DRINK

Advised of reports that digestive disorders had been attributed to the new beer, brewers suggested was possible before the 3.2 brew responsible.

It was said beer should be several months old to be at its best, and the operating breweries stored as great a supply for ageing as was authorized. Beer aged sufficiently to meet health requirements is being sold, they said.

One brewer described beer as a "temperance" drink and urged that it be regarded as such. He said consumers also should determine their digestive reactions to beer and govern their drinking accordingly. Beer drunk with food disagrees with some, while others are unable to "gulp" it, he said, adding that in his opinion, it never should be "gulped."

MONTHS TO AGE

When drinking beer was a "fine art," he said, the lovers of good beer never drank it ice-cold. Old-time beer drinkers who drew their brew from an iced supply, almost invariably warmed their mugs, he said. He thought perhaps iced beer was not as good for one's digestion.

August Busch, Jr., general manager of Anheuser - Busch brewing interests of St. Louis, commenting on the situation, said:

"To age our beer properly takes over three months. Even today's exceptional conditions will not hurry us. Meanwhile we ask the public to be patient."

He explained that the Anheuser-Busch plants would not be working at capacity until July 1.

Dr. Fithian, one-time Prohibition candidate for Governor and the United States Senate, is an owner of the Wendel August Aluminum Forge Company, which has been turning out aluminum containers that might be used as beer mugs. Dr. Fithian announced today that these mugs are not being made for the beer trade, though his partner, Wendel August, seemed to disagree.

Solicitor Klinesmith said that he had not drawn up the ordinance, which is effective in 10 days. He explained:

"I told Council that it could legislate only on whatever subjects the Pennsylvania Legislature authorized. And I can't find anything in the borough code that covers this situation.

RULING SOUGHT

"This ordinance is based on a section of the code which gives Council authority to eliminate anything noxious or offensive. But I can't find any such ruling against beer."

The ordinance specifically forbids brew containing alcohol of one-half of 1 per cent to 3.2 per cent. Maximum penalty for violation is $100 fine and 30 days in jail.

Grove City, 50 years old, never had a licensed saloon, even in the old days.

LIST DRY FIRMS

BEAVER FALLS, April 11.—A group of Beaver Falls prohibitionists today was distributing lists of the 16 firms which have promised not to handle the new beer.

Councilman George S. Oliver today said that the city beer-tax bill he had planned to introduce to Council had been dropped. Oliver said he believed the Legislature soon would enact a tax which would wipe out the local tax.

REPEAL-BEER 'TRADE' OFFERED

Their purpose was to ask the Governor if he would sign a bill calling for the election of all delegates at large. The Governor in vetoeing the McClure bill said he would approve the election of delegates by senatorial districts.

Harris today introduced a bill calling for the election of 51 delegates at large, while McClure introduced a similar bill, but limiting the delegates to 21. It is expected, if a compromise is reached with the Governor, that the Harris bill will be chosen, but that the delegate number will be amended to read 15.

M'CLURE BILL OUT

The McClure bill was reported from committee and passed first reading this afternoon.

The candidates would be selected from various sections of state by the Republican and Democratic state chairmen. Each chairman would select two slates of candidates, one pledged to vote for repeal and the other for retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. This system is similar to that adopted in New York in a conference between the party chairmen and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Decision to confer with the Governor was reached at midnight conference last night in the office of Lieut. Gov. Edward Shannon. Randolph W. Childs of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and Raymond Pitcairn of the United Repeal Societies, together with representatives of the Women's Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, participated. Present also was Charles Dorrance, candidate of the Liberal party for Lieutenant Governor in 1930.

MICHIGAN FIRST FOR REPEAL

LANSING, Mich., April 11.—(Universal.)—Michigan's constitutional convention yesterday ratified the national prohibition repeal amendment by a vote of 99 to 1.

By its decisive action Michigan became the first state formally to vote for wiping the Eighteenth Amendment from the Constitution of the United States.

Wisconsin, tto hold its state convention two weeks from today, will be second in line.

The ratification yesterday was a formality. The real victory was scored a week ago when the voters of the state turned out to elect 100 delegates to the state convention. In each of the 100 districts, there was a dry candidate and a wet candidate, but the drys were able to elect only one delegate in the entire state.

Dispute Snarls State Relief Pact

said he would report out the Talbot bill cut to $10,000,000, double the amount that the Governor has said he would underwrite.

At the same time Scott prepared to introduce a new relief bill for $13,000,000. This would be effective in the next biennium.

REVENUE PROBLEM

Meanwhile the revenue which Mr. Pinchot says is imperative before he will sign any relief bill is lost in the mazes of legislative gyrations. The beer bill of Representative James H. McClure, which was to be esmaculated until it retained only the tax of $1.24 per barrel, or half a cent a bottle, on beer, is fermenting in the Ways and Means Committee.

The Philadelphia organization also has refused to agree to the Governor's demand that personal property taxes should be collected by the State Department of Revenue. The Governor estimates more efficient collection would leave the counties the amount they now receive and give the state $8,000,000 surplus. The beer tax is scheduled to bring in $7,500,000 in the biennium.

These subjects are all supposed to be ironed out this afternoon. If they are, there must be a complete clearing away of the sharp bitterness which marked the break-up of yesterday's sessions, in which the Governor, cabinet officers and two score legislators participated.

VETO INDICATED

If the revenue is not provided for the Schnader amendment or the Scott alteration of the Talbot bill, the Governor will cut the amount to $5,000,000. He then will demand that revenue not only be found for this sum in the next biennium but that revenue shall be uncovered for any additional allocations for the unemployed. Otherwise, he has intimated, he will veto the larger bill.

Controversy between the Governor and the Legislature arises over a surplus of $14,000,000 in the present biennium. Organization Republicans insist that this amount should be available for emergency relief. They contend it is unthinkable that the state should carry over a surplus while there are people hungry in Pennsylvania.

To this the Governor rejoins that the $14,000,000 has been figured in the next budget, and, though the hungry may have to tighten their belts, he cannot rearrange his budget.

The Governor insists that in addition to the beer and property taxes, $6,000,000 shall be raised through economies and $3,000,000 through increases of the foreign corporation tax. It was made quite clear in yesterday's conferences, however, that the $6,000,000 of economy did not foreclose the Republican organization from slashing more from the Pinchot bureaus if they can get away with it.

TENSE CONFERENCE

The entire relief program has been thrown into the legislative maelstrom with the Governor insisting that the game shall be played strictly according to his rules. He was visibly stirred yesterday as he talked to newspapermen in the presence of organization leaders, and was checked many times as he issued his statement on what had occurred at the conference.

The manner in which the organization leaders corrected him at times gave evidence of the tenseness which must have marked the conference.

One proposal adopted, and on which there was no contradiction, was that a resolution should be introduced at once empowering the State Department of Revenue to take necessary steps in preparation for imposing the stamp tax. That announcement was made by the Governor at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Yet when the House adjourned at 3 o'clock this morning no such resolution had appeared.

The Governor has been jockeyed into an embarrassing position by his refusal to permit the use of the surplus for relief. The surplus is attested by his own associates, who have referred to it as a windfall gained through the inheritance tax from the Dorrance estate.

HOUSE SLASHES GOV. PINCHOT'S BUDGET

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Lashed by a warning that failure to act would mean new taxes imposed at a special session next summer, the House today passed, 147 to 53, the $116,000,000 general appropriation bill.

The measure, to be revised in the Senate, slashes $13,000,000 from Gov. Pinchot's estimates for the same items of state expenses.

Representative Joseph G. Steedle, Allegheny Republican and chairman of the Appropriations' Committee which drafted the bill, opened debate with a review of the changes he said supporters are ready to make. Before it is enacted, Steedle said these amendments will be made:

Restoration of appropriations to East Stroudsburg, California, Clarion and West Chester teachers' colleges and to the Coaldale and Shamokin state hospitals; elimination of the proposed cut of $3,000,000 in state payments to school districts for teachers' salaries, returning that item to the $53,000,000 figure in the Governor's budget.

Lauding President Roosevelt's work in slashing national expenses, he declared:

"Economy in government is necessary. If we don't economize, how do you expect counties and other governmental divisions to make economies?"

Steedle said he believed many judges will take voluntary salary reductions.

Bus Line Here Seeks Pymatuning Permit

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(INS.)—In an application before the Public Service Commission today the Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company of Pittsburgh applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to establish a passenger bus service between Pittsburgh and Pymatuning Dam.

Dog Catchers May Lose $2 Fee for Killing 'Mutts'

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Dogs will no longer be more valuable dead than alive to dog catchers if a measure up for action in the House becomes law.

The bill, introduced by Representatives Philip Sterling, Philadelphia; Flynn, Elk; Steedle, Allegheny, and McClure, Allegheny, is part of the joint legislative committee's economy program.

COYNE'S BILL CURBS UJDGES

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Senator James J. Coyne today introduced a bill compelling judicial candidates to run for specified places on the bench. His plan would abolish the present system of the judicial election and primary being a free-for-all, with candidates running for any place to be filled.

Allegheny County judicial candidates would be compelled to specify for one of three places to be filled next fall.

The system would enable political organizations to concentrate against a candidate disliked, or to enter a number of candidates against a friend and diffuse the opposition to him.

Under present law the three highest candidates in the September primary would be nominated.

CITY MANAGER PLAN KILLED

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(INS.)—The proposed city manager plan for Pittsburgh and a bill to abolish the direct primary were killed and numerous other bills were pickled by the Senate Elections Committee today.

The committee postponed indefinitely the Chapman (Warren) measures repealing the direct primary law and the Harris (Alleghehnhy) bill to open the way for a Pittsburgh city manager.

A sub-committee was appointed for consideration of three permanent registration bills which are expected to be merged into one measure.

COLLEGE FUNDS BACK IN BILL

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Final action on the $116,000,000 organization-supported appropriation bill was scheduled in the House today after leaders announced provisions to eliminate four teachers' colleges and two state-owned hospitals had been abandoned.

They said appropriations would be included for the California, Clarion, Stroudsburg and Westchester teachers' colleges, along with the other 10, but that cuts would have to be made for all the schools. The restored hospitals are at Coaldale and Shamokin.

Considerable opposition remained as the House approached the test today. Much of it centered about the proposed slashes in state subsidies to schools, including a reduction to $50,000,000 of the state appropriation to districts for teachers' salaries which Gov. Pinchot in his budget cut from $58,000,000 to $53,000,000.

PINCHOT PLANS UTILITY BILL

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Not satisfied with the McClure (Senate) omnibus public utility bill, Gov. Pinchot is having his own measure prepared for introduction today or tomorrow.

The Governor, long an exponent of rigid regulation of utilities, declined to state what the provisions of his bill would be. He also declined to discuss the McClure bill.

Meanwhile, the McClure bill, which the Senate has passed, was returned to the House Utilities Committee for amendment. It will come up for final passage in the House after being amended.

Gov. Pinchot said he did not know when he would be able to make his promised address to the Legislature on the question of public utilities.

Urge U. S. Improve Beaver, Mahoning

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Representative William McElwee, Lawrence, last night introduced a resolution urging Congress immediately to improve the Beaver and Mahoning rivers in accordance with the President's public works program.

A similar resolution was introduced in the Senate by Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor, Beaver. The project would make the two rivers navigable from the junction of the Ohio and Beaver rivers to Rochester Borough.

Child Wage Probe Report Unfavorable

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—The Fitzgerald bill, authorizing the Department of Labor and Industry to investigate and regulate the wages of women and children in industry, was reported unfavorably last night by the House State Government Committee.

The bill, indorsed by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and the Pennsylvania Security League, now requires a majority vote, taken within five days, to place it on the calendar.

House Defeats Bill To Reduce Payroll

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(INS.)—The House today refused to approve a reduction in the number of its own employes.

Although the Turner bill, passed by the House, is the proposed ax to be used on the personnel of other departments of the government, the lower branch defeated the Sterling bill which reduces the number of House and Senate employes.

Road Aid Measure Up for Passage

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—The Parkinson bill appropriating $17,891,000 to the Highway Department for maintenance of city and borough streets and rural roads is up for final passage in the Senate today.

Death for Kidnapers Approved by Senate

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Persons convicted of kidnaping and holding for ransom would be subject to life imprisonment or death under a bill passed by the State Senate last night. The measure now goes to the House.

EXPERT HEARD IN DEATH TRIAL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 11.—David W. Cowell, Cleveland ballistic expert, today testified that the shotgun shell which killed Mrs. Mary Neff was not discharged by pulling the trigger.

Cowell, first defense witness for Cyrus H. Neff, Canfield lumberman, charged with his wife's murder, said Prosecutor J. H. Leightninger had brought the shell to him for examination.

He said the firing pin mark on the shell was lighter than on 15 shells fired from the gun by pulling the trigger. He said the mark on the fatal shell was the same as on one shell which had been discharged by "fanning"—pulling the trigger back by the thumb and releasing it without using the trigger. Cowell said this report had been given to the prosecutor, but he was not called as a prosecution witnesss.

The state's last testimony included statements of C. W. Shaffer, a former employe of Neff, that he had seen Neff and Miss Alice Overholtzer, his secretary, in an embrace.

KIWANIS URGES JOB BOARD

Mandatory ruling that states receiving national relief funds apply a certain portion to work projects today was urged by the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh in a resolution sent to President Roosevelt.

The action suggested that an amendment be made to the $5,000,000,000 Wagner-LaFollette-Costigan bills now before Congress. The amendment would provide power to the administrator appointed under the bill to make the ruling mandatory. A work developing board was urged, paralleling existing relief boards and that the percentage used by the states be applied to public, semi-public, private or corporate work projects.

The resolution asks the President through his secretary, M. H. McIntyre, and the Department of Labor, to follow the recommendation.

RAILS FOR ERIE ORDERED HERE

Steel mill operations in the Pittsburgh district will be increased by an order for 24,549 tons of rails by the Erie Railroad for its 1933 replacement requirements. The bulk of the order has been given to Carnegie Steel, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, with plants in this district. Carnegie's share is 16,049 tons.

Bethlehem Steel was awarded 2,000 tons, Illinois Steel 4,500 tons and Inland Steel 2,000 tons.

This is the first large order for rails placed this year. The custom of the railroads is to place contracts for a year's requirements at a time and to call for delivery as the rails are needed. The order does not necessarily mean an immediate increase in production.

BRITISH CHARGE RED '3D DEGREE'

LONDON, April 11.—(AP.)—The British government has made public information intended to show the Russian secret police used virtual third degree methods in attempting to obtain confessions from six British engineers who are going on trial tomorrow in Moscow.

The six defendants are charged with sabotage, espionage and bribery. Officials here have stressed that the death penalty may be invoked in event of conviction.

A second white paper on the case, issued last night, related that the Russian police directed a woman to set a trap for one of the men.

One communication from British diplomatic officials in Moscow said John Cushny, one of the prisoners, was offered $250 a month to do work without the knowledge of his company, the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Equipment Company, of Manchester, England, but that he refused.

'CUPID'S' CLERK FOUND GUILTY

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Deputy City Clerk James J. McCormick, in charge of the marriage license bureau, was found guilty in a sealed verdict opened in Federal Court today of failing to file income tax returns showing the receipt in 1929 and 1930 of $69,000 in tips from bridegrooms.

The verdict, however, acquitted McCormick on two felony counts charging attempts to evade and defeat the income tax laws in the same years.

McCormick was charged with having wilfully evaded and failing to report a taxable income of $222,388, although he was brought to trial only on charges relating to 1929 and 1930.

ATTACK APPEAL PLANS DEBATED

NEW YORK, April 11.—(INS.)—Samuel Leibowitz, counsel for Haywood Patterson, Alabama Negro sentenced to death a second time for alleged participation with eight other Negroes in an attack upon two white girls, conferred with International Labor Defense officials today to consider plans for an appeal.

The appeal is to be based on the claim that the jury's verdict was against the weight of the evidence.

The International Labor Defense also will seek a change of venu and demand that the trials of the other defendants be taken to Birmingham. A postponement until a decision on the Patterson appeal will be requested, if the appeal is taken.

'BABY BANDITS' TO GET HOMES

BLOOMSBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania's youngest bank robbers—John Harrington, 9, and his 7-year-old sister, Lillian—are to be removed from state correctional institutions and placed in foster homes.

The children crawled through a small window into a Bloomsburg bank one Sunday afternoon last December and took two paper sacks of money—proceeds of a Sunday school collection.

Judge Charles C. Evans, who committed the boy to the Glen Mills School for Boys, and the girl to the House of the Good Shepherd in Philadelphia, signed a transfer order yesterday placing them in the care of the Pennsylvania Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

The jurist said he had been informed there was an opportunity to place the children in foster homes.

ILLS MYSTERY, MIX TESTIFIES

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(Universal.)—When Tom Mix, cowboy film actor, was operated on several years ago, he didn't know what was the matter with him. And he doesn't know now.

As a matter of fact he had to read the public prints to find out how sick he was.

This was the gist of his testimony yesterday in Superior Court where Mix is being sued by [illegible] Turin Stout for a $9,700 fee.

[illegible]ked by Court, Sharon to Set Tax

SHARON, Pa., April 11.—City Council met today to fix a new and lower tax rate for 1933, following a decision by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court giving it undisputed authority to fix any rate necessary to meet its budget estimates.

At the first of the year a 14-mill rate was fixed. This was opposed by the Sharon Real Estate Owners' Association, which demanded an 8-mill rate. Councilmen have indicated that they will grant a voluntary reduction because of economic conditions, probably fixing a levy of 11 or 12 mills.

Johnstown Cuts Tax Rates, Aids Teachers

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 11.—Cutting the per capita tax to $2.50 instead of $5 and ordering a reduction of 3 mills in the school tax rate, the Johnstown School Board took steps to relieve the financial stringency among teachers.

The board ordered cash payment of $20 per teacher or employe against March salaries, funds for the payment of which are tied up in banks operating under conservators. The new school millage is 13 as against 16 mills last year.

Eggs to Be Tickets For Amateur Play

STRASBURG, Col., April 11.—(INS.)—Eggs will be the medium of exchange at the box office of the local theater Thursday.

The Young People's Dramatic Club will present a play. Two dozen eggs will admit an adult and one dozen will be the admission charge for children. The eggs will be sold in Denver and the proceeds turned over to a church building fund here.

Blaze at Starford Destroys Postoffice

STARFORD, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Fire today destroyed the postoffice and four dwellings before the flames were checked by volunteer firemen from Clymer, who estimated damage at $25,000. Firemen said mail in the postoffice was saved.

Erie Mayor Plans $565,000 for Idle

ERIE, Pa., April 11.—(INS.)—Mayor James Rossiter today proposed a $565,000 work program to create temporary jobs for 1,000 of the city's needy. The plan would be financed from the delinquent tax reserves.

Hot Roofing Tar Scalds Constable

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 11.—Constable Michael Popovich, 34, repairing the roof of a house, was scalded when a bucket of hot tar upset and drenched his head and shoulders.

FRANCE TO SEEK U. S. GOODWILL

PARIS, April 11.—(AP.)—A plan to make France known "in true light," especially in the United States, by a comprehensive propaganda organization, has been proposed in Parliament by Deputy Adrien Dariac in a report on the foreign affairs budget.

The scheme provides for a superior propaganda council centralizing action in sending a corps of "missionaries" abroad and quickening the exchange of views with the principal countries.

Propaganda would be spread through lectures, personal contacts, articles sent to the newspapers, broadcasting, which already has started, motion pictures, and an active campaign against Germany, the chief antagonist, to show war guilt and treaty violations.

Bandits Visit Bank 2nd Time; Get $2,000

BURLINGTON, Ind., April 11.—(INS.)—Three bandits today paid a return visit to the Burlington State Bank here and robbed it of about $2,000 in cash.

This same institution was held up by three robbers on February 23 and looted of approximately $1,500.

PLANS GARDENS IN SHANTYTOWN

If the residents of "Shantytown," the unique comunity of shacks on Liberty avenue under the shadow of Old St. Patrick's Church go through with their present plans this will be the garden spot of Pittsburgh's "strip" district. Under the direction of "Mayor" Mason, the men in this village of the unemployed are now building window boxes and trellis frames, laying out little garden plots, stringing the sides of the shacks for budding vines and as summer comes "Shantytown" will be blooming with flowers and plants and trailers in every color of the rainbow. There are 89 little buildings in this community occupied as homes by unemployed men. The idea for beautification was advanced by Father Cox, who believes that a flower garden is an essential for every home no matter how poor or lowly. He also believes that the "Shantytown" display will be so colorful and unique this summer that hundreds will flock to see it. Donations of seeds and bulbs for this purpose will be appreciated.

Father Cox is on his way for another record breaking week in his drive for Sun-Telegraph subscriptions. The number received last week smashed all former records. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or is telephoned in with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

INDIAN, SQUAW ROB 'CYCLIST

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—(INS.)—An Indian Brave, accompanied by his squaw and their papoose, riding in a rickety automobile, held up and robbed J. L. Boggs, insurance collector, of $15, after they had "surrounded my bicycle on Hollywood boulevard," Boggs reported to police today.

The Indian had a "rusty pistol," Boggs said. He shuddered:

"Ugh! I might have been scalped."

Tinkling bells, and the clink of silver

IN a Chinese fairy story one reads about the Emperor's garden, where rare and colorful plants from all over the world were constantly flowering.

It was the duty of the honorable head gardener to watch for the most beautiful of the blooms and tie to the stem of each a little silver bell. As the flowers swayed in the breeze, the bells tinkled with sweet music. Thus the courtiers and the distinguished visitors, strolling along the paths, were sure to see the finest specimens.

This was the Emperor's way of saying, "I have something extra fine that you should see; look this way and you'll be repaid."

In the advertising columns of this paper are similar messages addressed to YOU. Read them and you will hear the clink of silver. Our merchants are saying, "We have some extra values. We have some especially seasonable articles that you should see. Come to our stores and you will be repaid."

You have nothing to lose when you accept this invitation. In fact, when you fail to do so, you're missing some of the very news for which you bought this paper!

FOREIGN TRADE REVIVAL MOVE GAINS HERE

Pittsburgh business interests today threw their support behind the National Foreign Trade Convention to be held here this month as a step in the movement to regain millions of dollars lost in export trade.

E. P. Thomas, president of the National Foreign Trade Council, said the Pittsburgh district has lost roughly $80,000,000 in its steel export trade since 1929.

The convention will be held April 26, 27 and 28, and will bring many leading industrialists, financial authorities, economists and government officials here to discuss foreign trade, credit and international relations.

MEET WITH FLANNERY

Thomas and Gardner P. Harding, executive secretary of the National Council, were here yesterday to discuss arrangements for the convention with J. Rogers Flannery, chairman of the local convention committee.

Thomas said special emphasis will be placed on trade with Latin-American countries, and for the first time, the convention will have a session dealing with agricultural exports, recognizing agriculture has a vital part in the movement to revive trade with other countries.

The sessions are designed to obtain the opinions of American business men on foreign trade problems, which will be presented to governmental departments in the form of recommendations.

PROPOSAL ON RISK

Thomas said it was probable the convention will suggest that the government assume part of the credit risk involved in export trade, as is done by European countries.

Discussions of tariffs probably will be confined to reciprocal trade agreements, Thomas said.

The convention is being held in Pittsburgh for the second time since the National Foreign Trade Council was formed. The first meeting here was in 1917.

REED TO TALK

Fred I. Kent, director of foreign exchange for the Federal Reserve Board, will be the keynote speaker. He will discuss "Credit Policy in Export Trade." United States Senator David A. Reed will speak on the international war debts.

Other speakers will be James A. Farrell, former president of the United States Steel Corporation; Col. Henry Breckinridge, former assistant secretary of war; Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, chairman of the Council on Inter-American Relations, and William R. Castle, Jr., former under-secretary of state.

Flinn Urges City Fight Coal Flames

A letter from A. Rex Flinn, president of Booth and Flinn Company, warns City Council of the burning of coal underlying the Booth and Flinn property near Reed street and Ruchs Hill. Flinn said the city should attempt to extinguish the fire, citing danger to neighboring houses.

Fire Damages Home Of Morgan Resident

INAUGURATE TAX 'CLUB'

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—A thrift tax payment plan organized along the lines of a Christmas savings club is the latest innovation for the convenience of Chicago and Cook County taxpayers. And Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough today said it was proving successful.

The main difference between his thrift plan and a Christmas savings club, he said, was that instead of watching periodical payments grow into a lump sum, the taxpayer has the satisfaction of seeing the principal of his assessment diminish. He explained:

"It removes the headache from the semi-annual tax bill and makes the burden seem a little easier.

"And more important—we hope to speed collection of the millions of dollar of unpaid 1931 taxes so that the thousands of city employes and school teachers can receive the salary checks for which they have waited so long."

McDonough put his plan into effect little more than a week ago as an emergency measure after the courts had removed all legal obstacles to the collection of the much disputed 1931 taxes.

Henry Pleads Guilty In Theft, Forgery

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(AP.)—Appearing on crutches, Leslie B. Henry, Pasadena financier and former president of the Tournament of Roses Association, pleaded guilty in Superior Court yesterday to five counts of grand theft and five of forgery.

He was to have gone on trial on charges of theft of $75,000 from Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, mother of Mary Miles Minter, former screen star. Henry filed application for probation and sentence was deferred.

WHITE RULES FILM STARS' EASTER GARB

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

(Copyright, 1933, Universal Service, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—My personal advance peep into the wardrobes of the film stars indicates that white is the favorite color for Easter.

I have just seen two smart frocks that Marion Davies is considering as appropriate to wear to Easter service.

One a black flat crepe with a relieving note of white in the smart jacket of white uncut velvet, trimmed in caracul, small black hat, white gloves and black pumps. Then Marion has a dark blue suit with a white pique jacket with silver fox trimmings. Depends upon the weather which she will wear.

Kay Francis, spending her Easter in the country, will vary from the usual Easter finery by donning a smart brown tweed suit, orange blouse, hat, shoes and purse of brown.

Norma Talmadge, who will spend her Easter aboard the choo-choo, will nevertheless dress herself for the day in brown and white checked suit with tailored hat and blouse.

Sister Constance, who is being economical, went shopping yesterday for a $14.95 costume. Gray is the color she had in mind.

Jean Harlow's platinum locks also will be set off by gray.

Mary Brian chooses a silk whirlpool (whatever that may be) of green with a short brown silk coat and accessories.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

SHAW BROADCASTS -:- Noted Irish Dramatist On Air from New York -:- AIRCASTER GOSSIP

Dr. Damrosch Opens Spring Concerts

That much-awaited broadcast from American soil by that celebrated dramatist and wit, George Bernard Shaw, is at hand.

Shaw, whose oft-repeated resolution never to visit the United States already has been broken twice within a few weeks, goes on the air via NBC-KDKA tonight at 8:45 to tell all the "dear boobs" about political science, among other things. The latter are matters of conjecture, but it is generally predicted that his remarks, as usual, will be highly controversial.

The address, marking his only public appearance during his brief stopover, was arranged by Alanson B. Houghton, president of the Academy of Political Science and former Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and emanates from the Metropolitan Opera House during a special meeting of the Academy.

With Dr. Walter Damrosch conducting, a new weekly series of spring symphony concerts opens on WCAE at 10 p. m., featuring some of the most colorful works of Bach and Beethoven. Each program will be confined to the works of two great composers.

Dr. Baker Speaks

Speaking under the auspices of the National Foreign Trade Association, which holds its twentieth annual convention in Pittsburgh beginning April 26, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, discusses international affairs on KDKA at 6:35 tonight. Dr. Baker recently returned from a tour of Europe.

Milton J. Cross, NBC announcer, and Lewis James, tenor of the Revelers Quartet, join to introduce a new idea in children's radio programs on WCAE today at 5:45—nursery rhymes, "pure, unadulterated and nothing else but!"

"Seder," the traditional Passover Feast ceremony, with Dr. Potterman, of the Washington Heights Temple, New York, officiating as cantor, and the celebrated Machtenberg Choir, is tonight's broadcast of "The Goldbergs" on WCAE at 7:45.

Two dramatic Easter presentations are listed for WCAE and WWSW listeners. On WCAE at 11:30 p. m., "Judas," a story of the Passion, is offered, featuring June Meredith in the role of Mary Magdalene. "The Road to the Sepulchre," with Amelia Miller and Gayzelle Boetticher in the leads, is scheduled on WWSW at 6.

Mae West, who created a furore in her first starring picture, "She Done Him Wrong," expounds her ideas on love, pictures and night life during California Melodies," WJAS-at-9:30 bill.

Globe-Trotting

With the Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

—By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN—

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

I don't remember talking about violins but it is reported that one broadcast carried the announcement that Kate Smith had a fiddle that was made in 1785. Howard J. McLaughlin hastens to assure me that he can go the "moon" lady one better. His bears a manufacturing date of 1716.

* * *

In sincere childish scrawl comes a letter from Deanne Lavine, of Duquesne. It breathlessly informs me that a robin on the fence outside of his and his playmates' playhouse sees his image in the glass and then strikes at it with his claw.

* * *

W. K. Aites, of Wilkinsburg, in a lengthy dissertation answers the problem of filling and refilling jugs so that the water in the eight-gallon jug can be divided equally between that container and a five-gallon empty, using a three-gallon jug, also empty, to assist.

Fill the five-gallon jug. Fill the three-gallon jug with the fluid poured from the "five." Then pour this back into the eight-gallon jug. Empty the five into the three, then fill the five from the eight. Pour the five into the three, which leaves four gallons in the five, the three-gallon jug is full and one gallon still remains in the eight. Now, presto, empty the three into the eight and there you are, if you haven't spilled any.

* * *

And surprising how many attempted answers to that frog problem where the frog is on a three-foot log and jumped half the distance to the end on each hop. I won't mention any names.

* * *

Miss S., New Kensington—Can't find anything about that Italian doctor who removes freckles by freezing them. Lots of people think freckles are cute anyway.

V. C.—Daylight Saving is regulated by city ordinance. It has been kept as a law for 16 years.

Mrs. Albert Casani—Your suggestion is good. Many people about to move will want to get rid of some old books and magazines. If you have anything that may be appreciated by the hospital shut-ins leave it at the Sun-Telegraph "Want Ad" depot at Fifth and Market. We'll be glad to do the distribution.

Baseball Opener Broadcast

Play-by-play accounts of the official opening game of the baseball season, the Senators vs. the Athletics at Washington, and of the Pirates' first 1933 game at Cincinnati are scheduled for broadcasting tomorrow.

With Ted Husing at the microphone, the Washington opener, at which President Roosevelt will throw out the first ball, will go on the air via CBS-WJAS from 2:45 to 5 p. m.

The Pirate description will be given by Ed Sprague, with Joe Sartory assisting at the receiving end of a telegraph instrument, over WWSW beginning at 2:45.

The latter will be preceded by a special 15-minute program featuring Sam Watters, vice president of the Pirates; Paul Rathert, advertising manager of Donahoe's, and the Masket Tenor.

Roosevelt on Air Tonight

Pan-American Day addresses by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull at a special celebration in Washington will be broadcast over NBC and CBS networks, including the local outlets, KDKA and WJAS, tomorrow beginning at 11 a. m.

Other speakers are to be Don Pedro Manuel Arcaya, minister from Venezuela and vice chairman of the governing board of the Pan-American Union; Don Adrian Recinos, minister from Guatemala, and Senor Alfaro, a university student from Panama. Music by the United States Army Band will also be heard.

Jaw Broken in Auto Smashup, Myrt Has Self 'Kidnaped' So Radio Show Can Go On

By AIRCASTER

It was the unique experience last night of Myrtle Vail, the heroine of the "Myrt and Marge" skits, to hear broadcast her own adventure with a band of kidnapers who captured and imprisoned her.

Myrt heard of her own kidnaping as she lay, swathed in bandages in a Chicoga hospital following an automobile accident that will keep her on her cot for six weeks.

It is very strange how few people knew of it. One of the few who did was the man who pays for the "Myrt and Marge" series, and since Myrt not only is the heroine of the skits, but also the author, he wanted to cancel the program.

But Myrt wouldn't hear of it. With Bobby Brown, the director of the sketches, at her bedside, she devised a kidnaping for herself, and while she languishes in the hospital, the cast of the nightly series will go adventuring in the hunt for her, while she and Brown get together every morning to devise new exploits for the troupers. She scribbled:

"There's no reason why all of 'em should lose their jobs just because I happened to try to climb a pole with my flivver."

Bebe Falvo, Pittsburgh blues singer, who made her network debut with Harold Stern and his orchestra over NBC-WCAE Saturday night, has signed a contract to sing with that band over the same facilities three nights weekly—Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays. She was the winner of the most recent of the Paul Whiteman auditions.

DEATH WATCH PUT ON RUTH; NOOSE NEAR

ARIZONA PENITENTIARY, FLORENCE, Ariz., April 11.—(AP.)—The death watch was put on Winnie Ruth Judd today, but the slim woman, scheduled to be hanged 10 days hence for murder of Agnes Anne Leroi, was unaware of it.

Warden A. G. Walker said her nervous condition caused him to decide not to move her to the death cell but to keep her in her present surroundings under constant surveillance of matrons and two guards. The latter were placed over her since she attempted to saw the bars of her cell in the women's ward a month ago.

Walker declared:

"In her present condition I have decided to put the death watch on her where she is. She is very nervous."

The prison superintendent declined to say whether he would ask for a sanity hearing for the condemned woman.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Judd's attorneys today planned a direct appeal to the State Supreme Court for her release by a writ of habeas corpus.

EASTMAN SEES POETRY RETURN

A present-day tendency away from poetry is probably only temporary, says Max Eastman, famous poet and liberal, who spoke today before a general assembly at the Pennsylvania College for Women.

The true poet, according to Mr. Eastman, loves things in general, even sorrow, with a drunken enthusiasm. People, he said, can be dividend into two classes—those who are consecrated to attaining ends and those who are consecrated to receiving experiences. The latter class only have the true poetic nature.

One of the poems which Mr. Eastman read to the students was dedicated, he said, to the twelfth juror, a big, broad-shouldered American with a strong jaw and a sense of justice, who refused to vote for Eastman's conviction when he was tried, in 1918, for sedition under the espionage act. His crime, according to Mr. Eastman, was the retention of his sense of humor during the period of war hysteria.

JOHN P. ALMS, 25

Architect Wins Battle Over Physical Handicap

A former Carnegie Tech student who had to leave college because of a broken neck, today is more fortunate than many of his classmates. While they are hunting jobs, he has about all the work he can do.

He is John P. Alms, 25, of Greensburg. In April, 1929, when a freshman, he fell from the parallel bars in the Tech gymnasium. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital with a broken neck. For several weeks his hopes of recovery hung by a thread.

After going back to school for two years he ran out of funds and had to quit.

Then Alms started out to win his second big battle. Having studied architectural sculptoring at Tech his job was to put his education to some use. He obtained a job doing the architectural work for the new Jeannette postoffice, the Grove City postoffice and the Oil City High School. Alms said:

"I'm in the pink of condition and my neck does not bother me. I can play the same sports that most fellows can."

Alms is trying to get damages for his injuries os that he can finish his senior year at Tech. His case will be heard in court.

BILLS TO SPEED COURT WORK PUSHED

An effort to get three bills passed in the State Legislature to speed up the work of Common Pleas Court is being made by a special committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association.

A resolution signed by five judges and five other members of the bar has been sent to each State Senator and member of the House. If no attempt is made to pass the bills, the committee has indicated it will ask for a hearing.

The legislation asked includes House bills 1011, 990 and 991. The first authorizes masters to be appointed by Common Pleas Court to relieve judges of many routine cases. The other two empower the transfer of a number of cases to County Court.

More than 6,000 cases are now on the dockets of Common Pleas Court, it is pointed out, and the greatest number tried in any year was 800. Many were, of course, settled out of court.

The work of Common Pleas Court has recently been speeded up to some extent by lengthening the trial day and abolishing the one-week period for the general argument list.

On the Bar Association committee seeking to expedite trials are Judges George V. Moore, W. Heber Dithrich, Samuel H. Gardner, James H. Gray and William H. McNaugher and Attorneys Robert D. Dalzzell, W. A. Challener, J. Thomas Hoffman, John A. Metz and H. Fred Mercer.

GULDEN'S MUSTARD

HOME TOWN 'SLOW,' SCHOOL GIRL FLEES

CAMDEN, N. J., April 11.—(INS.)—Ruth Bernd, 16, who thinks Lansdale, Pa., is "too quiet," was back at her home there today after a suspicious attendant at the Central Airport foiled her plan to run away to New York by airplane.

The clerk refused to sell Ruth a ticket shortly before midnight because of her youth and her hesitation in answering questions concerning her name and address.

The girl disappeared as officials at the airport called police at Pennsauken. She was found later watching a marathon dance in progress in one of the airport's hangars. Her father, Howard Bernd, was notified, and he took the girl home. She pleaded:

"Don't make me go back to Lansdale. I left high school where I was a junior, three weeks ago. I was sick of studying, sick of school—of everything. I don't want to go back to Lansdale. It's too quiet there. I've got about $25 and I can take care of myself."

SHOW SEYFFERT PORTRAITS OF MUSICIANS

By PENELOPE REDD

Leopold Seyffert's charcoal portraits of American musicians at the Junior League galleries in the Clark Building, done around 1916, might be labeled "Close-ups of Radio Celebrities" because since Seyffert portrayed them, radio has multiplied their listeners beyond men's calculations.

Miss Redd

This retrospective Seyffert exhibition is somewhat analagous to the journals of earlier years that successful authors occasionally issue. Seyffert's popular fame throws these early portraits into sharp relief.

In pre-war days, Seyffert was emerging from graduate work, so to speak. He met each new subject as an adventure which stimulated his ardent, gifted personality to meet the test of his great predecessors in portraiture.

Somewhere en route the goal seems to have changed. Life, perhaps, importuned too sharply. Certainly, the ready tool of good draughtsmanship became the flexible rapier to dispose of portraits with rapid grace.

In the charcoal studies of Schelling, Godowsky, Gabrilowitch, and their colleagues, Seyffert is the student-master sharing the vision of the great to whose company he secretly aspires. The many-medalled Seyffert celebrated in the nation's cities is a man as yet unborn.

The exhibition continues through April 15.

More Women Obtain Fishing Licenses

Women in greater numbers are going to fish this year, Samuel F. Molinaro, state license clerk in the County Treasure's office, today revealed. Although the trout season does not open until Saturday, more than 1,400 fishing licenses have been issued through his office, Molinaro said.

It is expected a last minute rush for licenses will be made before the opening day. Allegheny countians will have to travel for a distance of 50 miles to the nearest "fishing hole." Fishing is a "forgotten sport" in this county due to its polluted streams.

Two things that everybody wants!

When smart folk gather along the mild and lovely Neapolitan Riviera—how natural it is to see Luckies there . . . for people the world over want a cigarette that has Character . . . and Mildness.

Lucky Strike's unique Character comes from the choicest of fine, flavorful tobaccos . . . But more than that—there's the mildness that's imparted when those tobaccos are "Toasted". For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

THRONG PAYING LESLIE HOMAGE JAMS STREET

The elite of Allegheny County politics, men prominent in business affairs and plain neighbor folk rubbed shoulders today in the modest red brick Lawrenceville residence where the body of Max Leslie, the "mayor-maker," lies in state.

The doors of the Leslie home at Fisk and Davison streets were thrown open to a waiting line late yesterday, and last night when crowds milled around the sidewalks and automobiles blocked the streets a squad of police was summoned.

LEADERS PAY RESPECTS

Among the first to pay respects was the former political figure's close friend and political ally, Joseph N. Mackrell. Former Mayor Charles H. Kline and Mrs. Kline entered.

Later came John S. Herron, the acting Mayor, and others of prominence, including Public Safety Director James M. Clark, Judge Ambrose B. Reid, Judge James R. Macfarlane, Attorney William H. Coleman, Councilman Robert Garland, Robert H. Braun, William G. Thomas, County Controller Robert Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., Attorney Charles B. Prichard, Christopher Steel Magee, Edward C. Chalfant, Prothonotary John Vogt and Judge Joseph Stadtfeld.

PRAISED BY NEIGHBORS

There were others, whose acquaintance with Mr. Leslie was only that of a neighbor. Of these was William A. Austin, a clerk in the Recorder of Deeds office, who lives across the street from the Leslie home. He said:

"Max was a good neighbor. Always had time to stop and talk. I remember him when he moved here. Never was high-hat. Just as friendly to his neighbors as he was to senators and judges. The neighborhood won't be the same without him. No, sir."

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. today in the Butler Street Methodist Episcopal Church. The body was to lie in state in the home until noon, and then for two hours in the church. Burial, in the Allegheny Cemetery, was to be private.

CHINESE FLEE IN PANIC

CHANGCHUN Manchuria, April 11.—(AP.)—Japanese air scouts reported Chinese troops were in widespread panicky retreat throughout the Lwan River Valley after being driven today from Lengkow, their last Great Wall stronghold on the South Jehol border.

Maj. Gen. Yoshiaki Takata's troops were pursuing remnants of Gen. Chang Chen's army in the direction of Kienchangying in North China proper. The Chinese were said to have left several hundred dead on Lengkow hills in addition to many guns, machine guns and quantities of munitions.

Air scouts also reported that Chinese troops in the Taitowying and Haiyang districts were retreating confusedly southwestward, some of the Chinese groups apparently fighting compatriots. An American mission is at Taitowying and Haiyang, farther eastward, is only a few miles north of Chinwangtao, the Yellow Sea port.

Japanese reports from Shanhaikwan said Gen. Ting Chiang's Manchukuo Volunteer Army was advancing around Chinwangtao again today.

FRACTION HINT ON CIPHER

By KENNETH A. NAGEL
Cipher Editor

Have you solved Cipher No. 82? It's rather tough, isn't it? You smart cipher fans should have solved that one. Maybe you didn't find the right fraction? That would make a difference.

Perhaps, with a tip, today you will succeed. You should. Well, here it is. This is a cipher with a reverse alphabet; that is, "A" being "26" and "Z"—one. The next step is to multiply the numbers of alphabet with the fraction "three and one-half." Now that should make it easy. You can't fail now. Go to work on it.

URGES SPECIAL JUVENILE JUDGE

The Juvenile Court of Allegheny County does not measure up to others in the country, Francis H. Hiller, field director of the National Probation Association, said yesterday.

He made this statement in an address at a meeting of the Hungry Club in the Fort Pitt Hotel, saying the system here does not provide for a judge particularly fitted for the work.

A bill introduced in the Legislature by Representative Max J. Spann will accomplish that purpose without increasing expenses, he said.

Things I Never Knew Till Now
(As If You Didn't Know!)

That the inventor of the jig-saw puzzle was a stingy butcher, who dropped a dollar into a meat-grinder.

That a Newark (N. J.) street is called "Unnamed Street."

That in Spain if a bull is getting the best of a fight—the audience cheers the animal and chucks bottles at the toreador.

That they speak a different dialect in every Italian city.

That the crease down the front of your pants was originated in Victorian days by the manufacturers to facilitate the packing.

That Tahiti imposes a tax of $20 on all aliens who remain on the Island over 10 days. To prevent her whites from turning native.

That Lois Moran's charming mother, Gladys, is to middle-aisle it again in May.

That Bulgaria celebrates Wine Week by giving it away!

That in Milan, Italy, there is a certain house called "Whispering Mansion." It's a block long, and although the house was built ages ago the acoustics are amazing. Legend has it that a Prince had it built that way—so he could overhear the conversations of his unfaithful wife.

That the banana is 85 per cent water. (What! No banana oil?)

That "rules" were made to be followed by the unsuccessful—and broken by the Wise Guys who Made Good. (So it seems, at any rate.)

That most Nations in Yurrop sponsor lotteries to boost their revenues. A plan to add a billion dollars by means of a lottery was spurned by the U. S. A. Postcards were to be sold at $1 each.

That they were to be numbered. Winners would receive not cash—but an old age annuity worth $1,000—depending on the winner's age.

That on Thursday night (Beer Eve) the Bowery speaks (a dime a convulsion) were practically empty.

That an Italian Opera troupe was stranded in Johannesburg, South Africa—so now the town is full of "voice" teachers.

That insects outnumber all of us by 500,000 to one.

That the hoarders have been hoarding for decades. More than $472,000,000 worth of the old-fashioned (large paper) money has never been exchanged for the new and smaller paper currency.

That a Syracuse woman is named Leila Winchell Walters.

That your artificial pearls are made of fish scales.

And that the most amusing of the quips is the one about psychology. And the teacher said: "What would you rather do—kiss a girl—or dream that you were kissing her?"

And little Mortimer Mefoofsky, aged 13, said he would rather dream that he was kissing a gal. "But, why?" asked teacher.

Dress Critic Gets Snappy Answer

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Well, Hedda Hopper certainly set off the fireworks when she accused Lilyan Tashman and Marlene Dietrich of choosing bizarre styles just to attract attention to themselves.

Miss Tashman

Showing every symptom of a first degree burn, Lilyan not only denies the charge, but she takes issue with Hedda's choice of the three best-dressed women in Hollywood.

The only one that the two agree on is Joan Crawford. Hedda chose Joan, Constance Bennett and Kay Francis.

"As far as I'm concerned," Lilyan said, "the three are Corinne Griffith, Joan Crawford and Gloria Swanson. And, for a non-professional, I think Jessica Barthelmess is as smartly dressed as any woman I know."

That slam at her own clothes drew quick return fire from Lilyan. She snapped:

"Apparently, Hedda doesn't think my new coiffure too flamboyant to copy. And when I got back from Europe she was the first one out to look at my clothes.

"As for my four diamond clasps, I only wear them where clasps are needed. And if I happen to use real diamonds instead of paste, who's to object? And why, of all people, Hedda? What has she done to set herself up as a style authority? And particularly of young women's clothes?"

* * *

Did you hear about the new theme song that Eileen Percy picked for "King Kong?"—"You've got me in the Palm of Your Hand."

Miss Colbert

Is Claudette Colbert in a dither? She is one of the most superstitious actresses in Hollywood, and Paramount has ordered her to start her thirteenth picture on April 13. . . The young Earl of Warwick has been seeing the Hollywood sights with Sally Blane. The two of them went to Jean Malin's new show at the Club New Yorker. . . The tall beauty with James Dunn was Jeanne Howard. . . And that was Erich von Stroheim and his wife watching the beer festivities at Frank Sebastian's Cotton Club. Very funny, too, when the waiter carrying the first tray of beer to Culver City officials tripped and went sprawling.

* * *

It's the talk out here that Boris Karloff will stay and make a second picture in England . . . Dorothea Wieck, of "Maedchen In Uniform" fame, is due to reach here Friday. She pronounces her name Veek . . . Latest Hollywood wife to go in for work is Kathryn Carver Menjou. She's opened a little shop in Hollywood featuring fancy and imported preserves . . . Alice Brady's four dogs are trained to remain absolutely quiet from the time she puts on makeup until she returns and takes it off. That's a holdover from theater days. But if she leaves without makeup, the purps set up an awful howl.

Miss Wieck

Two members of the original "Our Gang" comedy company have grown-up parts in Paramount's "College Humor." They are Mary Kornman and Mickey Daniels. Farina, another of the six, has been working at Warners Sunshine Sammy (the older colored boy) is in vaudeville, Joe Cobb (the fat boy) is going to school in Culver City, and Jackie Condon (the curly-head) is studying violin in Los Angeles.

Did you know: That the Eskimos brought to Hollywood by M-G-M speak a language that contains no more than 500 words?

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The seat sale for the Easter week attraction at the Nixon, "When Ladies Meet," will open in the box office Thursday morning. It will be the fifth in the American Theater Society series, and is a comedy by Rachel Crothers. It comes with the original cast that appeared in it when it was first presented in the Royale, New York, the first week in October, to remain there until March. The customary matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

South Pole Is Found At the Cinema

It's simply miraculous, the amount of hardship and danger a movie star can endure and survive. At the Cinema is a picture called "Dirigible," in which Jack Holt discovers the South Pole by good team work with Ralph Graves, but he has to stagger through deserts of ice and sleet, while airplanes and Zeppelins burn as easily as if they were built of celluloid.

All that does not interfere with the romance in which Fay Wray wears a swell bathing suit and threatens to go to Paris for a divorce, just because her husband thought more of the South Pole than of Fay. It's a grand picture full of perils and aviation stunts just a little less wonderful than the "oh-yeah-attaboy" dialogue. Thank heaven the South Pole has been discovered and Jack Holt is safe! G. S.

Shriners to See 'All to the Point'

"All to the Point," Cap and Gown Club, will be shown in Syria Temple April 20 and 21, at the Mosque. The play was written by G. Norman Reis, a member of Syria. It is a musical romance with settings of early Pittsburgh. The proceeds are for the benefit of Syria relief fund.

Short Plays Coming

The second production of the Cavalry Masquers, four one-act plays, will be given on the stage of Cavalry Church, next Monday and Tuesday, April 24 and 25. The plays will be "The Crows Nest," a Dr. Baker's Workshop play; "The Still Alarm," by George S. Kaufman; "Caleb Stone's Death Watch," by Martin Flavin, and "The Man in the Bowler Hat," by A. A. Milne. "Caleb Stone's Death Watch" will be the Masquer's entry in the Pittsburgh Drama League contest, April 28, in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement Theater. The cast of this play comprises May Koeber, Pauline Mills, Esther James, William Rau, Jr., Harry Olson, Ruth Simpson, Kirk Gilmore, C. Hays Long, Jr., E. P. Rafferty and Henry Vance, under direction of C. L. Woolridge, Jr. "The Still Alarm" will be played by David S. Keast, George M. Rowland, Jr., Herbert P. Simpson, Elmer Ott and Joseph Barber, directed by Paul O. Bower. "The Crow's Nest," directed by C. F. Woolridge, Jr., will be acted by William Hetzel, Clay Stier and Laura Walters. "The Man in the Bowler Hat" has, as its players, Eleanor Lewis, George M. Rowland, Jr., Wyeth Walters, Nora Keast, Herbert Simpson, Joseph Barber, and George B. McElheny, directed by Lois Blair Jansen. The staging committee includes Gordon Brown, William Woodside, Norman Blackmore, Richard Justice and Louis Kline; properties by Anne Rowland, Josephine Brown and Catherine Olson.

Besides the directors mentioned the group has the services of Ray Hurd, director and coach at Shady Side Academy. Mrs. Jansen is a former professional actress and director. Mr. Woolridge has had Hollywood experience and Mr. Bower is a designer as well as director with professional experience. It has a membership of 75 of all classes.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

ENROUTE FROM BOMBAY TO AGRA, India.—Somebody once told me that train travel through India was very possibly one of the worst ordeals a man can experience. That theory, I now learn, was slightly exaggerated. It's not quite as bad as that, although I wouldn't discount the statement more than 10 per cent, cash or no cash. The heat and dust during the day are almost beyond belief. Compared to this ride, the train trip across the desert to California is a picnic beside a babbling brook.

And I, mind you, am traveling in the height of swank, style, pomp and all the kindred nouns. For I have with me a bearer, no less. A bearer is a sort of valet — and the only reason he's called a bearer in India, I suppose, is because he gets but 50 cents a day. And you can't call a guy a valet on a sum like that.

The first thing I knew about this bearer racket was when I bought my railroad ticket across the country for Calcutta. The gentleman in the ticket office was most courteous.

"You, of course, have your own servants with you, sir?" he said.

I thought he was kidding me.

"I," I grinned. "I did have three valets with me, but they all quit one morning when they found out that I had dined alone in my room the previous night without a dinner jacket."

He never cracked a smile.

"That's too bad, sir," he asserted. "The servant problem is, indeed, a difficult one. I have some expert bearers here, however, and I will be most happy to recommend one to you."

It finally dawned on me that the guy was on the level about this thing. I learned that one must have a bearer, if it's only to watch the luggage while one is eating.

"Okay," I said. "Pick me out a good one and have him over at the hotel about two hours before the train leaves. And you're positive I can trust him?"

"Oh, sir," was the enthusiastic reply, "implicitly. I recommend this native bearer with the utmost confidence. He is thoroughly honest. Do you carry much cash with you?"

"No," I returned. "I do not."

"Good," was the answer. "Then you can certainly trust him" . . .

At any rate, my bearer popped in on schedule. His name is Mohamet Smel—and a more appropriate name has never graced any human the world over. Mohamet is small, smelly, dark and dirty. The one thing I like about him is that he doesn't talk too much. Whenever I tell him anything, he simply nods. All my instructions are carried out wrongly, of course, but at least he doesn't offer any explanations.

The first thing Mohamet did was to ask for the keys to my luggage. Then I talked.

"Get one thing straight, Mohamet, my boy," I told him. "You'll carry the luggage in this family—and I'll carry the keys. I'll handle all my stuff personally. You understand?"

"Yes," he replied. "Give me keys please."

Right then and there, I knew that things were going to be a little tough. Speaking as slowly as I possibly could, I explained the situation in words of one syllable, which is the lingo that I knew best anyhow. I told him he was my bearer and that he had to do exactly as I told him.

"And the first thing you are to do," I wound up, "is to take my bags right down to the train and have everything settled when I get there. That's all. Now get busy."

He looked at me, turned around—and walked from the room! I was honestly startled. And just able to engage a valet for the first time in my life—and the guy had quit on me before I even had time to tell him to draw my bath!

Then, as I thought about it, I grew just a little sad. After all, I had been pretty harsh with him. After all, he was only a poor Indian who was trying to exist on next to nothing. What I should have done was to have doubled his wages immediately and—

The door opened, and Mohamet Smel was back again. With him were two new Indians, each just a little more ragged than he. In a loud voice he began to direct the newcomers and pointed to my luggage.

Whereupon the truth suddenly dawned upon me. The bum had hired two bearers of his own! . . .

I had only been on this train a short while, however, when I learned just how necessary a bearer is on a train trip through India. There are no individual compartments here. Most of the cars have about six rooms, each room arranged to accommodate four people.

There are no corridors on the Indian trains. When the train pulls out you lock yourself in your compartment—and there you stay until the next stop. If you don't like your companions, that's your hard luck. There's nothing you can do about it until the train halts again, whereupon you can move to another compartment.

These trains provide no bed clothing. Your bearer attends to all that before you leave, and he does his best to make you comfortable. Then, too, he remains in your compartment while you're eating in the dining car—and that's where he becomes extremely important.

Since there are no corridors, you must get off the train when dinner is served, and walk back two cars or so along the platform. That's your diner—and unless your bearer is watching your luggage up ahead, it's a trifle difficult to enjoy your meal.

Incidentally, speaking about the diner, the food was much better than I ever expected it to be. I was the only customer on the entire train, and three waiters seemed just a trifle surprised to find even the one. The railroads are in a pretty bad way over here right now—and the future looks still darker

As an example, first class travel is bad enough over here. So you can just about imagine what it's like when you take a look into the third class compartments. Wow! And yet, according to recent figures, during the past year only one-half of 1 per cent of the total train travel through India was done in the first class carriages! . . .

When I returned to my car after dinner, Mahamet Smel was asleep on the floor. That's very bad form for a Hellinger valet, so I got him up immediately. He apologized very quickly.

"I had fever," he explained. "Was sick one whole year. Just be well now."

"What kind of fever?" I asked. "Not typhoid, was it?"

He shook his head.

"Cholera?" I went on.

He shook his head.

"Malaria, then, I suppose," I continued. "Was malaria what you had?"

He shook his head.

"I think I've mentioned them all," I muttered, "but maybe you had a new one. Was it smallpox you had, or something like that?"

He shook his head. I grew exasperated.

"Well, say something, will you?" I cried. "What kind of fever did you have?"

"Fever," he replied.

TRACKS ONLY SLAYING CLUE

Save for footprints no clue to the identity of the killers of Sam Curcio, 50, Sewickley gardner, found shot to death yesterday in Hazel drive, Edgeworth, had been uncovered by county detectives today.

A struggle preceded the murder. A penknife, believed to have fallen from the pocket of either Curcio or the slayer, was found near the body. Footprints pointed to the Ohio River bank, detectives said.

Curcio apparently was a victim of a gardeners' feud raging in Sewickley Valley for years. Three other gardeners have been slain in the last three years. None of the murders has been solved.

Robbery was eliminated as the motive when $99.50 in cash was found in the victim's pockets. A bank book indicated he had more than $1,000 on deposit.

Two Women Hurt When Autos Collide

Automobiles driven by Henry McCallum, of 320 McMaster avenue, Turtle Creek, and Elmer Bopp, of R. D. No. 1, Leechburg, collided at Forbes street and Beechwood boulevard last night, according to a police report.

Mrs. Isabelle Schwartz, 40, and Mrs. Lena Edelson, 38, both of Leechburg, were injured and taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. They were passengers in Bopp's car.

APPEAL HEARD IN ARSON CASE

An appeal from the arson conviction of Jacob Greenfield, McKeesport, was heard by the Superior Court in session here yesterday.

Greenfield was accused of burning a building in White street, McKeesport, April 11, 1932, the fire starting from an explosion. The structure, an apartment, was seriously damaged. Greenfield was the renting agent.

John Pane, a tenant, and Greenfield were sentenced by Visiting Judge Morrow to serve from five to 20 years in the penitentiary. Attorney W. H. Coleman, for Greenfield, charged error in the court's refusal of a new trial and asserted the lower court should have directed the acquittal of Greenfield.

Robbers Fell Man In Front of Home

Two men attacked Charles E. Staveling in front of his home, 623 Tripoli street, and robbed him of $7 last night. Staveling told police the men knocked him down and warned against outcry.

Health is half of success

FEW men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Anti-Herronites Seeking Compromise Candidate

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Through Allegheny Countians in Harrisburg the report is received that forces opposed to John S. Herron for the Republican mayoralty nomination are feverishly throwing out the dragnet for a compromise candidate.

Mr. Shields

Members of the Citizens' Committee are understood to have been canvassing the situation closely. They have considered Witherow, Garland, Joseph N. Mackrell, P. J. McArdle and James F. Malone.

McArdle and Malone are being "petitioned" to run by friends, but these petitions are simply window dressing or trial balloons to determine what the chances of the two are. There must be more substantial support than petition signatures, for it is common knowledge that anyone will sign a petition for most anything.

Within the week the chances of Garland and Witherow have been sized against each other by Citizens' Committee leaders. Well-known business and financial leaders of Pittsburgh have been in frequent conference on the subject.

The consensus seems to be that Garland occupies the most advantageous position. He is better known than Witherow. He has identified himself with the anti-machine group through his opposition to former Mayor Charles H. Kline. In that respect he and Witherow occupy common ground.

* * *

Garland Proves Able Vote Getter

But at the last Councilmanic primary Garland proved his ability as a vote-getter, a test which Witherow has never faced and which he might be handicapped in meeting because of business affiliations. Garland ran against the combined influence of Kline and Senator James J. Coyne, and with McArdle and Councilman Charles Anderson defeated three Kline-Coyne candidates.

An independent coalition (or, as it might better be termed, an anti-Coyne-Herron coalition) faces easily discernible difficulties, and the effort is to get the man who comes nearest to satisfying the elements recently or at length fighting the regular Republican organization. That is the best which can be done. No man can be found who pleases all.

Garland was picked up by what might be called the political independents in the primary of 1931. He ran along with County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and a full slate of county officers. Whether that was simply a political marriage of convenience or a permanent union cannot be accurately determined. It would require another campaign for clarification.

But Councilman Garland has never worked with what might be termed the Pinchot element of independents. Nor was he with the independents who followed the late Richard W. Martin in the mayoralty primary of 1929.

So far as that is concerned, and it gives a complete insight into our topsy-turvy politics, Kline and Coyne were the most potent factors in putting Gov. Pinchot, the progressive, across in the 1929 gubernatorial general election.

* * *

Many Now-Independents Against Pinchot in 1930

Many of the now-independents of business and financial persuasions were against Mr. Pinchot in 1930 and favored his Democratic opponent, John M. Hemphill.

A compromise of some nature may be effected, but the best prediction is that there will be a merry mixup and crossing of factional lines in the mayoralty primary.

While this canvass of candidates goes on, there is really only one man who is publicly running at the present time. That is Mr. Herron, and his position in public life makes activity now inescapable.

Next to Herron the most energetic person is Mr. Malone, who is seriously attending the business of arousing sentiment on his behalf.

William B. Rodgers, of Pittsburgh, will resign shortly as head of the State Emergency Relief Board, according to Capitol gossip. Mr. Rodgers will return to private business in Pittsburgh, and his place will be taken by Eric Biddle, of Philadelphia, who now has the title of assistant to the director.

It has been significant lately that the Governor has been leaning more and more on Biddle, using him for representation before the R. F. C. in Washington, and calling him into conferences in the executive offices at which Mr. Rodgers is absent.

The salary of Mr. Rodgers is $10,000. That of Mr. Biddle is $8,000. Members of the Legislature insist that one of these salaries shall be eliminated, and this is said to have been a subject of discussion in recent conferences on the relief situation.

The appointment of Mr. Rodgers generally is credited to County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

Talk on Taxation For Trade Board

Robert J. Corbett, a graduate of Bellevue High School and the University of Pittsburgh, will address members of the Bellevue Board of Trade at a meeting tonight in the Bellevue Borough Hall on "State and Local Tax Revision."

Gabriel Over the White House

(Continuation of Chapter IX.)

Pendie soothed her as best she could and was about to leave when she heard the front door open and guessed that Art had returned.

Thinking that he might resent the knowledge that his wife had been talking to a comparative stranger, she hurriedly gave Fenya the presents for the baby and told her that she would see her husband as she went out so as to give her time to remove signs of tears and emotion.

A thin, hollow-eyed man with nondescript hair and sullen mouth swung around from the window through which he had been gazing. His hand went to his left armpit under his coat and stayed there. When he had grasped the fact that this was a woman and a stranger, he snarled out of one corner of his mouth: "What the hell's your game snooping around my house? Whatcha want? Trying to lift knives an' forks when nobody's home, eh? Who the devil are you?"

Pendie told him who she was and not to be a fool. He quickly quieted down and after a few more exchanges tried some clumsy compliments. A moment later through the uncurtained windows Pendie noticed the lights of a car outside which she took for the Lindsey limousine returning to take her home. She told Art she must go for she had a dinner engagement. He insisted that before leaving she have a drink to celebrate her visit. Pendie did not argue, but as he turned to the sideboard she sidled toward the front door.

Man Is Slain

She had taken only a step when she saw in a round wall mirror the reflection of the back hall door through which she had entered the room. In it stood two men, both wearing loose drab-colored raincoats. Their faces were shadowed by the turned-down brims of their slouch hats. One man held what looked like a heavy revolver with a metal attachment on its barrel.

Rogers' back was still turned as he poured something from a bottle. With careful deliberation and in complete silence the man with the gun slightly raised his arm. There was a faint muffled cough as he fired. Art Rogers slumped forward over the sideboard. He made no outcry, but from between his lips came a bubbling whistle. For a second he remained half supported by the sideboard and then his legs buckled at the knees. He half fell, half slid to the floor, but before he reached it the stranger's gun clicked twice more. As each bullet drilled its mark there was a slight spasmodic movement of Art's crumpled form. After the last shot, complete and final stillness.

In the second or two this drama took Pendie stood rigid, her brain and body paralyzed. Then an unreasoning fury surged over her, burying everything except a wild sense of personal outrage. Whatever Art had done—to be shot down thus without warning! In the back, without even knowing his assassins! Like a mad dog! And with his wretched wife and children in the next room.

Pendie Is Shot

Whether her subsequent action was due to hysteria, as she afterwards asserted, or to the urge of her indomitable courage, as Peale and I maintain, doesn't matter. "You dirty brutes," she chocked out as she dashed across the room and struck the murderer sharply in the face with her handbag.

In the act of unscrewing the silencer from his gun, he was caught at a disadvantage. The metal trimming in the bag cut a deep scratch in his face before his swinging arm sent Pendie hurtling across the room. There she lay in a half-stunned heap, her breath rasping in her throat.

From the back room Fenya Roger's voice called out in quick alarm and for the first time the gunmen showed signs of agitation. They turned to go, hesitated. One growled to the other. "This is a hellova a show. That dame'll frame us. Yuh can't go back to Joe's place with that thing on yuhr mug. Every cop in town'll be watchin' out for yuh." The other felt his face, looked at the blood on his fingers and said: "Nix on the framing."

Again he raised his gun and this time fired straight at Pendie across the room. She felt no pain, only a delicious sense of lassitude and peacefulness and then nothing at all.

The gunman had forgotten to replace the silencer. The roar of his revolver reverberated in

BANNED CLUBS GET BEER RIGHT

Federal injunction decrees were modified yesterday to permit 3.2 beer in clubrooms of three fraternal organizations. They are the Independent Slovak Beneficial Association, Charleroi; La Solidarite Association, McDonald, and the Polish National Alliance, White Eagle Branch, No. 1746, of Canonsburg.

Decrees prohibiting intoxicating liquor in the clubrooms were issued July 12, 1932, and the clubs were under bonds against further violations of the prohibition law.

Beer Now to Be Forced On Us By Dictator

-By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER-

Looks like the newest thing in careers is to be a dictator. It's nice work if you can get it.

Nobody is sure whether this kind of job was started by Mussolini or Will Hays.

Judge Landis grabbed a lower berth in the National and an upper in the American League. The judge has full power. He can do anything he wants provided he stays away from the baseball parks.

Now, Police Commissioner Mulrooney is to be beer dictator in New York. His first order should be:

"Stop drinking it for awhile, boys, and give it a chance to age."

In the old days the consumer tried to catch up to the brewery. Now, the ultimate brewer is seeking to catch up to the thirsty old consumer.

The froth on the top amounted to ten million dollars in various state and national taxes. Well, let Mr. Mulrooney start his dictating. We don't know shorthand and we can't spell. But we think we will get the general idea down.

CAPTIVES TELL OF IMPROMPTU OPERATION

Brother's Removal of Bullet Relieved Pain, Says Otten

The Otten brothers, West End bandit suspects, one of them wounded in their escape from a corporal of the highway patrol, were back in Pittsburgh today following their arrest in Cleveland.

Bernard Otten, 28, was taken to Mercy Hospital after he admitted his brother, Lawrence, 30, had cut a bullet out of his back with a razor blade a few hours before their arrest Sunday in Cleveland.

Lawrence was taken to the county jail. The brothers yesterday waived extradition and hearing on felonious shooting charges that grew out of their escape from Corp. Robert Clark, who arrested them on suspicion Saturday night in the West End.

TELLS OF OPERATION

Bernard, police said, shot Fred Kronz, proprietor of a service station at 233 Corliss street, with the servive revolver he had snatched from Clark's holster while the officer was searching him. Bernard in turn was wounded when Kronz opened fire with his own revolver.

Lawrence said he learned first aid in the Navy, told police how he had cut into the blue welt in his brother's back to relieve him of pain. The bullet had entered the right lung above the heart and had lodged in the back.

Of the operation, Bernard said:

"We could see the bullet sticking out. My brother said he could cut it out, and I told him to go ahead. He learned it in the Navy. No, it didn't hurt, but I sure felt better when it was out.

"We were in the cupboard when the police came. We knew we were going to be caught. I was afraid when we heard the cop we took the gun from was coming. We thought he'd be mad, but he wasn't."

COPORAL'S STORY

Corporal Clark, who, in company with Lieut. E. J. Henry and Sergt. A. H. Kratsky, of the Homewood sub-station said:

"I couldn't help losing the gun. After taking a gun from Lawrence I slid my own gun into the holster so that I could search Leonard. I grabbed the barrel as soon as I could so he could not fire effectually."

Corporal Clark's gun was found on the Brodhead road where the prisoners told police it would be.

Sergt. Kratsky was notified by North Side police yesterday that the Otten brothers had relatives in Cleveland. Police of that city were notified, and the arrest followed within a few hours.

Meanwhile a third brother, George Otten, 28, was being held by West End police as a material witness. He was arrested in his home early Sunday.

QUIZ HUNDREDS IN CONGRESS BATTLE

Judge Testifies to Phantom Markings On Votes

Questionnaires have gone out from the United States Department of Justice to many of the residents of the Thirty-second Congressional District seeking to learn how they voted in the battle between Mrs. Ann E. Felix and Michael J. Muldowney, it was learned today.

Hundreds of residents of the same district which includes the first six wards of the city as well as the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth wards, have been questioned by agents of the department.

Attorney B. Robert Averbach, who acted as counsel for some, said the gist of the questioning was along the following lines:

"Did you see Senator James J. Coyne at the polling place during the day? After the polls closed? Did you see Muldowney?"

TESTIFY TO ERRORS

The hearings were held in the Law and Finance Building.

Substantial error but no evidence of fraud was revealed in fall election ballot boxes from six precincts of the district, Judges James P. Egan and William J. McNaugher testified late yesterday before Attorney William J. Graham, acting as master for Michael J. Muldowney in takins testimony for Congress.

The reports of the judges who sat as a return board were identified for the First, Second, Third and Fourth districts of the Second Ward, and the Third and Fourth districts of the Ninth Ward.

PHANTOM MARKS

In these districts, Judge Egan described the errors found by the Return Board, mentioning two instances of phantom markings and several other cases in which there was dissimilarity in markings in the straight party and individual candidate columns.

Asked by Attorney G. Malcolm McDonald, representing Mrs. Felix, as to the policy followed in such instances, Judge Egan said:

"We counted those ballots because they were isolated cases and there was nothing before us definitely to show fraud."

Judge McNaugher corroborated Judge Egan's testimony. On questioning by Attorney B. Robert Averbach, attorney for Muldowney, he said the "substantial error" found in the count was limited to about six votes.

DREXLER DENIES FRAUD

County Detective David Drexler, who worked under the direction of the return board judges, said he found no evidence of fraud in any of the six districts.

McDonald asked that all the testimony regarding the absence of fraud be stricken from the record as immaterial and in no way binding on Congress, before whom it will come for consideration. He was overruled.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow at 3 p. m., at which time, Averbach announced, Judge W. Heber Dithrich will be called to tell of the ballot boxes examined under his supervision.

Attorney John M. Henry also represented Mrs. Felix, and Attorney Sol L. Rubin assisted Averbach.

EXHIBITS WORK OF HILL FOLK

Mrs. Anna Ernberg, director of fireside industries at Berea College in the Kentucky mountains for 22 years, will exhibit the handiwork of her students for the last time tomorrow in Suite 617, Fairfax Hotel.

During the past week she has lectured and displayed the colonial home arts creations to numerous Pittsburgh college and club women.

Berea College was founded over 75 years ago by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. John G. Fee. In its earliest days children came from all the country round to barter their homespuns and farm products for "book larnin'."

MAN RESCUES MUD CAPTIVE

An afternoon hike suddenly terminated for four Brentwood boys yesterday when one of them fell in a mud hole near the Croslyn mine at the bottom of Brentwood avenue.

Bill Kahn, 7, of 2921 Brentwood avenue; Robert McGorien, 6, of 2902 Brentwood avenue; Cyril Kramer, 7, and his brother, Earl, 5, of 2913 Brentwood avenue, were playing around the mine when Bill fell into deep mud caused by a landslide. He sank to his waist and could not get out.

The other three went for help and found Mrs. Ruth Thomas, who was coming from the Chettle farm, near the mine. She summoned Harry Jabo, 34, who lives on Provost road, Baldwin Township. He waded into the mud and rescued the boy.

Death of Doctor's Son By Shot Held Accident

Charles G. Walters, 19, son of Dr. Charles G. Walters, 2132 Fifth avenue, was dead today, a victim of an accidental shooting, according to a coroner's report.

The youth's body was found on the back seat of his father's automobile in a garage near the rear of their home by his brother, John, 18, and a friend. Alarmed at Charles' all-day absence, they went to the garage for clues. They found him dead, a bullet in his left side and the revolver nearby.

Dr. Walters told police his son had driven his four other children to school at 8:30 a. m. and failed to return home. Several hours later Dr. Walters called police to learn if he had figured in an automobile collision.

After the finding of the boy's body, his father and Dr. G. W. Walters, of 254 North Craig street, an uncle, pronounced him dead.

Charles attended night classes at Schenley High School and was to graduate in June.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 11.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Beer brought on one of the quietest week ends we ever had, less accidents and everything. People just got full of beer and lay down and took a good nap. I was playing polo, went to sleep, woke up and found I had been beaten, but it was all right, I did it for Roosevelt. There's nothing we can do too much for Roosevelt nowadays.

Will Rogers

I tell you we never was living in a better time. We got a smart man doing our thinking for us. You see, what put this country on the bum was dumb people thinking for themselves.

TOWN CLERK'S PAROLE HIT IN COUNCIL

Intimations that the embezzlement case of Paul N. Orris, former borough clerk of East Pittsburgh, was railroaded through the courts were made at a meeting of the Borough Council last night by Councilman Claire Flasher, minority member.

Orris pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,400 of borough funds on March 24 and was paroled by Judge S. H. Gardner for three years, with the stipulation that Orris make restitution.

Councilman Flasher wanted to know why Borough Solicitor Sidney Gottlieb had not notified Council when Orris was to be arraigned in court and why he failed to be present himself.

Flasher said:

"I think Council should have been notified when this case was coming up in court. It seems mighty funny to me that the Orris case could be disposed of while Council knew nothing about it."

Solicitor Gottlieb replied:

"Members of Council were not witnesses in the case. The prosecution was in the hands of the District Attorney and the defendant pleaded guilty. I defy anyone to question my reputation."

When Orris pleaded, he was the only witness called. He testified he had spent the borough's money to pay gas, coal and doctor bills for needy families. He was not questioned as to the identity of the families nor was any evidence introduced to corroborate his statements.

HIT HEREDITARY CANCER THEORY

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—A prevalent idea that cancer is hereditary is not borne out by an experiment described in the American Journal of Cancer today by M. R. Curtis, W. F. Dunning and F. D. Bullock, of Columbia University.

They infected 26,000 rats with a parasite which sometimes causes cancer of the liver. Inbreeding of these rats and other hereditary experiments failed to increase the number of cancers.

The only factors in causing of this cancer, the report states, have been the length of life of the rat and the amount of irritation caused by the parasite. The longer the rats live the more likely are they to have the tumors simply because there are more opportunities for the irritation to start the growth.

GREEN ATTACKS SCHOOL CUTS

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(Universal.)—Solemn warning against "economizing" on the nation's school bill was sounded today by President Green, of the American Federaation of Labor.

In a statement prompted by the House's action in cutting the District of Columbia's school budget, Green said:

"To starve the schools, to deny them the use of adequate funds with which to carry on public school work, can only be interpreted as a severe blow to the intellectual and social life of the community.

"If necessity compels the curtailment of every other civic and community activity, the efficiency and service of the public schools should not be lowered."

'DEVIL'S COURSE' AT ERIE

ERIE, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—A level piece of road on Route 5 leading out of Erie is called "Devil's Race Course," because, for no apparent reason, it has proven one of the most treacherous stretches of highway in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

The segment of road is about two miles long. Its surface is smooth, and there are no obstructions. Yet, it has been the scene of many serious accidents.

Cars have collided head-on, they have plunged into the ditch, and they have careened wildly from the road and struck telephone poles.

Old residents say there is something Satanic about the road. The wind sweeping in from Lake Erie seems to them like straining steeds trying to taunt the motorist into a race—and disaster.

There are those, too, who say they have heard the sound of diabolical laughter high up among the swaying treetops.

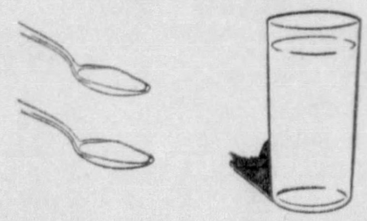
HOW TO TELL IF YOU HAVE ACID STOMACH

And How to Stop It Instantly

THE SIGNS OF ACID STOMACH

Nervousness	Sour Stomach	Loss of Appetite
Neuralgia	Mouth Acidity	Frequent Headaches
Indigestion	Nausea	Feeling of Weakness
Auto-intoxication		Sleeplessness

WHAT TO DO FOR IT



TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Pendie did not die, but for three days hope for her life was at dead low ebb. Then Peale, who returned insta[illegible]n his Western trip, and I were told at the hospital that she would recover.

Public Indignation

The Chicago tragedy faded out as one newspaper vied with another to announce the startling news from Jersey City. "President's Secretary Assassinated!" "Cabinet Member's Fiancee Shot Down by Gunmen!" "Dope Peddler's Widow Cries for Help!" "Miss Malloy Riddled at Cousin's Home." "Put on Spot by Drug Racketeers!" For days, while Pendie lay unconscious, the newspapers made holiday. Every kind of innuendo found credence.

When Pendie recovered sufficiently to tell her story the press made generous, even extravagant, amends. Pendie became something of a national heroine. The wave of public indignation at the callous brutality of her shooting knew no bounds. The underworld had struck directly at the White House itself. Everyone looked to the President to act.

Pendie had been removed from the hospital to the Lindsey home, but she was still confined to bed when I called there one morning to pick up Peale to return to Washington by plane. Peale was with Pendie, and as I was ushered into the room I was aware of a new uneasiness. Pendie's thin features sharply emphasized the fineness of her now deeply sunken eyes, but the feverish flush on her face and the nervous clutching and unclutching of her fingers was due to something more disturbing than her illness. Peale was looking at her with tenderness, but there was mixed with his gaze a strange fanatical intensity and his angular jaw jutted out hard and truculent.

"Oh, Beek," Pendie cried to me, "try and make Peale promise not to go on with his crazy idea. It's not fair, it's not fair to me while I'm like this. The worry will kill me, I know it will."

Plans Extermination

This was an entirely new Pendie, semi-hysterical, wailing, using feminine tricks of helplessness and appeal to gain her ends. I was bewildered, all the more as I had not the slightest idea what it was all about. Peale walked up to her and sat on the edge of the bed. He took one of her hands in his.

"Darling, you know I adore you more than anyone else in the world. Darling, it sounds silly and melodramatic, but it's very real to me. I made a bargain that if you pulled through I'd devote myself to the extermination of these damned devils and not rest until the horror you suffered could never occur to anyone else."

He leaned over and kissed Pendie lovingly. As he stood up he said: "Don't make it too difficult, sweetheart. Try to see it my way. God kept his side of the bargain, and it's now up to me to keep mine."

As Peale and I motored out to the airport to catch our plane for Washington, I asked him whether he had any definite plans in mind.

Apparently he had not thought it out carefully, but the idea which seemed to appeal to him was that the Army should be asked to supply a volunteer corps of sharpshooters to clean up all the gangsters in Chicago and New York.

Such a plan did not seem to be very practical, but in Peale's emotional state I felt it would be unwise to argue the point.

Peale had requested an interview with Hammond and gave me a memorandum to deliver to him, before the interview took place. Peale was ushered in late that evening.

A New Department

"Lindsey," he said, "tomorrow I am appointing Harrison as your successor in the Department of Education, and here," handing him a paper, "is your appointment as the first Secretary of the Department of Public Safety.

"It will be one of the earliest tasks of your new department to see to it, in our cities, despite gangsters, corrupt politicians and an intimidated populace, that the law is respected, feared and obeyed.

It was now a little over two years since Hammond had dismissed Congress and assumed responsibility for government.

During these two years, despite some setbacks and many disappointments, the United States slowly and painfully at first, but now at an ever-increasing pace, had struggled up and on toward a new prosperity.

CHAPTER X

The Department of Public Safety was welcomed everywhere except in New York, Illinois and New Jersey. In Philadelphia there was also some organized opposition to the creation of a federal police force, but by this time the authority of the Governor's Council was almost absolute and little real difficulty was experienced in transferring local forces to federal control.

In New York and Chicago the underworld was faced with extinction. Rigid federal control made it almost impossible for its members to replenish their arsenals. People began braving the threats of gunmen to order their liquor once more from the government stores.

Governor Assassinated

A whole population could not be shot down, and the gangsters admitted defeat. That admission was a big step toward their ultimate undoing.

Driven by fear of their own men who demanded money to maintain the style of living to which they had grown accustomed, big bootleggers took to other forms of crime. A wave of kidnapings for extortion followed by holdups, arson and blackmail brought New York and Chicago almost to a standstill. Not only ordinary commerce, but even transport of food supplies began to be affected.

Gov. Drury, of New York, appealed to the State Legislature to recognize Federal control and so end the present anarchy. A few hours later he was shot dead as he was entering an automobile outside the executive mansion in Albany. The two gunmen responsible for the assassination were caught by the police, but a frenzied crowd snatched them out of their hands and literally pounded them to a pulp on the sidewalk. Two days later New York and New Jersey accepted the President's authority and within a week Illinois did likewise. Thus did the rule of Washington finally come to blanket the entire nation.

Many racketeers recognized the inevitable end and disappeared with such possessions as they could get together.

It was about this time I arrived in Chicago as Commandant of "B" Company of the Federal Mobile Police.

Much had happened since Peale's interview with the President nine months before. As head of the Department of Public Safety, Peale had driven through the federalization of police with single-minded determination. Though he was ruthless where corruption or incompetence was discerned, his tact, efficiency and devotion to his job gained the respect and support of all ranks under his command.

"Green Jackets"

The Federal Mobile Police force was limited to 2,000 men, divided into four companies. Except on big-scale operations, they generally worked in small groups or alone. Their mounts were motorcycles. Each man was a swift and deadly shot, with both revolver and rifle. Their open-necked tunics and shirts were dark green and there was a dark green band round their black-peaked caps. A broad green stripe ran down the side of their black trousers which fitted into high-laced boots. A lighter green webbing belt served as a bandolier. The revolver holster in polished black leather hung from the belt and the black double cord attached to the gun passed over the left shoulder. Within a day of their first parade in uniform they became irrevocably known as the "Green Jackets."

Peale set up an invaluable auxiliary—a special secret service bureau which obtained from local police headquarters the photographs, names, addresses, aliases and criminal histories of all known gunmen and their associates.

The ostensible job of the Green Jackets was to search for unsurrendered arms. Most often guns were handed over peaceably and an arrest made without fuss. Occasionally, however, a fight ensued, but the odds were generally on the side of the Green Jacket. Ordinary jails and courts were not used for those arrested by the Green Jackets. In New York Harbor, Ellis Island, no longer needed for immigrants, was converted into a special concentration camp for such offenders as tried and failed to stand off this arm of the federal police.

Penalty of Death

If a gunman surrendered freely, no account was taken of previous crimes. He was merely sent to join the convict labor battalions working on the Arizona reservoir, ostensibly as a penalty for being in possession of arms.

It was a different story if he fired on either Green Jacket or federal policeman. He was then sent to Ellis Island to be tried before a special court and his previous record was used in evidence against him. Each case was heard before three judges, one of whom had to be a member of the Supreme Court. A unanimous verdict was required and no appeal permitted. The prisoner was allowed any lawyer he could get to defend him, the cost being defrayed by the government. The penalty for resisting arrest with weapons of any kind was death before a firing squad at dawn. Only one gunman out of 10 ever left Ellis Island alive.

COSTS FOUGHT ON APPEAL

Argument was heard yesterday by the Superior Court on the appeal of Joe Lewandowski, sentenced in Criminal Court to pay the costs in an assault and battery case brought by Constable Morris J. McCann, Sixteenth Ward.

McCann testified Lewandowski on August 1 had his automobile parked in Carey way. McCann said he noticed a numbers book on the rear seat and when Lewandowski came to the car to enter it, he asked him to explain the book.

Lewandowski refused, McCann said, and pushed him out of the way, whereupon the constable arrested him and made the assault and battery charge.

Lewandowski's appeal declares he had committed no offense and had a right to shove McCann, who carried no warrant.

Courting Youngsters Want To Be By Themselves

Should the Old Folks step out when the Young Folks step in?

Should Mom and Dad "crawl into a hole and pull the hole in after them" when daughter's Boy Friend comes calling?

Daughter thinks they should.

Dear Elsie Robinson:

I read your column every day, and I am deeply interested in the problems that are brought to you. So here I am, to ask you for some advice myself.

I am the mother of two daughters, and I have always done everything in my power to make those two daughters happy. I have always gone out of my way and sacrificed myself and my own pleasures to make them happy.

Well, the other day my oldest girl told me she was having a young man come to our house for dinner, and asked me if I would "do the best I could" to have a nice meal.

I worked hard all day and, if I do say it myself, I prepared a wonderful meal. The young man seemed to enjoy it, and in the evening, after dinner was over, my husband and I sat and talked with him and my daughter.

AN OBJECTION

He stayed several hours. Then he went home.

When he was gone, my daughter said to me, "Mother, I have a bone to pick with you." I was surprised, and asked her what it was.

Then she said that my husband and I should have gone out, or gone to bed, and left them alone.

Now, I don't want you to misunderstand me. We were not interfering with her or her boy friend, and we are not parents to be ashamed of. I didn't see anything to object to about our sitting there talking.

I am greatly insulted and do not speak to my daughter.

I wish you would answer this letter and tell me what's the matter with this generation.

A HEART-BROKEN PARENT.

GIVE HER CHANCE

What's the matter with this generation?

The same thing that was the matter with your and my generation, Mom. They want out!

They want to start families of their own and acquire homes of their own; and how in heck are they going to plan for it if you stick around?

Yes, I know; you've loved her, sacrificed for her, "worked your fingers to the bone," and—as one mother to another, let's be frank about it—if you're worth the name of mother, you had a grand time doing it! And what did you do it for? You did it so she could become a happy wife and mother in her turn. Which she is now trying to do.

So why don't you give her her chance?

You're "not a mother to be ashamed of." Of course you're not. But neither are you a treat to a couple of dreaming youngsters. Did you and Dad want your parents hovering around when you were courting?

So—be your age, mother, and let her be hers.

FAY KING

By FAY KING

Well, I see the Duke of Leeds has just married a ballet dancer. That makes one more footlight lady to add to the long, long list of these charming creatures who have captivated gentlemen of title, position and wealth.

Kings, princes, peers, conquerers, millionaires, explorers, artists, authors, editors, painters and poets and all the most interesting men, seem to have always found actresses the most irresistible of women.

Is it a wonder that debutantes have been taking to the stage in a perfect stampede lately, hoping to interest some of the young men in their own set?

I sometimes actually believe that every man—given a free choice and the opportunity and no interference from female relatives—would marry an actress!

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Men Are Assigned to Guard Madge

For the fraction of a second there was no answer to Hugh's voiced theory that Charles Owen must be the mysterious horseman whom Wynne had trailed to the door of the farmhouse in which Marion and Carolyn were imprisoned. Then Harry Underwood spoke hesitatingly.

"What do you think, Chief?"

My father lifted his head—he had been standing in a stooped position, apparently studying the ground—and answered incisively.

"Everything points to Owen as the horseman. I agree with Hugh that Lee Chow's report upon Owen—the trailing of him up here—fits in perfectly with this theory. But I do not see that it complicates our problem at all. In fact, in one way, it eases it. We can be fairly sure that the Chinese were simply red herrings of Owen's invention.

"Dangerous as Owen is, we need not fear him as we do those Orientals, so let us put him out of our minds. Only"—he lifted an impressive forefinger—"we must not lose sight of that horse when we are attacking the house. One man must be detailed to watch it."

"We'll do that," Hugh said. "And now there's only one thing to be settled, and that is the guard which is to remain here with Mrs. Graham and Miss Mary."

He hesitated for a second and then went on.

CHIEF STAYS BEHIND

"In one way it's the most important post of all. I am giving the men instructions that the second we succeed in liberating the girls, they are to be rushed here under guard of two picked men, while the rest of us attend to cleaning up the kidnapers. But there must be two men at least here; three, if possible—and—"

It is unlike Hugh Grantland to be hesitant about anything, and for the fraction of a second I wondered what was the reason for his halting speech. Then his reason flashed upon me, and I caught my breath, for I knew my father's natural reluctance to be anywhere save in "the forefront of the hottest battle," despite the handicap with which advancing age and its attendant infirmities have penalized him.

But I also knew the sane judgment, the infinite wisdom, the greatness of spirit which are his, and I was not surprised to hear him answer Hugh with prompt decision.

"Don't hesitate, lad! I know better than you that I could give no special help to you in front, and might be a hindrance. I'll stay here."

"Hindrance!" Hugh repeated with affectionate reproach. "You know it's because we don't dare risk our chief. You must be back here to think for us. Will you choose the men you want to have stay here with you, sir?"

Again my father's reply was prompt.

"If Mr. Veritzen and Noel will be so kind."

AIRPLANE APPROACHES

I guessed that both father and son were secretly glad of his choice; Noel, because it gave him the chance to watch over Mary; his father, because, though brave and adventuresome, he disliked physical discomfort, or, indeed, anything that annoyed his fastidious, luxury-lapped nature.

"Noel and I are simply soldiers in the ranks," Philip Veritzen said a bit grandiloquently. "Whatever place we are assigned, we shall endeavor to fill satisfactorily."

"We know that," my father said, and Hugh put a period to the discussion with a terse:

"That's settled then. I'll get you one of the men to help in an emergency if one arises, which I doubt. Brock, will you bring one of the extra men back here?"

"Right away, sir." Brock disappeared upon the words, returning almost instantly with a tall, sinewy man who looked capable of defending an Alpine pass single-handed.

"All right, Brown," Hugh said when the man had come near enough to hear his almost inaudible tones. "Stay close to Mr. Spencer, and take his orders."

Brown saluted and stepped closer to my father, just as there came to our ears a faint whirring, seemingly a long way to the left of us.

"Dicky!" I said to myself with a quick, involuntary little prayer for the safety of my intrepid husband.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Building Up the Child Who Is Underweight

Health comes first of all in importance. The child who has a good start in life has an immense advantage over one who is handicapped by the effects of ill health.

Dr. Copeland

I wish every child could be well nourished and possessed of good health. Many children go about listless, behind in their school work and burdened more than they should be by long hours of study and home work. How about your child? Does he seem tired, pale and irritable?

There is a real reason back of all this. The question of underweight centers about one of a good many contributing factors. Perhaps the first thing to consider is whether the child has any physical defect. It is well to have your doctor look him over and give his opinion on the subject.

Sometimes a child with defective eyesight or poor hearing will develop a serious physical condition. Very often a nervous, high-strung child who is behind in his school work will be found to have quite serious eye strain. If permitted to go on, malnutrition and underweight are liable to follow.

Where there are adenoids or diseased tonsils, poisons may be carried by the blood stream to all parts of the body. If one of these conditions exists, it should be attended to at the earliest possible moment. If the child seems to be underweight, it may be that the slight operation needed will bring him back to normal health.

It may be that your child is not getting the proper nourishment. Every child should have at least a quart of milk every day. This may be taken as a drink, or in the cooked food and with cereals. Milk should be the foundation of every child's diet, and nothing but the very best milk is good enough for your child.

A growing child should have fresh fruits and vegetables. These furnish those wonderful vitamins, minerals and other substances which promote growth and energy.

Every mother has a real task before her in looking after her growing children. She must be careful about their food and how they eat it, their sleep, their every day fresh air and sunshine, and goodness knows how many other things.

The hours of eating, rest and sleep should be on schedule time for the growing child, and kept up through adolescence. They may vary somewhat with the age of the child, but regularity should always be the rule.

A child who is underweight must not be scolded. He should be encouraged gently, but firmly in the right living habits. When his day has been reorganized and he has had time to build up his strength and ambition, it will be worth all the time and worry you have put into it to see him well and strong again. Then when good habits have been formed, they should be kept up diligently during all the years of growth.

Answers to Health Queries

Constant Reader. Q.—What causes an offensive breath? 2. How much should a girl of 20, 5 feet 2½ inches tall weigh?

A.—This may be due to many causes, such as indigestion, diseased tonsils, decayed teeth, catarrh or constipation. Try to locate the underlying cause and remove if possible. 2. She should weigh about 119 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little of no significance.

Contract Bridge -:-

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Appreciating Gifts

Mr. Oswald Jacoby has always been noted as one of those players who quickly appreciates misfits—particularly when they occur in the hands of the opponents. He is not hesitant with regard to Penalty Doubles, as is evidenced by the hand below, which he played with Mr. Louis H. Watson in the semi-finals of the team-of-four contest in the recent Eastern Championship, held in New York. Mr. Jacoby sat North, while his bidding might be criticized from all sound standards, the result proved that his sizing up of the situation was amazingly accurate.

South, Dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

Mr. Jacoby
♠ A 10 9 8 4
♡ J 7 6 4 3
◇ 10 8 5

Mr. Watson
♠ Q 6 5 3 2
♡ 9 8 2
◇ 9
♣ 9 7 6 4

North
West East
South

Mr. Jacoby
♠ J
♡ A K 5
◇ A K Q 7 3
♣ J 10 8 2

Mr. Watson
♠ K 7
♡ Q 10
◇ J 6 4 2
♣ A K Q 5 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	2 ◇
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

At first glance the Double might seem completely insane, but mature reflection shows that the ruffing possibilities in clubs was enormous. Furthermore, his partner had failed to raise spades, which showed the probability of not more than two cards in that suit. There was the additional factor that even if the contract were made it would not produce game; while Mr. Jacoby's own hand, being void of clubs, suggested that game was not available to the North-South pair. It is because of Doubles such as these that Mr. Jacoby has become known as one of the most brilliant players in the country. For every doubled contract which is made, there are three which are defeated.

As will readily be seen, the contract was automatically set 2 tricks—or 500 points. In top cards only three clubs, one spade and one heart were available, but South also took a trump trick while Mr. Jacoby himself was able to ruff the fourth round of clubs for the setting trick. Two diamonds doubled was defeated 500 points, and it is evident that all that North-South could have done was to be set themselves at some declaration of two or three-odd.

TODAY'S QUESTION

♠ Q 3 2 ♡ 4 3 ◇ A K 4 2 ♣ K 5 4 3

Answer: Three spades. This call is to be preferred to a two notrump response, as it pretty well conveys the strength of the hand and assures adequate trump support.

Hot Plate Marks

Hot plate marks on a polished table are very disfiguring, and they are often very difficult to remove. Rub the surface over with a flannel dipped in linseed oil. Now dip a small sponge in spirits of camphor and lightly go over the marks. Leave for a time, then repeat the process. Usually after three times the marks have disappeared.

Household Hints

Salt water is better than soapy water for washing wicker or cane furniture.

To sour milk for cooking purposes, add a teaspoon of vinegar to each cupful of milk.

Rice and other milk puddings are made more appetizing by the addition of a few seedless raisins.

Water will be softened for washing woolens and silks if a tablespoon of glycerine is added to each gallon.

When frying firsh first sprinkle the pan with a little salt. This will prevent the fat from splashing the stove.

Tarnished silver will clean easily if rubbed with a soft cloth dipped in dry powdered magnesia. Afterwards, polish in the usual way.

Suet puddings mixed with boiling water instead of cold water will be much lighter when cooked.

If chamois leather gloves are given a final rinsing in very soapy warm water, they will be beautifully soft when dry.

Try adding a little ground rice when making pastry, and it will be much lighter and more digestible.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Mourning Letter Paper

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—I lost my dear mother last November and I am using mourning letter-paper for my correspondence. How long is it proper for me to use this kind of letter-paper?

2—What kind of hat will be proper for me to wear after I leave off the long black veil?

H.

1—There is no rule about this, but usually when people maintain such deep mourning, they use this mourning paper for the length of time that they wear deep mourning.

2—Any kind of small black hat, of dull material and with no conspicuous ornament, is appropriate.

Graduation Attire

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are Juniors in High School and we are having a discussion as to what to wear as ushers at the graduation in June. The graduation exercises are to be held in the church and the graduates are to wear caps and gowns. Would informal chiffon dresses be appropriate?

The exercises are to be in the evening. R.

Informal chiffon dresses would be delightfully appropriate, and this background would be an artistic and effective one for the caps and gowns of the Seniors. If the dresses are to be especially made, it would be fine to have them alike, or more or less alike, for uniformity adds a special grace to such an occasion.

TOPS OF NEW HATS CLIMB TO INTRIGUINGLY DIZZY ANGLES

SPRING HATS are sprouting up like mushrooms. At the base they are firmly planted on the head, but their tops climb to new and dizzy angles. They've gone definitely high as a reaction against the little shallow saucers we've been struggling with for the last couple of years. Here are four of the latest ones.

* * *

THE MODEL at the lower right is of lacquered satin, built up smoothly to a twisted coronet of the material. The veil is important, you must have at least one.

* * *

AT THE top left is a shiny, lacy straw model which goes high, wide and handsome at the top and has a black taffeta bow perched on the crown.

* * *

* * *

THE FOURTH of the quartet indicates an outstanding silhouette, outlining the head neatly and then breaking joyously into a sort of crown at the top. The model sketched is composed of a navy wool bandeau and a pink crochet straw top.

* * *

ALTHOUGH these four are brimless, honors are even between the brimmed and the brimless. Brims will grow stronger later as the sun gets hotter. We'll even see the very wide, droopy capelines by midsummer, but for right now a trig line is preferable. This sort of hat calls for a terribly dapper haircut. Sadly trailing curls are no good with it, at all. Hair should be very short or dressed with a flat little chignon at the nape of the neck, or one of those divine swirls.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

If the new shoe causes a blister to appear on the heel of the foot, have the shoe repair man put a small pad in the shoe to lift the heel up and away from the portion of the shoe that presses and rubs. Girls with thin, bony heels nearly always have blisters. Pore lit'l' things.

No matter how fine and sharp the nail file may be, it doesn't make a complete job of finger nail shaping. After the filing, slip the orange wood stick under the nail eaves, bring forth the fringe of thick skin that you will find there, rasp it away with a beveling file of fine grained sandpaper.

Slimpy gals who would add a few pounds to upholster their angles must keep in mind that it isn't the quantity of food eaten, but the kind, that builds up curves and cushions. More butter on the bread, more cream and sugar on cereals, a glass of milk and cream with each meal will do the work.

Economic Situation Laid To Human Actions by Century Speaker

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Things that are happening today come from human actions and can be controlled in the same way, S. K. Ratcliffe said yesterday in discussing "England in Crisis and Recovery" before the Twentieth Century Club.

The English journalist, who is always a welcome visitor at the club, compared the situation in America today with that in England two years ago. Both national governments were given emergency powers, but England, he said, was confronted by foreign comments, while the problem of the United States is essentially a home one.

Because Great Britain accepts changes with very little ruffling of political life, the impression is given that she remains unaltered socially and politically. As a matter of fact, no western country except those which have undergone revolution, have been more changed in the last 40 years, Mr. Ratcliffe said.

He then went on to point out the greatest change in her national structure which has been between her rural and industrial life. He spoke also of the changes in political parties (he dwelt especially upon the August, 1931, cabinet changes) and the change in taxation, which means an immense difference in the condition of those who until recently were the owners of England and masters of her social life.

A new class has dispossessed the old and it is quite impossible to predict developments, he remarked. The change in Great Britain's great industries, coal mining, cotton and wool manufacture and iron and steel and shipbuilding was also commented on. Mining is in chaos and represents one of the central economic problems of the country.

Civilized woman has killed the woolen industry, one of the most wonderful the world has ever known. New industries are changing the economic map of England and there has been a decentralization of industry since the war.

Oxford, once the center of culture, is now the center of motor car manufacture. There is a decline in unemployment, but it is too early to say whether it is seasonal or indicative, Mr. Ratcliffe pointed out.

He contrasted England's unemployment insurance with America's outright gifts of charity, declaring that it is this country which really has the system of unqualified dole.

Juniors Active In Federation Convention

As is becoming increasingly the custom at all club conventions, the juniors will have their individual part in the Richmond biennial council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, May 23 to 26. Hostesses from all the Richmond junior clubs will welcome the guests.

Tuesday, the twenty-third is designated as "big day." Conferences and luncheons and a tea, the last at the Country Club of Virginia, and meetings and luncheons with the seniors are scheduled.

PIRATES SET FOR OPENER

SWIFT STRONG AGAINST REDS IN 1932

ON THE BASIS of past performances, Manager George Gibson has made a good selection in picking Bill Swift to pitch for the Pirates in the opening game at Cincinnati tomorrow. Against the Reds in 1932, his first year in the majors, Swift was very effective. As a starter or relief man, he took part in 11 of Pittsburgh's 22 games with Cincinnati, and of the contests in which he was held accountable for the outcome he won four and lost two. His two defeats were games in which the Bucs were shut out by Eppa Rixey.

Bill Swift

On both occasions Swift pitched ball good enough to have won under ordinary conditions, as in one of the games he allowed but two runs, and in the other he permitted only three. He followed up the pair of defeats with a 7-to-1 victory for the only decision the Rovers won over Rixey all season. Thus, in three straight games against the Reds, Bill held them to a total of six runs. All told, during the year, he pitched 51 1-3 innings against Cincinnati and allowed only 32 hits, an average of less than six per nine innings. If he can start out again tomorrow at that pace, the Bucs will have a fine chance to hop off on the right foot.

HISTORY GIVES THE Pirates a wide edge in Cincinnati openings. They have been more successful in curtain-raisers at the home of the Reds than in any other city. The Bucs have opened 16 seasons in the Queen City and have won 12 of the 16 games, or an average of three out of every four.

The Reds' four victories were scored in 1907, 4 to 3; in 1918, 2 to 0; in 1921, 5 to 3, and in 1924, 6 to 5. After dropping three straight Cincinnati inaugurals in 1918-21-24, the Pirates won the last two in 1927 and 1930.

THE PITTSBURGH CLUB also holds a slight lead for all time on opening day, as in 46 previous lid-lifters in the National League it won 24 times against 22 defeats. The locals broke even in six starts at home and won 21 out of 40 on the road. They have opened away from home steadily since 1893.

Except for their Cincinnati openers, the Pirates have not been notably successful in the kick-offs of recent years. They lost their last two starts, at Chicago in 1931 and at St. Louis in 1932. They dropped three of the last five opening games, six of the last nine, eight of the last 12, and 12 of the last 17.

JOE STRIPP takes the stand to express a minority opinion against the pennant chances of the Pirates. "I think that a lot of people are going to be fooled about the Pittsburgh club," says the Brooklyn third sacker. "There's an impression around that those youngsters, Vaughan and Piet, are going to be better this year than they were in 1932. Maybe so, maybe so, but don't forget that those two kids got the Pirates off to a flying streak late in May and put them far out ahead of the rest in the race. This year the pitchers will know how to work on them better. Just remember that in the latter part of the season they were not hitting as well as in the beginning." Let's hope that as a prophet, Stripp is a good third baseman.

Dib Williams

IT ISN'T LIKELY that Dib Williams will displace Max Bishop at second base for the A's when the season starts tomorrow, but some of the Philadelphia critics think his spring form warrants the belief that he will break into the Mackian infield sooner or later.

Williams last year took a swift plunge from a regular job to the bench. He went to pieces in all departments. This spring, however, some instructions from Jimmy Foxx brought a marked improvement in Dib's hitting, he picked up in his fielding and baserunning, and in general he is so much better than in 1932 that it is predicted it may be hard to keep him out of the lineup very long.

WITH ALL DUE respect to the slugging reputations of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the two big bombers have not outshone Tony Lazzeri this spring. At Louisville, in one of the last games of the exhibition trip, Tony delivered the longest smash credited to any Yankee player during the entire practice period.

It was a home run wallop that cleared the left-field fence by more than 50 feet, at a conservative estimate. And the wall at that point in the Louisville park is 50 feet high and 331 feet from the plate.

BOXING MEN IN New York are attacking Senator Duncan O'Brien's bill, boosting the state tax from 5 to 10 per cent and increasing license fees to a greater extent than does a proposed similar amendment to the Pennsylvania ring laws. Senator O'Brien would raise the cost of club licenses from $750 to $1,000, and those of physicians, referees, judges, timekeepers, managers and seconds 100 per cent. Wrestlers would have to pay $50 instead of $5, but the proposal most vigorously opposed is that to increase the cost of boxers' licenses from $5 to $100, in the face of the fact that only recently the Boxing Commission of the Empire State cut the minimum pay of preliminary boys from $5 to $3 per round to enable small-time promoters to make ends meet.

IT IS POINTED out by the objectors that already economic conditions have forced 50 per cent of the smaller clubs in New York to suspend operations. Half of the 14 still going in the big city are working on only a part time basis, and it is estimated that only two or three will survive if the proposed stiffer fees are adopted.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, likens the bill to a step by landlords to raise the rents of tenants already behind in their payments. Another New York measure, the Nunan bill, would put amateur boxers under commission supervision, with the consequent fees and overhead expenses. Where an amateur, boxing for a medal, is supposed to get the price of a license is not explained.

THAT FAMOUS OLD Queensberry serial in which Jack Britton and Ted Lewis used to fight about every other night may have a rival in the track game. Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke, star runners at a mile or 1,500 meters, already have met four times on board tracks, and now they're going to continue the fight in the open air.

Glenn Cunningham

The fifth meeting of the rivals may be a feature of the Penn Relays in Philadelphia. Lawson Robertson, Penn track coach, has approved a proposal to invite Cunningham to meet Venzke again in a special race, and the Kansas streak is reported willing to accept.

SUCH A RACE no doubt would add color to the big annual Quakertown carnival. Though Cunningham won three of the four tussles staged indoors, the competition was so thrilling that it has lost none of its appeal, and it is doubtful if the track world ever knew a rivalry that aroused greater public interest. Not that many doubt the supremacy of Cunningham. Though Venzke was the favorite in their first meeting last winter on the strength of his world record 4:10 indoor mile, the Kansan clearly was the better runner in three of the four races, and lost the other only by inches because of one false step. Most track experts believe Glenn will prove his superiority outdoors as well. He is stronger physically than the Penn star, has a more impressive kick and terrific leg drive, and has appeared able to stay with Venzke at any sort of pace and then beat him out in the home stretch. Cunningham ran the fastest outdoor mile ever seen in this country and is figured to have a chance to set a new world record.

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS READY FOR RACES

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Dignitaries of the nation, led by President Roosevelt and Vice-President Garner, will inaugurate the 1933 baseball season at Griffith Stadium tomorrow as the Senators engage the Philadelphia Athletics.

Following a precedent established by Former Presidents Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, Roosevelt will open the game by tossing the first ball in the general direction of the home plate. Deep in center field Garner will assist in hoisting the American flag atop the massive staff.

Earnshaw or Grove will pitch for the house of Mack. Cochrane will catch. For the Senators, Crowder and Sewell have been chosen as the battery.

Baseball Briefs

NEW YORK, April 11.—The New York Yankees, confident of winning another American League pennant, open the season here tomorrow against the Boston Red Sox, who'll be satisfied if they finish out of the cellar.

Without exception, Joe McCarthy plans to start the same team that won the flag and the world series last year. Even Babe Ruth, though he's suffering from a sore throat and confined to his home today, will be at his customary right field station at least for a few innings. Vernon (Lefty) Gomez will pitch with Bill Dickey catching.

Beer will be available to the opening day crowd that may reach 50,000.

BOSTON, April 11.—(AP.)—With two of his pitching dependables temporarily on the shelf, Manager Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Braves, today was as doubtful about his starting moundsman as the weather forecast for tomorrow's opening game with the New York Giants.

Ed Brandt and Tom Zachery have yet to round into shape, and McKechnie will be forced to select a right-hander, either Huck Betts, Bobby Brown or Frank Frankhouse, with the odds favoring the latter, to team up with Frank (Shanty) Hogan, former Giant, who has provided the Braves' catching department with its first real strength in many years.

Despite the unpromising predictions, which threatens rain, the Braves' management expected an opening day crowd of 15,000 fans.

TIGERS ARE STRONG

DETROIT, April 11.—(AP.)—A Detroit Tiger team rated by Bucky Harris as the strongest he has managed here and of first division caliber, opens another American League pennant chase at Navin Field tomorrow with all the fanfare that goes with such an occasion.

The probably 25,000 fans in the stand will see two recruits in the opening day lineup, Pete Fox in the outfield in place of Earl Webb, and Marvin Owen at third base.

Tommy Bridges, nominated as No. 1 Tiger hurler this year, has the pitching assignment, while Clint Brown probably will oppose him for the Cleveland Indians.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP.)—Celebrating their golden anniversary in the national pastime, the Phillies' "strongest team in 18 years" opens the 1933 baseball season tomorrow against Manager Max Carey's strengthened Brooklyn Dodgers.

Either the veteran Flint Rhem or the flashy Cy Moore will start serving them up to the Dodgers, while Ray Benge or Watson Clark probably will have the hurling assignment for the Brooklynites.

A. L. CLUBS IMPROVED

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—(AP.)—The reinforced Browns and White Sox, each hoping for more favorable consideration by Dame Fortune, are prepared to open the 1933 American League pennant chase here tomorrow.

Fair weather is predicted for the inaugural ceremonies at Sportsman Park, the lure of legalized beer, which made its initial appearance at the park last week during the Brown-Cardinal city series, is expected to add clicks to the turn-stiles.

The Browns have nominated rotund Rump Hadley to attempt to subdue Sox bats in the initial league encounter. Ferrell probably will do the back-stopping.

Evers Toastmaster For Wagner Dinner

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Baseball fans of Brooklyn have advanced plans for a reception for Hans Wagner, when the former star Pittsburgh shortstop appears with the Pirates in their first game of the season at Ebbets Field, May 4.

In the evening Honus will be given a testimonial dinner, at which Johnny Evers will be the toastmaster. Others who have been invited to speak include President John A. Heydler, of the National League; President William Harridge, of the American League, and John J. McGraw.

Texas Loop Set For Opener Today

DALLAS, Texas, April 11.—(AP.)—The 154-game schedule of the Texas League's 1933 pennant campaign begins today with Dallas playing at Oklahoma City, Beaumont at San Antonio, Fort Worth at Tulsa and Houston at Galveston.

J. Alvin Gardner, league president, expressed confidence this season will prove one of the most successful in the league's history.

Cup Team Star Jewish, Dropped By Germany

BERLIN, April 11.—(AP.)—Dr. Daniel Prenn, one of Germany's best tennis players, has been dropped from the German team to be entered in the international Davis Cup competition because he is Jewish.

The team actually has not been picked, but he would have been certain to retain his customary place. The Davis Cup players begin training the end of this month.

Theodore Lewald is expected to resign shortly from the chairmanship of the German Sports Federations as a result of Nazi pressure [illegible] one-quarter Jewish.

P. A. A. DEFEATS KEYSTONERS

Three hundred P. A. A. and K. A. C. competitors foregathered at the Keystone Athletic Club last evening in initial session of the first annual winter-club sports carnival sponsored between the two large local athletic institutions.

The Winged Headers, after a lengthy card that included handball, squash, racquets, volleyball, swimming, duckpins, tenpins, pingpong, and indoor baseball, eked out a narrow win on the tally sheet, 41 to 39.

P. A. A. gleaned string margins in baseball and duckpins after dropping the squash, tenpin, swimming, and ping pong affairs and deadlocking at handball and volleyball.

The feature of the evening was the diamond clash wherein Rod Flannery's visitors trimmed Jim Kelly's home crew, 6-1. The summary:

	P. A. A.	K. A. C.
Handball	8	8
Squash Racquets	7	13
Volleyball	6	6
Swimming	0	1
Duckpins	10	0
Tennins	0	10

A. A. OPENING GAMES OFF

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Rain general throughout the Middle West today resulted in the postponement of three of the four scheduled opening games in the American Association.

The games raine dout were the Kansas City at Louisville, Minneapolis at Columbus and St. Paul at Toledo engagements.

An effort was to be made to play at Toledo, where St. Paul is to provide the opposition.

Saratoga Racing Meet to Be Cut

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Although refusing to state definitely as to the length of the meeting, George H. Bull, president of the Saratoga Racing Association, today said the session at Saratoga Springs this year probably would be restricted.

The Jockey Club previously announced it would fix the dates for Saratoga and the four other New York tracks Thursday. The Metropolitan season is expected to open about May 1 with all the tracks curtailing their spring meetings. In other years the Saratoga meeting has been held during the month of August.

NEW BRITISH CHAMP

MANCHESTER, Eng., April 11.—(INS.)—Jock McAvoy, of Rochdale, is the new British middleweight boxing champion. He won the title by outpointing Len Harvey in a 15-round bout here last night.

Shekeetski, Locke Crusader Coaches

WORCESTER, Mass., April 11.—(AP.)—Dr. Edward N. Anderson, of Chicago, new football coach at Holy Cross College, announced today that his assistants will be Joe Shekeetski, who played in Notre Dame's backfield in 1932, and Joe Locke, who played guard on the Notre Dame team three years ago.

Locke will look after the linesmen and Shekeetski the backfield. Locke has been coach at Wichita University since leaving Notre Dame.

Their appointment means the passing of the veteran Holy Cross assistant coaches, Arthur Corcoran and Gus Cervini.

KRONE TO DEFY MAT BAN

CHICAGO, April 11.—(INS.)—Promoter John (Doc) Krone will stage his wrestling match between Strangler Lewis and Jim Browning tonight despite the ruling the Illinois Athletic Commission barring all wrestling in Illinois.

Krone went before Attorney General Ottto Kerner, who ruled that the commission before declaring matches illegal should give the promoter 10 days' notice.

So the grunuters will grunt at the Coliseum tonight, despite the threat of Joseph Triner, chairman of the commission, who said:

"I Krone goes ahead he will be promoting an illegal show and the commission has power to call out the police to stop it."

STATE BOARD TO ACT

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(AP.)—The State Athletic Commission today announced a hearing would be held next Wednesday to decide who is to be recognized in Pennsylvania as the world champion wrestler.

Both Jim Londos, who has been recognized in Pennsylvania as the titleholder, and Joe Savoldi, of Chicago, who claims the championship as a result of their Chicago encounter, have been requested to attend.

The Pennsylvania commission has asked the Illinois commission for a transcript of the testimony of the hearing held in Chicago on the Londos-Savoldi bout.

SAVOLDI BARRED

INDIANAPOLIS, April 11.—(AP.)—Al G. Feeney, Indiana Athletic Commissioner, today sent letters to athletic commissioners of other states affiliated with the National Wrestling Association notifying them that Joe Savoldi has been suspended in this state.

Feeney announced yesterday he would suspend Savoldi if the former Notre Dame fullback failed to appear for a match scheduled in Evansville last night with Pat O'Shocker as an opponent. Savoldi was not on hand for the match and the suspension was ordered.

CORSAIRS DOWN LOUISVILLE IN SLAB DUEL

CINCINNATI, April 11.—While the opposing clubs have been nominated as the strongest and weakest entries in their leagues, the big baseball inaugural scheduled for Redland Field tomorrow afternoon needs only propitious weather to make it one of those gala occasions so dear to the hearts of the average native of Cincinnati.

Manager Gibson led his flag favorites, the Pirates, into Redland just before midnight after a ride from Louisville where yesterday the Pittsburghers took the measure of the Louisville Colonels, 3 to 2. Donie Bush's crowd has been on the battle scene for several days. The contrasting superlatives used in reference to the clubs engaged in the conflict of tomorrow were not furnished by Gibson or Bush. In the first place, Gibby does not claim the National League's flag, and by quite another token little Donie Bush objects to cellar talk which has been put out concerning his Reds. In any event the opened should be a real battle.

SWIFT TO HURL

The jump-off game will bring together two clever but youthful right handers, Bill Swift, who turned in some very efficient performances for the Pirates last season, will be on the slab for the Buccos. Opposing Bill and the Pirates will be Silas Johnson. The battle will get under way at 2:30, eastern standard time. Manager Bush is still annoyed by an ailing foot but Donie says he will try to be at his coaching post for the inaugural.

Although Cincinnati was swept by a severe rainstorm today, weather predictions at noon favored the staging of the opening game by the Pirates and Reds at Redland Field tomorrow afternoon.

The groundkeeper at Redland Field placed the tarpaulin on the infield last night so that that section of the playing field is o. k. for action. The outfield is soft and slow, but this condition would not hold up the game.

Almost 20,000 reservations have been made for the inaugural.

Manager Gibson and his Pirates taxied to the ball park at noon. There the Pirates held a meeting after which they tried on their new traveling uniforms which had preceded the mto their clubhouse.

BUCS WELCOME REST

Since they left Los Angeles, one week ago Sunday, the Buccaneers have spent most of their nights on trains. Four nights in a row was the order before the Pittsburghers reached Oklahoma City and a chance to enjoy hotel beds. They also remained overnight in Kansas City, but when the players landed in Cincinnati last night they were glad in the anticipation of several nights in real beds.

Despite the exacting schedule, the members of the squad reached the National League territory in fine fettle. The health of the Pirates throughout the long training grind was so good that the subject was commented on many times.

The last game of the long barnstorming jaunt saw the big

BASEBALL COMEDY

—By NICK ALTROCK—

WASHINGTON, April 11.—I see the bookies have got the 1933 race all nicely settled, with the Yanks awarded the pennant, our Washington club runner-up, the A's in third place, the White Sox in seventh and the Red Sox in in the cellar. The only scramble is to see who lands in the middle of the league. This is very sweet of the bookmakers and experts to map out the season before it's started. So, when President Roosevelt comes up to our park tomorrow to throw out the first ball, I am ready to hear him say:

Nick Altrock

"Boys, the best minds have already determined the order you'll finish in, so I suggest the league adjourn till October and the world series. In the meantime, I'll see you all get jobs planting forests at a dollar a day."

Then he pockets the baseball and goes back to the White House.

Of course, our Washington players read the experts' opinion, and we were pretty sorry to lose the 1933 pennant. In fact, we were heartsick till we looked it up and found the experts that pick the Yanks for the flag are the same guys that said U. S. Steel would hit 300 in 1929.

ANNUAL PITT GRIDIRON CLINIC SCHEDULED FOR MAY 6

SCHOOL TRACK MEET CARDED SAME DAY

By JESS CARVER

Among the choice morsels of information served up by another celebrated member of the family regarding Pitt's second annual football clinic, which is to be held as an all-day affair May 6 in connection, or in conjunction with the annual Pitt interscholastic track and field championships and the Pitt-West Virginia dual varsity meet, is the word that a couple picked teams of varsity players will "walk through" various Sutherland plays for the edification of those present.

Upon deciphering said information, one Bill Croasmun, official statistician, cracked:

"Say, those birds walked through some of those formations last fall and not at any clinic, either. Jock had better let 'em run."

William must have had a bet down on the Ohio State or Nebraska games.

This year's clinic will follow about the same schedule as did last year's, when a rousing turnout of scholastics, prep school and college players and coaches was on hand to see what Dr. Sutherland had to offer in the way of gridiron instruction and to get a peep or two at the celebrated backfield pair, Heller and Reider, and at some of the bulky linemen.

Individual instruction in the way to play various positions by his assistants, Messers Donchess, Montgomery, Hangartner, Kern, Daugherty and Gustafson will be first on the program. Then will come an open forum, with all comers invited to ask questions, which, if the assistants cannot answer, they'll file away for future references.

Inasmuch as the Pitt scholastic track meet will be one of the two championship events to be staged hereabouts this spring, it figures to draw a record entry. It and the annual W. P. I. A. L. meet will be the only open affairs offered. Geneva having called off its annual relay carnival.

Dr. H. C. Carlson, back from the annual meeting of the Basketball Coaches' Association in New York, yesterday called out his Pitt varsity candidates for their annual spring drills. The Panther mentor is arranging a university-wide tournament, to be completed April 27.

Johnny Pena, of Chicago, and Pete DeGrasse, of New York, are due here today for their 10-round feature bouts at the Arena, on the North Side, Thursday night, against Jackie Wilson and Jimmy Thomas, respectively. Johnny Hinds, of New York, who meets Mose Butch in the first 10-rounder, has been on the scene for several days, working out in a local gymnasium.

Buddy McArthur and Lloyd Clements want to box Frank Novak, who defeated Jack Pallat, of Cleveland, at the Arena last Friday night. McArthur is fresh from a two-round knockout victory over George Panka in Fairmont, W. Va., while Clements has been putting on weight during a layoff, and now is a 200-pounder.

Mike Barto, who has won both of his starts as a professional, is keen for action against any of the local lightweights. He stopped Charley Blozevich his last time out.

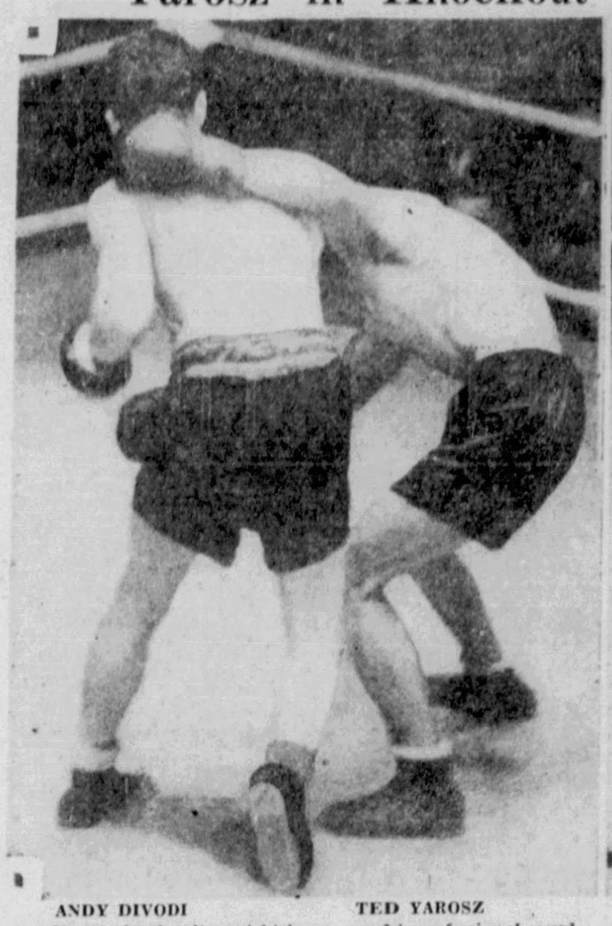
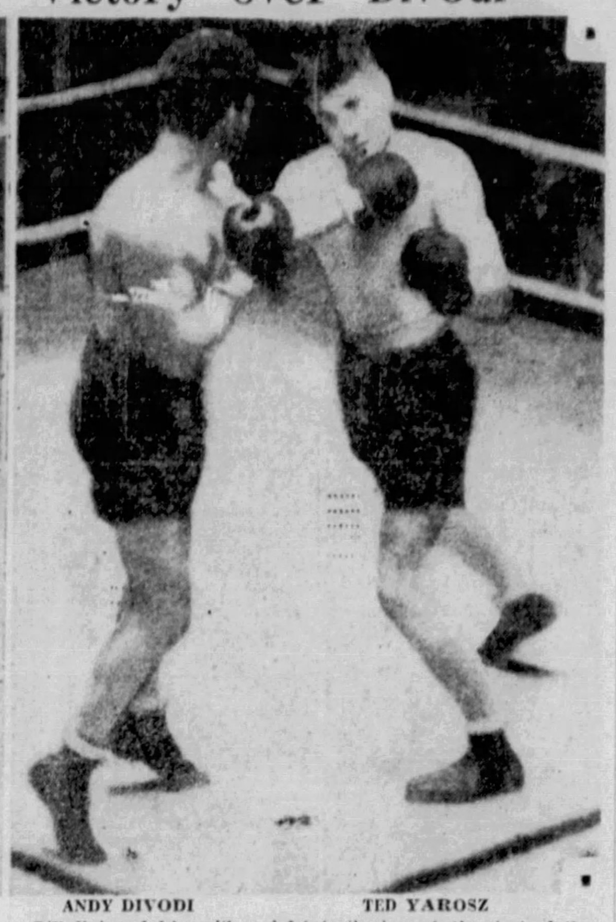
Yarosz in Knockout Victory Over Divodi



ANDY DIVODI TED YAROSZ



ANDY DIVODI TED YAROSZ

Yarosz, local welterweight boxer, ran his professional record to 65 bouts with only a single defeat when he won by a technical knockout over Andy DiVodi, of New York, in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round battle in the Motor Square Garden ring last night. The referee stopped the bout to save DiVodi from further punishment. Yarosz was in difficulty only once, when DiVodi jarred him with a right to the jaw at the start of the fourth round, as shown at the left above. He came back to have DiVodi out on his feet at the bell. Photo at right shows Yarosz driving ahead with his furious attack just before the end. The local star gave one of the best exhibitions of his career to register the easy victory. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

YAROSZ STOPS ANDY DI VODI

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Andy Di Vodi, of New York, just in from California, where he has been campaigning since he last appeared here and won on fouls over Buck McTiernan and Dick Ramies, several years ago, would have been safer staying in the earthquake zone of the Golden State than he was against Ted Yarosz in the Motor Square Garden main bout last night.

Teddy took Di Vodi, once a foremost contender for the welterweight title, like nobody's business. He belted him from pillar to post in every round and finally had him so far under subjection, out on his feet, that Referee Al Grayber mercifully called a halt with four seconds to go in the fifth round, Yarosz winning on a technical knockout. They were scheduled for 10 rounds.

TEDDY AT TOP SPEED

At 152 pounds against 148½ for his opponent, Yarosz was faster than he has been in any other bout. He turned on the heat right from the start and showered his man with lefts to the body and head and wound up the opening round with two good rights to the head, one of which sent Di Vodi off balance.

The same tactics in the second round found Di Vodi dizzy when the bell gave him a respite. In the third, Teddy began to hold back his right hand, and Di Vodi got to him a bit, but Teddy had the edge, nevertheless.

Di Vodi was in the fight for the only time early in the fourth, when he made Yarosz' knees buckle under a right to the jaw in a neutral corner.

Teddy held on until he shook off the effects and then proceeded to take the play into his own hands again. A right knocked Di Vodi into the ropes and another right caught him as he came off. A left hook followed and Ted crowded Andy into a corner and had him out on the ropes from a smashing right to the head as the round ended.

The fifth was a shambles, with Yarosz moving and punching so fast with both fists that the referee couldn't keep out of the line of fire. Di Vodi was sent reeling and groping from one rope to another and finally was out standing up in his own corner when Grayber wisely intervened.

It was a hollow victory for Yarosz, who outclassed his foe so badly that it wasn't a contest, although Yarosz' exhibition of fighting fury was well worth the money.

MARCUS GETS DECISION

It seems that Joe Marcus, of Braddock, is still with us, because the decision at the end of the eight-round semi-final, in which he fought Edouardo Duarry, Erie Negro, was worse than the fight itself, and found Marcus on the long end.

Duarry knocked out Marty McHale in one round in last week's semi-final at the Garden, and the fans were looking for him to do the same thing to Joey. But, as usual, Marcus was too smart. He kept ducking in and out and messing around his opponent until the latter lost his form and also his hitting power and did a lot of hanging on, slowing down the bout to a walk and drawing the boos of the fans and also a stamping of feet in disapproval.

The judges disagreed, Frank Brown voting for Marcus and Freddie Lux for Duarry, and Referee Jack Henderson also scored for Marcus, and then the fans were fit to be tied. It was almost funny.

Duarry did what effective hitting was done and tried hard to make a good fight of it, but just simply was another victim of Marcus' ring cunning. If you could appreciate Marcus' strategy, you liked the fight; if it was action you wanted, you had to wait until Yarosz came on.

EDDIE BRANNON STOPPED

Eddie Brannon, Hill District Negro, back after a long layoff, proved so far gone that he was merely a punching bag for young Fritzie Zivic, and his seconds finally heeded the cries of the fans and threw in the towel with a little more than a minute to go in the sixth and scheduled last round.

Tug Phillips outfought General Burr in another six-rounder, and Joey Chemes, making his professional debut, bested Elmer Kozak in the four-round opener, which, however, was ruled a draw.

Bluefield Asked To Restore Football

BLUEFIELD, April 11.—(AP.)—Bluefield civic organizations have asked the Bluefield College board of trustees to reconsider its action in abandoning football at the institution.

The trustees announced last week that football had been eliminated from the athletic program largely for economic reasons.

The civic organizations at their meetings also made plans to prepare an athletic field so that Bluefield may be represented this summer in the Blue Ridge Baseball League, a semi-pro circuit operating in Virginia, North Carolina and West Virginia.

Jap Swim Stars May Invade U. S.

TOKIO, April 11.—(AP.)—The prospect of another Japanese swimming invasion of America emerged today from a meeting of the directors of the Japanese Swimming Federation which favorably considered an invitation by the Amateur Athletic Union to send a contingent to the American championships in Chicago in July.

The invitation was brief and failed to mention how expenses were to be taken care of, but Japanese authorities were hopeful that negotiations with American officials would produce arrangements permitting the sending of 10 of the 12 members of the Olympic championship team.

DISTRICT PROS RE-ELECT ALL OFFICERS

By TOM BIRKS

Fred Brand, golf pro at the Allegheny Country Club was re-elected president of the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association at the annual meeting of the organization held in the William Penn Hotel last evening.

The entire slate of 1932 officers went back into executive positions with Brand. Davey McKay, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, was retained as secretary-treasurer, while Charley Manning, of the Shannopin Country Club, and Jimmy Devlin, of the Nemacolin Country Club, were returned as vice presidents.

Brand and McKay have been executives of the organization since its formation in 1921.

Jock Kennedy, of Fox Chapel; Perry Del Vicchio, of the Greensburg Country Club, and Vincent Eldred, of Highland, were chosen as directors for a period of one year.

A change was made in the personnel of the golf committee. Eldred was named chairman, with Kennedy, Emil Loeffler, Rader Jewett, Devlin and Horace Brand as co-members.

The next meeting of the association will be held at the Oakmont Country Club, May 15, at the conclusion of the qualifying round for the national open competition.

The directors will meet beforehand to pass upon some applications for membership, now in the secretary's hands.

Niblick Shots

Pete O'Hara, of Westmoreland Country Club, was missing from pro meeting last night. The gathering missed the humor of the Irishman.

Jimmy Devlin announced that the Nemacolin Country Club will open its course next Saturday. The following Wednesday will be Guest Day. Members can bring a guest along. Green fees will be taboo.

Ted Luther was all smiles upon receiving his medal last night. The popular Valley Heights man now has won the West Penn open, the tri-state match play tourney and led the qualifying round for the national open. His next trophy should be the state open.

Jock Kennedy, Fox Chapel mentor, is tanned from that sojourn in the South. Jock played little golf, in fact Kennedy hardly ever does, but what a teacher he is. He would rather teach than play.

Woman Unable To Collect On Race Wager

CLEVELAND, April 11.—(AP.)—A suit filed by Mae Boles, of Marion, Pa., against the management of the Bainbridge track, near here, asking collection of $3,896 on a "Daily Double" has been dismissed by Federal Judge Samuel H. West.

The plaintiff argued that she won the money under the "contribution" system used at the track on September 9, 1931, but was unable to collect.

Leon Chagnon and Ralph Birkofer had a rare assortment of speed and curves to show the Colonels. The French-Canadian in particular was in fine stride. Chagnon had so much stuff in five rounds the home players were visibly confused. They were able to make one run off Leon largely on account of a couple of bunts that could not be fielded.

Birkofer pitched shutout ball. In one sense the one tally made while he worked was due principally to a handle hit which put him in a jam.

Chagnon's single in the fourth had the effect of scoring all three of the Pirate runs. Runners were on third and second with one out and Tommy Padden up when the home bosses decided to purposely pass the catcher. Chagnon stepped up and blasted a real single to center.

RANGERS AFTER DECIDING WIN OVER LEAFS

TORONTO, Ont., April 11.—(AP.)—The New York Rangers sally forth to the hockey war again tonight, determined to whip the Toronto Maple Leafs for the third successive time and end the annual struggle for the Stanley Cup and the world's professional championship without further argument.

Possibly banking on a comeback by the law of averages, the betting fraternity has established the Leafs 7 to 5 favorites for the third game although the Rangers still are heavily favored to win the series and the Stanley Cup.

Held to a total of two goals in the first pair of games, the Leafs were counting upon their attack to get under way tonight. The Rangers won the opening game 5-1, and then made it two in a row with a 3-1 victory here last Saturday night.

Lester Patrick, the Rangers' veteran manager who has participated either as a player or manager in 13 Stanley Cup series, was sure his team would end it tonight. He also discounted assertions that all Canadians were pulling for a Toronto victory.

STOCKS SLIDE ON RENEWED PRESSURE

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—After six successive sessions of higher prices, the advance in the share market was checked by profit taking today.

The list poked up fractions at the start, but soon slid back. Good support appeared just under yesterday's closing prices, however, as traders were impressed by strength of a wide assortment of commodities, including wheat, sugar, cotton, rubber and nonferrous metals.

Commission house sentiment was somewhat mixed, but was still more inclined to bullishness than otherwise. It was pointed out that some reaction, after the protracted advance culminating in yesterday's vigorous advance, was to be expected. Nevertheless, the fact that most shares are selling at high ratios to earnings made some quarters cautious.

The continued strength of commodities was the most encouraging aspect of the day's developments. The government's winter wheat crop estimate was lower than expected, and gave that market a brisk upturn. But many other staples continued to advance. Dealers reported both speculative and consumer buying in several raw materials. The inflation gossip was said to be an undoubted factor in this buying, but some market analysts attributed it to more tangible developments affecting individual staples, such as the short wheat crop. Furthermore, it was pointed out that the projected international discussions in Washington were potentially bullish, in that they would be directed toward lightening of restrictions which have imposed heavy loads on world prices.

The decision of Nash Motors to defer its quarterly dividend of 25 cents was not wholly expected, inasmuch as some quarters thought payments might be made from the company's large surplus, despite the fact that the later quarter resulted in a small deficit. General Foods cut its dividend to 40 cents from 50, despite earnings in excess of 50 cents in the first quarter, "in view of continuation of business uncertainty."

The money market remained extremely easy, with call money renewing at 1½ per cent, but available outside at 1 per cent. Federal funds, which are excess balances at the Federal Reserve, were offered as low as ⅛ of 1 per cent. Bankers' acceptance rates were reduced. The plethora of short term funds had a good effect on the market for United States government bonds.

KANSAS WHEAT CROP LOW

TOPEKA, April 11.—(AP.)—Kansas' winter wheat production this year, as indicated by the April 1 condition and acreage abandonment, was estimated today by the state and federal agricultural departments at 54,747,000 bushels, compared with 106,398,000 bushels last year, the record crop of 239,742,000 bushels in 1931, and the 1926-30 five-year average of 153,186,000 bushels.

The indicated production would be the smallest crop since 1917 for the country's chief wheat producing state.

Fisk Bondholders To Get 60% Cash

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Holders of Fisk Rubber Company bonds and notes represented by the committee headed by Ferdinand Eberstadt have been notified by the committee that the sale of the properties in receivership last week should make possible a cash distribution of more than 60 per cent on the bonds and 50 per cent on the notes.

The exact terms of distribution as between the bonds and notes will be determined by the court in its final ruling on the sale of the properties.

Forbes

Some Retail Prices Named In New York

By B. C. FORBES

New Yorkers can buy a glass of beer and a sandwich for 10 cents—and isn't business humming!

Mr. Forbes

Many well-known brands of cigars, formerly 10 cents, are now five cents, some of them six for a quarter. Ten-cent cigarets are common.

On Fourteenth street I see brightly colored dresses for a dollar, gay hats for 54 cents, women's shoes at a dollar, stockings labeled 7½ cents, fancy-looking handbags at 57 cents, jig-saw puzzles for five cents, coat and hat for a child at a dollar.

Cafeterias offer "three-course" meals for 15 cents. The variety of dishes offered for 10 cents is amazing. Certain popular restaurant chains furnish a second and even a third cup of coffee free.

You can attend one of the best-known motion picture palaces in New York for 25 cents. In many movies you can spend the whole afternoon for 10 cents. Various chain stores now sell meats at prices unheard of not long ago. Eggs are offered at 1½ to 2 cents each. Flowers are cheaper than in years.

Suburban residents have men come around offering to work all day for their food. Many—too many—housewives employ maids for their board and lodging.

It would hardly be an exaggeration to say that a dime will today do as much as a dollar did in boom times. This is not, of course, a healthy, inspiring condition. The sooner it ends, the sooner we will be able to return to the accepted, traditional American standard of living.

A CLEAN-CUT, well-groomed bright-eyed youth called to see me. He explained that he had once caddied for me, that he was out of a job, that he hadn't any money to take him to his home community, that he hadn't had anything to eat since the day before, and that he had tried and tried to find work, but all in vain.

What a ghastly condition—a worthy, law-abiding youth eager to work at anything, denied a chance to be self-supporting, compelled to beg—or become a criminal.

What a responsibility has been thrust upon us these days. Do enough of us realize that it isn't sufficient simply to "look out for number one?"

Let us stop hoarding confidence, enterprise, courage!

IS WALL STREET, after all, going to have its traditional spring rise? It is even possible that a spring rise on this occasion may develop into a permanent rise. Certainly most quotations have been depressed beyond all rhyme or reason. The new week opened encouragingly.

WILL PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, busy though he is, take five minutes off to write one of his terse, effective messages to have our anachronistic, anti-trust laws modified, suspended or repealed? This would energize not a few important industries.

PARIS, April 11.—Governors and other members of the world bank board at their monthly meeting authorized the Bank for International Settlements to resume dealings in dollars normally.

The bank has renewed for three months the 60,000,000 schilling credit to Austria and the $20,000,000 credit to Hungary.

FORCES BEHIND NEW PICKUP ANALYZED

By LEWIS HANEY,
Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Business news last week indicates some further recovery from the "Bank Holiday" slump. This appears in car loadings, electrical power productions and steel activity.

(1) A natural rebound from an extreme collapse.

(2) Seasonal conditions, emphasized by a late Easter (which makes comparisons with last year seem better than they are.)

(3) The introduction of beer.

(4) Speculative activity based on the popular idea that "inflation" is at hand.

As a result the business curve has now fully recovered to the level of its previous line of trend, and we are just about where we probably would have been had there been no general bank suspension.

LET-DOWN NATURAL

Already there are signs that the Easter spurt in wholesale trade has passed. Retail trade should touch its seasonal peak this week. The first flush of beer business is passing. So a little let-down would be natural before long.

This, however, would not be unfavorable. We have had enough of spurts and run-ups. I think most of us would like to see a gradual recovery that would be real and lasting.

Some of the outstanding developments of the week were as follows: The administration seems to be headed toward a program of breaking down nationalism and trying to restore international trade.

The banking authorities seem to be clinging to their easy money policy, and the N. Y. Reserve Bank reduced its rediscount rate.

Signs that the administration's rapid fire series of measures may be coming too fast and getting into a jam began to appear. A railway plan and the Tennessee-Muscle Shoals program are on the way, but the securities regulation and farm relief measures are still in the works and have met some difficulties.

DISTURBING FACTORS

The threat of excessive legislation and higher taxes at home, and the German situation and European war talk abroad have perhaps been the most disturbing factors. Then, too, there is the "inflation" talk.

The English experience in cutting loose from the previously established gold valuation of the pound shows that such a move neither insures higher prices nor a prosperous foreign trade.

We have so much gold that the question is bound to arise, why put less gold in the dollar? There is certainly no necessity for it.

PROOF LACKING

Those who say it should be done merely to raise prices, have no proof that devaluation would do that. In the first place, if there were no change in the number of dollars, and if no blow were given to confidence, there would be no effect on prices. Each one of us would have the same number of dollars. They would be as hard to get as ever.

There is no reason why prices should rise, therefore, unless in addition to revaluation the printing presses were started up, or unless such a blow were given to our confidence in money that many would rush to get rid of it.

But these conditions would not necessarily follow, and who desires them?

Finally, if such a procedure could raise prices, it would not help. Its general effect would be exercised all along the line. It might raise average expenses as much as average sales, which would do no good. Probably, however, it would put up the prices of things which are already relatively scare and high-priced, and have less effect on the things which are lowest.

CONCLUSION: Devaluation would either be a dud, or would have distinctive consequences. Even if it could work as hoped by its advocates, its effect on prices could not be controlled nor predicted.

Shut-Down Reduces Crude Oil Output

TULSA, April 11.—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States during the week ended April 8 totaled 2,230,902 barrels, a decrease of 368,754 barrels from the preceding week, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

The decrease was caused by the shut-in of the East Texas and Oklahoma City fields during part of the week.

Earmark Release Boosts U. S. Gold

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The New York Federal Reserve Bank yesterday reported release of $7,997,300 in gold from foreign earmark, which added that amount to this country's monetary stocks. The identity of the nation or nations releasing the metal was not disclosed. No other changes appeared in the bank's daily statement.

U. S. Postoffice May Govern Markets

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A preliminary draft of the administration's bill for regulation of stock exchanges has been made under the guidance of Samuel Untermyer. The bill in its tentative form provides for regulation through the Postoffice Department. The measure is being guarded closely, and details are lacking.

F. R. REFLATION WILL SUPPLY MORE JOBS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The reflationary policies of the Hoover and Roosevelt administrations stand in sharp contrast.

In the last year of the former administration, a futile effort was made to fight the depression through credit expansion by means of purchases by the Federal Reserve banks of an unprecedented volume of United States government bonds. This had the effect of pumping additional credit into the banking system, but instead of going into job giving industry and commerce, the additional funds were in effect sterilized as excess reserves of powerful but timid member banks. The assumption that an expansion in the availability of credit would be translated under depression conditions into an increased use of credit by job giving industry was not fulfilled.

Mr. Rukeyser

SUPPLIES JOBS

Now the Roosevelt counter-deflationary program entails tying up the contemplated credit expansion with a definite scheme for utilizing the funds thus released.

The expansion will be effectuated through the sale of substantial government bond issues, and the proceeds will be definitely allocated to job-giving activities, such as accelerated public works and possibly to semi-public projects, such as slum removal. Moreover, the use of federal credit as bounties to stimulate private construction and as a guarantee to encourage expansion of private business has also been urged.

The advantage of the Roosevelt plan is that it leaves nothing to chance. It does not rest on the precarious issue of whether the limited number of private companies of high credit standing will make use of their credit lines at commercial banks.

LIFT TO U. S. BONDS

As a matter of fact, to the extent that government leadership breaks the deadlock and contributes to an increase in the gross volume of business, then private industrialists for the first time in more than three years may sense the possibilities of an expanding market, which would justify them in increasing their own operations either with or without the aid of bank credit.

The present administration has improved the market for government bonds by its forthright effort to reduce ordinary operating expenses of the government.

The Roosevelt reflationary plan must be supported by a consistent banking policy. The open market maneuvers of the Federal Reserve System will have a definite effect on the price which the government must pay for new credit.

The Flapper's Daughter

By BEATRICE BURTON

THRILLING NOVEL OF THE CHILDREN OF DANCING MOTHERS

"No, I'm not going to run over there and pretend that I'm in on Maud's party," she said with decision. "I think your father and Carl ought to know what those two women have been doing behind their backs."

Sharlie had opened the door leading into the hall. But now she slowly closed it and came back into the room.

"Edna, you're right," she said. "I'd spoil everything if I went over to Maud's now, wouldn't I? It's a good thing for my father to know that Dodie has been running around with that light-haired man, isn't it—?"

She turned her head toward the windows. Through them floated the sound of voices raised in anger and frantic explanation . . . The door of the apartment house across the street was opening, and through the opening came Dodie and Eldon Dunn.

Dodie was crying when she came into the sitting room. Her face was wet with her tears and she kept dabbing at her eyes with her handkerchief.

"You don't have to sneak around to find out what I'm doing, Eldon Dunn!" she sobbed as soon as Sharlie's father was inside the room. "I was just waiting for you to come home to TELL you that I'm through with you! I told Sharlie this morning that I'm going to get a divorce! Didn't I, Baby?"

SURE OF HIMSELF

Sharlie never had seen him so cool and collected and sure of himself as he was at this moment.

"If you think you're going to walk out of this flat and live on my money while you wait for your decree you're all wrong," he went on. "I'm not going to support you while you're running around with other men . . . If you want a divorce, you'll have to get it while you're living here in this flat like a decent woman, taking care of your daughter."

"What do you mean?" asked Sharlie's mother, her voice thick with sobs. "You mean that I'm to stay on here in this dump?"

Mr. Dunn nodded his head. "And make a home for Sharlie," he said flatly. "If you don't want to do that, you'll have to get along without your divorce."

He started for the door. But just before he reached it he turned around and looked at her again.

"And another thing," he said, "you're not to have any men in this flat, understand? I don't want Sharlie to meet any of these new friends of yours. If they come here I'll take her away—and I'll divorce you. Now, get that through your head."

Dodie stopped crying all at once and burst into a loud laugh. "Well," she cried, "it looks as if the worm has turned at last! And you ARE a worm, Eldon Dunn—a little, mean, contemptible worm, crawling around here to find out what I'm doing! Oh, I'm not going to talk to you!"

EDNA ACCUSED

She flung herself out of the room. A few seconds later the door of her bedroom slammed and the key clicked in the lock.

"Sharlie, will you pack up my clothes tomorrow and send them over to your grandmother's house?" Mr. Dunn asked, turning to her. "I'm going there now."

He kissed her goodby and went down the stairs. He crossed the street to Carl's car and got into it. The cream-colored roadster had disappeared.

"Sharlie," said Edna solemnly, "I do believe that your father and Carl knew what was going on here. I think that's why they came home ahead of time . . . Did you notice how cool your father was? He acted as if he wasn't the least bit surprised."

Five minutes later Maud came flying across the road and up the stairs to the flat. She looked like one of the Furies, and the second she set foot in the room she began to accuse Edna of making all the trouble of the afternoon.

"YOU—YOU telegraphed those two men and told them to come home!" she all but shouted at her. "Didn't you?"

"I did not." Edna gave her one long straight look. Then she got up from her chair beside the window and walked out of the room.

"Come and get your hat on, Sharlie," she called over her shoulder. "I can stand some fresh air, can't you?"

"Don't you talk as if I contaminated the air in this flat!" she said between set teeth. "First thing you know I'll have you hailed into court for spreading scandal about me . . . I'll sue you for coming between me and my husband! I'll show you a trick or two, Edna Ballinger!"

The next day Edna packed up all her belongings and left the flat. She was going to move to the Betsy Ross Hotel, where she could have peace, she told Sharlie.

* * *

That was Monday.

On Tuesday morning Sharlie got up early so that she could make the breakfast coffee and put her room in order before she left for the Gerow School of Business.

PLANS TO WED AGAIN

Dodie was sitting up in bed, making a white felt "airplane" turban. The spread was covered with bits of the felt and spools of thread. And on Dodie's face was the rapt expression that only came to it when she was thinking of new clothes. Her lips wore a dreamy little smile and her eyes shone.

"Sharlie baby," she said, putting a lump of sugar into her first cup of coffee, "what are your plans for the day?"

"School," said Sharlie briefly.

"Hmmm—" Dodie's eyes took on a farewell, thoughtful look. "Why don't you go and have dinner with Edna tonight?"

Sharlie knew what she meant. Her words were just another way of saying: "Run away, Sharlie, and don't bother me." Just another way of the old, old sentence that had been ringing in Sharlie's ears all her life.

"Well, I suppose I could—" she was beginning doubtfully when her mother spoke up once more.

"You know I'm going to divorce your father, Sharlie. And when I've divorced him I expect to get married again. The man in the case is coming here tonight for dinner and I don't want him to meet you just yet!"

"Why not?" asked Sharlie, puzzled.

"Because he doesn't know that I'm old enough to have a grown-up daughter," her mother told her with a nod of her yellow head. "That's why . . . I was so young when you were born, Sharlie, that I was only a child, myself. And it isn't fair for a woman as young as I still am to have a child as old as you. . . . I'll tell Norman about you later on when he knows me a little better. But not now."

HUNGRY FOR GOOD TIME

"But won't Maud tell him about me?" Sharlie asked. She knew Maud.

"I suppose so—but I'll break it to him gently, myself, pretty soon," her mother replied. "I certainly am NOT going to spring you on him now!"

"What are you doing tonight?" she asked, and Edna told her that she was working late. Mr. Collins, her employer, had just returned from his vacation and he was trying to catch up with his accumulated mail.

Sharlie thought of her grandmother's house. She could go there for dinner of course . . . But did she want to?

She knew she didn't. She knew she was hungry for a good time for a change. Lights and music and someone to dance with. Someone her own age. Someone who loved the things that she loved . . .

Her fingers went deep down into her handbag, searching for the card that the man she had danced with at Joyland had given to her when she left that night more than a week before.

She took it out and looked at it. The telephone number was faint now and the card itself was wrinkled and soiled. She smoothed it out between her fingers.

TRACKLESS TROLLEY

The trolley bus can furnish an equivalent service at lower cost than the rail system under favorable local conditions. In its design it is an electric auto-bus, driven by storage batteries which are continually charged from an overhead trolley line. It can run for a short distance even if disconnected from the electric line. (Transportation.)

FOODS RICH IN IRON CONTENT (Science)

CHLOROTIC RED CELLS

The chloritic red cells are of various sizes and have an increased pale central depression, due to decreased haemoglobin (an iron compound which serves as oxygen carrier) content. Magn. 350 diam.) (Wood: Chemical and Microscopical Diagnosis.) (Science.)

HOOVER DAM AND POWER PLANT AS THEY WILL APPEAR UPON COMPLETION

The construction of the Hoover Dam (originally Boulder Dam) was approved December 21, 1928. It will turn the Colorado River into a gigantic reservoir and hydroelectric plant. The dam will be 727 feet high and 950 feet long. (Problems of Democracy.)

LANDING OF WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR

William I, surnamed the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy (1027-1087), invaded England with a strong army. After his victory at Hastings he became king of England. He first confirmed English liberties and ruled with justice, but later he treated the English as a conquered people and quelled uprisings with severe cruelty. He divided the land into baronies, adopting the feudal system of land tenure and services. Against the French he was also successful. (Pierson's History of England.) (World's History.)

VERIFICATION OF LAW OF DEFINITE PROPORTIONS (Chemistry)

Any compound contains always the same elements in the same proportions by weight. Verification: Oxygen is passed over hot pulverized copper within the glass tube, forming copper oxide. The weight of the copper oxide minus the original weight of copper gives the weight of the oxygen used. The percentage of each element in the compound can be figured and will be always the same in any number of experiments. The result is the same with other compounds. (Foster: The Elements of Chemistry.)

When Rip Ripped It Off

He went away for a long stretch in 1913 after tapping the keg and rolling the skittles. He wakes today and looks over a few alterations in the scheme of things entire.

Is Rippy astonished. Why, he sees more changes than a wardrobe mistress on the movie lot.

First of all, he reads about the war that stopped in 1918. It ain't over. It just stopped for refreshments. Then he finds that for 12 years we have had prohibition and its capable substitutes.

The drink he took in 1913 only put him to sleep for 20 years. The drink he might have taken, if awake, in 1928 would have salted him away forever and a day. Omit flowers.

Rip would certainly have been thoroughly undermined, flooded and abandoned about that prohibition thing. Naturally, he would be even more surprised to discover that Congress just voted about it last month and that it was again as legal as a tail light on a comet.

He would have to figure whether he could still take it or leave it alone. Another drink might stash him away for more than a mere, transient 20 years. The changes in Wall street would sure knock him further than a perfect trout fly cast. When Rip pulled up the covers in 1913 the boys in Wall street were having the time of their customers' lives. Today, they are under some slight handcuffing and have been staked to a code of ethics which have not yet been accepted in the same spirit in which it was donated.

Rip would be surprised about that banking moratorium last month too. He awakened after it was over. He didn't miss much. Altogether, there would be so many changes that Rip wouldn't know whether he was on foot, hossback or just fell off a bicycle. The world has progressed plenty in 20 years and we are in for plenty more.

If there was such a Rip and he had sniffed the clear, morning air of April 11, 1933, we would advise him to get into executive session and consider seriously the educational, moral and invigorating benefits of another marathon snooze.

If we're still here in 1953 we will tell him all about it. Or, if he wants another sincere student of science and research, we might ask him to move over.

The Campaign Opens

The first of the candidates who will come before the people of Pittsburgh in the primary election of next September has been announced.

James P. Bailey, of the Tenth Ward, seeks election to Council. He is to address a meeting in the Morningside Public School auditorium tonight.

Bailey says he is anti-Coyne. To some that may be meaningless, but most Pittsburghers will understand.

With good councilmen much of the waste and corruption that marked the Kline administration would have been prevented.

The Repeal Convention

It Is Improbable That Pennsylvania Will Vote Dry, No Matter How the Delegates Are Chosen

Since Gov. Gifford Pinchot has vetoed the bill for a convention to pass on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and it is doubted that the Legislature will pass it over the veto, the discussion as to how delegates to such a convention should be chosen has been revived.

The drys, as represented by Pinchot, would like to see the delegates chosen from Senate or Legislative districts. This would favor the rural districts, which have fewer citizens to the average district than the cities.

The most ardent anti-drys would like to have all the delegates elected from the State at large. The drys oppose this on the ground that there would be cheating in favor of repeal in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The bill which Pinchot vetoed was a happy compromise between the two plans. It provided for 34 delegates from Congressional districts and 17 elected at large.

It is the Sun-Telegraph's belief that the sentiment of the people of Pennsylvania both in the rural and urban districts is largely opposed to continuance of prohibition, and that repeal will be voted no matter how the delegates are chosen.

One thing worth considering is the cost of the convention to the taxpayers. Since it is generally assumed that the delegates, pledged in advance as to how they will vote if elected, will not form a deliberative body, but will merely serve as a rubber stamp to express the people's will, there will be an advantage in a small convention.

The fewer the delegates the less the bill of the Commonwealth for fees, transportation expenses and hotel bills.

With an honest vote, and with the convention merely ratifying the result of the popular referendum, three delegates elected at large would satisfy the Constitutional requirements as well as a hundred and would cost the State several hundred dollars less.

Another Honor

Pittsburgh Again Distinguishes Itself in a Competition of the Cities

Another gratifying honor has come to Pittsburgh.

The city, recently awarded laurels by the National Safety Council, as the safest in the country last year in respect to automobile accidents, has won distinction in the fight against the fire menace.

The United States Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that Philadelphia was first among cities of over 500,000 population in a competition to determine which could do most to check the ravages of fire. But Pittsburgh was awarded honorable mention—a distinction not to be disdained.

'Our Times'

Interesting, to Put It Mildly.

Perhaps you have not thought about it, but the last two months have probably been more eventful than any other two in American history.

Two months is a short time. Yet within that brief period has been packed a greater variety of occurrences, of greater importance to the country, than could be matched in any similar period that comes to mind.

Begin with the attempt on the life of Mr. Roosevelt and the shooting of Mayor Cermak at Miami on February 15.

There followed:

The presidential inauguration.
The new currency.
The modification of the Volstead Act.
The reopening of the banks.
The California earthquake.
The death of Mayor Cermak and the execution of Zangara.
The reduction of veterans' benefits, and other economy legislation.
The farm bill.
The persecution of Jews in Germany.
Repeal votes in Michigan and Wisconsin.
The loss of the Akron and the J-3.
Beer.

That is a partial record of the events which have come crowding on us with bewildering rapidity.

They have had more excitement in these few weeks than many of their ancestors ever experienced in three score years and ten.

Stay on Firm Land

(Copyright, 1933)

The country heard good news in the unofficial announcement that the League Court issue will not be brought up in the special session of Congress.

Congress and the Administration have problems enough to solve in readjusting our own disturbed economic and social life. It is not a time to be pursuing the will-o'-the-wisp of Internationalism.

Moreover, the country knows where the League Court lure would lead us—into the bog of Old World jealousies and politics which is called the League of Nations.

So long as the country has its way, and the Government responds to the popular will, Uncle Sam will stay where he belongs—at home.

Investment Publicity

The Removal of the Veil of Secrecy from Securities Will Be a Boon to the Public

By JULIUS G. BERENS,
Financial Editor, New York American

Regulation and restraint of this business of promoting and distributing so-called securities to the public is forced by the abuses so flagrantly practiced in the past.

Reform of the security-selling business falls into three parts:

1—Widest possible publicity for all security promotions and offerings.

2—Holding underwriters and distributors of securities responsible for every statement made in selling literature or in other methods of describing the security to a buyer.

3—Public regulation of the investment banker and others engaged in selling securities.

MOST OF the reform thus far contemplated has to do with information which shall be made available to would-be buyers of securities. This is wholly admirable.

In unlimited publicity regarding securities lies the greatest hope for the public. In secrecy, in the withholding of essential facts, there is chance for subterfuge, for chicanery, for deceit—all at the public expense.

The public hereafter will be informed of the bankers' or underwriters' commissions, including all bonuses. This is usually a most reliable guide as to the worthiness of an issue.

THE BACKGROUND of a corporation or foreign nation seeking funds from investors will also be required of a promoter. The investor here will at least be cognizant of the past history of the borrower of his funds.

In every respect, publicity promises a new deal for the investor. He will better be able to judge the investment or speculative quality of the security being offered to him.

One of these reforms will be advocated in the second article of this series.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 11.—No celebrity seems so little known to his native city as Vincent Astor. His recent yachting with President Roosevelt was the first time he has been first-paged for years. Seldom in fashionable restaurants or night clubs, he attends about two theatrical openings a season.

Few millionaires' sons escape an exuberant fling along Broadway, but Astor is one who has. In recent years he has spent much time cruising in European waters. His favorite restaurant in Paris is shadowy and sedate Foyot's. In New York he often "rides the pony" at the Grand Central oyster bar.

Tall and straight, he has the leathery tan of the yachtsman. Frequent reports of marital differences between him and his boyhood sweetheart, Helen Huntington, are tosh. Their paths do not always run in the same direction, but those who know say there is a deep, immovable affection between them.

Astor is 41 and rarely visits many clubs of which he is a member. He has wide knowledge of his vast real estate, but leaves the mangement largely to others. Biography is his favorite reading. He has sombre moods, but is usually genial, although never talkative.

* * *

From the swaying stop-and-start of a Fifth avenue bus top last evening I waved and called to a pedestrian I thought was Tom Geraghty, former Herald reporter now of the movies. There seemed to be recognition and he swung on and up the spiral stairway. It developed we were total strangers. So I slotted a dime for his fare and in turn he took my order for a set of books before we reached Washington Square. I've got to quit waving to people.

* * *

Trenched deep in mental vacuity, I find myself catching at some natant euphony or a rhythmic name to repeat over and over again. I remember my wife fleeing from the glades of Fontainbleau one Sunday because I went swinging through dead leaves of centuries shouting Hilaire Belloc. The name has always struck me as being a perfect mouthful. And an elegant exerciser of the tonsils. Anyway, a fellow fool has just come to solder the ice box. Through the open door and in gurgling gutturals he keeps repeating: Deutsche Apotheker.

* * *

Most people resort to much mumbo-jumbo after the realization of some horrible mistake. The editor of a paper on which I toiled in Dayton, O., once released the pre-date plate of an election extra, whirring the presses with news of the victory of the wrong man. For an hour afterward all he could mutter was "Grilled kidneys with chalk!" He never heard such a phrase before and had no idea where he got it.

* * *

Grandmother in moments of pique used to say "Shog!" I thought the expletive a variant of "O, pshaw!" But in a dictionary recently I found it—an obsolete Scottish word meaning shake or jog.

* * *

As one of the tight collarists, I am always entranced by the strangle metier attained by Albert Mander, a haberdashery stylist, whose sartorial effects have been highly bespoke by no less an authority than Beaunash himself. So vise-like is the grip around his neck his deep voice startles. You expect it somehow to come out in a thin squeak.

* * *

I am told that Burton Rascoe, when fatigued by belles-lettres, plays the trap drum or shuffles into a tap dance. There must be a trap drum and tap dance strain in every one whose work is largely mental. Einstein can do a neat jig and the famed Mme. Curie often beat a snare drum in recreative moments. And I do not think any of us have to be cerebral conscious to feel a marrowy ache to cavort around a stage—there he goes over a sofa!—like the nimble-toed Fred Astaire.

* * *

In a home talent minstrel show years ago Alf Resener and I learned a jig that wound up with what they called a "break." You know, tat, tiddle te at tat, (pause) tat tat. With the cap lifted! In a smart-alec moment months ago I tried to resurrect the routine at a buffet dinner. I got along all right, but something went sour with the final tat tat. Whatever it was, for three days I had to sit at my desk with my right leg straight out to the right. Like this——!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Dare to be serious!

Yes, I know it isn't popular or fashionable. Ever since the war, people who take themselves seriously have been considered a Social Blight. And, of course, there was a pretty good reason. Too many prudish Puritan papas. Too many fussy Victorial mammas. Philosophizing. Sentimentalizing. Shushing our frivolity with their "Life-is-real-and-life-is-earnest" croak.

And what did all those great, grim gobs of gloom buy us, anyway? Hypocrisy and corruption—which ended in the bloodiest war in history . . . the cruelest waste of human flesh, the foulest betrayal of human faith.

Who can blame us if we came out of that war bitter, vowing we'd never believe in anything again . . . never again take anything seriously.

So overnight the world went whoopee! No more earnest talks about The Real Things of Life!

"Forget it—it's all the bunk!" we cried. "Eat, drink and be merry—for tomorrow you'll be sold short, anyway! Can the philosophy—turn on the wise cracks! Life's a joke—and so are you 'n' you'n' YOU! So—lissen folks—le's everyone have a party!"

So everyone did. Flaming Youth led the way and we all followed. Or was it vice versa? At any rate, we all went ga-ga. Grandpas and Grandmas toddled and pranced like 6-year-olds. Living rooms emptied—speakeasies jammed. And anyone who tried to start a Serious Discussion was just about as welcome as a dose of hives.

Then, suddenly, everything crashed. Caught us in the middle of our giggles—smacked us flatter than a last year's waffle. There we were, lost in a darkness that gave most of us the jitters. So then what? Where could we turn—we who needed so desperately to turn somewhere?

Where had they turned—those Old Folks of the gloomy, grim Puritan days? To each other. To the fighting courage within themselves. To God. And so, when life dished it out, they were able to take it, straight on the chin.

But we, with all our boasting . . . with all our pretense of game and snappy Youth . . . how were we to take it? How Keep Up Our Front before this horror of sudden darkness? We'd wise-cracked their foolish faith . . . ha ha'ed their Earnest Discussions. Life and Death, God and the Soul's Salvation . . . all that was part of the dreary drizzle we'd brushed away, crying we "couldn't be bothered."

BUT NOW WE HAD TO BE BOTHERED!

HAD TO FACE THINGS, WHETHER WE LIKED THEM OR NOT.

And what could we do about it?

WE COULD GROW UP.

That was the answer. That is the answer, now, to you in your bewilderment.

Stop being a cry-baby because the good, old whoopee days won't come back again! Stop playing patty-cake!

DARE TO GROW UP!
DARE TO BE YOUR AGE!
DARE TO TAKE THINGS SERIOUSLY!

You're lonely, you say? Frightened and dizzy? Feeling old?

THEN DARE TO BE HONEST—
DARE TO ADMIT AND DARE TO SHARE YOUR TROUBLE—
DARE TO TALK IT OVER WITH THE OTHER FELLOW—
DARE TO TALK EVERYTHING OVER . . . EVERYTHING. ALL THOSE FRIGHTENING, MYSTERIOUS, HEARTBREAKING THINGS WE'VE PUSHED ASIDE—
DARE TO FACE THEM ALL—
DARE TO BE EARNEST ABOUT THEM ALL—
DARE TO SHARE THEM ALL—

And, if you do, what will happen? Will people think you're screwy? Will they avoid you, laugh at you—warn others against you?

Instead, you'll have the most beautiful and comforting experience of your life.

For if you'll be honest with the other fellow, he'll be honest with you. If you dare to confess that you're serious, you'll find he is serious, too. And if you'll ask his help, in your darkness, his help will come crashing through.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Oasis

As trees are in the desert,
As island in the sea,
Or the first star at twilight hour,
So are you, my love, to me!

The traveler on Sahara
Where all is burning, bare,
Who finds a group of waving palms
Has gained an Eden there.

The captain of a vessel
Long tossed by wave and wind
Who sights at last a little isle,
Leaves fear and care behind.

To you, my cool oasis,
My fruitful isle of rest,
I turn always with rapture's torch

The little isle at sea,
These things, and more, are you,
my love,
Through all of life to me!

A BUSY GIRL

By Winifred Black

Hilda Peterson, I wonder where you are today? How well I remember you, tall and muscular, blonde and rosy, with your yellow hair in two great braids around your head, your free walk, and the way you had of handling a broom as if it were a scepter!

And it was a scepter in your hands, Hilda Peterson—that broom. You were a born queen of the home, if ever there was one.

You came into a house full of light-hearted, foolish girls, motherless and fatherless, and the way you ran them and ran the house; bought the food, cooked it and served it, all with a demure flourish! And those biscuits you used to make, and the strawberry shortcake—real stuff, mind you, not sweetened dough with two or three berries on it, and a wisp of something like lather on top of the berries—and the chicken pot pie, and the watermelon pickles you put up yourself, and the spiced peaches—oh, well, what's the use?

And how you did love to see people eat and enjoy what you had cooked for them!

And how you loved to work! You didn't care what it was, so long as it was work.

What clean starched dresses you used to wear; and how you flirted the skirts of those dresses, in and out, and back and forth!

And when we all came home after a dreary day of shopping, or a sentimental afternoon of weeping at the sorrows of a matinee idol—how you used to meet us at the door, so radiant that you actually shone!

"I been busy as a bee," you said. And we all had to go out into the kitchen and look at the loaves of homemade bread and one or two cherry pies sitting on the scrubbed kitchen table, or go into our rooms and see, standing stiffly at the foot of the bed upheld by the posts thereof, some filmy muslin dress that you'd been ironing for one of us.

Such ironing and fluting and crimping as you did, and always tickled to death to think you could do it!

Always "busy as a bee," you good, honest, energetic, devoted Hilda! Never "tired as a dog"; never down in the mouth and cross because you had been working while we young careless things had been playing.

But what a noise you did love to make in the morning, Hilda Peterson! How you rattled the coffee cups, banged the lid of the coffee pot and shook up the covers of the old-fashioned stove! Oh, no, you didn't want to make us get up! You never thought of such a thing, did you? You were just getting a good hot breakfast for us, and you wanted us to know about it.

How forlorn and forsaken we felt when your Gus simply wouldn't wait another day, and you married him and went away.

You cried, too. You know you did, Hilda. And as for us, we all felt as if there had been an earthquake.

Oh, yes; there were plenty of others to pretend to take your place. But they were always tired, or they had headaches, or they received mysterious letters and went into the sulks over them, and everything was "extry" work.

That was it. The work, that you had made such play of, was always work for them.

We heard from you for a while, Hilda Peterson; but time and change work their unhappy miracles, and you disappeared from our world. I wonder where you are today, and—whisper—wherever you are, I hope you have given that husband of yours three or four daughters and one or two sons.

The world needs joyous, generous, vital people like you, Hilda Peterson; and if you are no longer in this troubled world, I hope your Gus planted a vigorous, sweet-smelling white rose to grow at the head of your grave.

I've never been able to find anyone quite like you, since the day you laughed, and cried, and took the arm of your adored Gus, and left us—alone.

MAYBE I'M WRONG

NEW YORK, April 11.—A well-known producer was hiring an orchestra the other day for a musical comedy show and complained to the union about having to pay $85 for a certain trumpeter.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Have plenty of trouble of your own—but most people have.

It should make you more sympathetic, but it doesn't.

It is not unlikely that what the other fellow considers as great obstacles you think of as trifles.

But if they have him blocked, they are just as big to him as the large ones that give you concern.

He may never have had the experience you have had in bucking threatened disaster, and he may not have the capacity to overcome his hindrances that you have.

You may have ability and knowledge which would easily prepare you to give him valuable and practical advice.

Why not give others the benefit of your best thought and advice?

It is to be hoped that the one you try to help is not the sort to take help for granted, though this does not lessen your responsibility.
